At Morocco summit

Arabs appeal to end feud

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Arab leaders opened their summit Saturday with unprecedented security and an appeal to end the feud between Jordan's King Hussein and Yasir Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization.

Hussein arrived surrounded by bodyguards to ward off any possible terrorist attempt. Newsmen were examined by an X-ray machine and then allowed into the conference chamber for less than 10 minutes.

Meeting to decide on the next move toward peace in the Middle East, the Arab leaders heard an emotional appeal for unity from the conference host, King Hassan II of Morocco.

Referring to the dispute between Hussein and Arafat over who should gain control of the West Bank of Jordan should Israel withdraw its forces, Hassan said: "If King Hussein and brother Arafat can surmount their personal conflict to build an honorable bridge across the problems and setbacks, they will find us all supporting them and wishing them well."

Arafat, seated directly across the horseshoe-shaped table from Hussein, asked for the right to speak after Hassan finished the opening address, but Hassan overruled him and asked Arafat to wait until the conference went into closed session.

The session lasted only 35 minutes and the coference was adjourned until Sunday morning.

In Tel Aviv, the Israeli military command said the army and air force would begin large-scale maneuvers Saturday night on the occupied Syrian Golan Heights and in the Jordan valley.

A spokesman said there was no connection between the military exercises and the Arab summit conference.

The Soviet government, meanwhile, issued a message to the Arab summit meeting saying peace in the Middle East requires "liberation of all Arab lands seized in 1967" and ensuring "legitimate national rights of the Arab people of Palestine."

The message, carried by the Soviet news agency Tass, was signed by President Nikolai Podgorny and Premier Alexei Kosygin.

The kings and presidents of the 18 Arab countries hoped to reach consensus on whether to try for more partial agreements with Israel or insist on a full meeting of the Geneva peace conference to work out a comprehensive settlement.

Syria was reported to have proposed to the summit that it reject partial solutions and aim for a complete settlement including total withdrawal from all Arab lands occupied by Israel in the 1967 war.

Conference sources said Egypt endorsed the Syrian move after amending it to remove any hint of a deadline for resumption of the Geneva talks.

While the Palestinian issue is the most emotional one, Syrian refusal to accept a partial agreement is the more explosive.

Syrian President Hafez Assad reportedly has been told by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger he cannot hope to get all of the occupied Golan Heights back. Sources said this prompted a remark by Assad that in this case Syria would not avoid a new war.

Emphasizing Arab disagreements, Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy stayed away and sent his ambassador in Paris to represent him here, a clear snub to the other leaders, especially the conference host, King Hassan II or Morrocco.

Libya is opposed to any peaceful settlement with Israel and Khadafy says American peacemaking efforts are a trick to lull the Arabs into permanent subjugation to the Jewish state.

Iraq, also opposed to peace efforts, sent Vice President Saddam Hussein, the strongman of the Baghdad regime. Iraqi President Ahmed Hassan el Bakr said Friday the Arabs should unite "to pursue the path of the struggle with all our weapons."

The leaders have before them a recommendation by their foreign ministers to turn over to Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization any part of the West Bank of Jordan from which Israeli forces withraw.

The proposal runs counter to the advice of Kissinger, who urged that the Arab summit bypass the Palestinian issue because Israel refuses to negotiate with Arafat.

Boillot not certain of festival effect

COLUMBIA — James Boillot said Friday he did not know how his involvement in the Ozark Music Festival will affect his chances for confirmation by the Missouri Senate as state director of agriculture.

Boillot signed the contract leasing the state fairgrounds at Sedalia for the festival last summer. In an interview Friday he repeated his earlier claims that he didn't know the event would be a rock festival and he had no idea there would be heavy drug peddling.

He said he hopes the Senate will look at his entire record in considering his confirmation. Boillot received a faculty alumni award at the University.

Four prisoners raid chapel

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP) — Four armed prisoners, including a Palestinian hijacker, raided the chapel of nearby Scheveningen penitentiary during Mass on Saturday night and took members of the volunteer choir hostage, the Justice Ministry said.

A spokesman said 23 of the hostages were neighborhood men, women and children who sang regularly at prison services. A Roman Catholic priest and two prison guards were also held.

He said nine prisoners attending the service were allowed to leave the chapel and return quietly to their cells.

Police brought in reinforcements and threw up roadblocks as about 500 spectators gathered outside the prison gates.

There were no immediate reports of injuries, a police spokesman said.

Police outside the building talked with the hostages by two-way radio. The two guards being held hostage carried walkie-talkies as part of their standard equipment.

The convicted hijacker, Adnan Ahmed Nuri, and the other armed inmates demanded they be put in touch with the consul or ambassador of an Arab country, and that Nuri's fellow hijacker, Sami Houssin Tamimah, also a Palestinian, be allowed to join them in the chapel.

Police said Tamimah has been confined to the hospital ward at the prison as the result of a hunger strike he staged last week.

Police said Tamimah was not recovering from surgery, as they first reported.

Nuri and Tamimah, both in their early 20s, hijacked a British Airways VC10 March 3 on a flight from Bombay to London. They freed the hostages at Amsterdam's Schiphol Airport, destroyed the plane by explosives, then surrendered peacefully.

They were sentenced last June to five-year prison terms.

Police said they did not know how Nuri and Tamimah and the other three prisoners, one of whom was reported to be a Frenchman, obtained the guns for chapel raid.

Committee says

'Hard rock' fact known

By PETE DANIELS
Managing Editor

The fact that the July 19-21 Ozark Music Festival would be a hard rock concert was evidently known to state officials before they signed a contract with Musical Productions Inc., the Kansas City promoters of the event.

That was one of several revelations made by the Senate Select Committee in its report, released Friday during news conferences in Kansas City and Jefferson City.

The panel also noted that the contract signed with Musical Productions left the entire burden of cleaning up after the festival to the state, rather than to the organization leasing the grounds, as is usually the case.

The committee report notes that "the advertising methods used as early as the month of May indicated that the event would be a 'hard rock festival' of the type which attracts drug pushers. This fact was apparently discussed with the Secretary of the State Fair (Ron Jones) at a conference prior to the signing of the contract. To allay the fears of the public the name Ozark Music Festival was agreed upon at that conference."

During the contract negotiation period, the committee reported, Jones "suggested a non-denominational service be held on Sunday during the festival," an idea acceptable to the promoters. It was also reported that Musical Productions represented to Jones that "Bart Starr or Kyle Rote would speak at the festival."

However, when Starr was contacted by committee members about whether he agreed to speak in Sedalia, "Mr. Starr expressed grave concern that his name had been used by Musical Productions Inc. He stated he had never been contacted by the promoters and if he had been contacted he would not have participated in any way," the report says.

The committee reported that Commissioner of Agriculture James Boillot at one point expressed concern about the pending rock festival, but received assurances from Jones. The report says that Boillot testified he was "reassured by Ron Jones when he asked, 'Are we talking about something that is basically the concern of a rock festival?' Jones replied, 'No, this (is) an entirely different concept we are working toward.'"

Jones was unavailable for comment Saturday night.

Robert Shaw ... "kept repeating to Dr. Campbell the festival would mainly consist of light rock and blue grass music..."

The committee, which said the festival "made the degradation of Sodom and Gomorrah appear to be rather mild," also noted that other individuals received assurance the festival would be a low-key affair. One of them was Dr. A. J. Campbell, who headed the hospital during the festival.

Robert Shaw, advertising and promotion director for the festival, "kept repeating to Dr. Campbell the festival would mainly consist of light rock and blue grass music and '...most of the people would be of the age of 24, 25, 26 and they would be beyond the age of the so-called drug users.'"

Before the festival was over, however, Campbell and his staff found themselves working 18 to 20 hours a day, the committee noted. Their work load became so heavy that by mid-day Friday, the official first day of the festival, it became impossible to keep records of cases treated. Campbell evidently told the committee that more than 800 cases up to that point were drug related and that "250 to 300 were considered by Dr. Campbell to have been acutely ill and 'would have perhaps died if they hadn't had emergency care.'"

The situation continued to worsen until Campbell was forced to ask for help from the National Guard. On Saturday, the second day of the festival, 30 medics, five doctors and 78 Guardsmen in plain clothing were flown to Sedalia to help.

According to the committee, the "accepted general rule of law specifies the leasee (Musical Productions) will clean the premises and return them in their original condition."

An executive order issued by acting Gov. William C. Phelps (Gov. Christopher Bond was out of the state at the time) augmented this medical force by five doctors, two nurses and 28 medics from Whiteman AFB.

Concerning the fairgrounds cleanup agreement, the committee's report notes that section 10 of the lease contract provided "...it is expressly agreed that the leasor (the state) at its expense, will undertake the responsibility of removing trash and debris from the premises and improvements located therein, before, during and after the expiration of the lease..."

According to the committee, the "accepted general rule of law specifies the leasee (Musical Productions) will clean the premises and return them in their original condition."

This is born out, the report says, by Musical Productions which said, in a position paper, that the "state volunteered to clean the fairgrounds after

Country off daylight time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of the country returns to standard time Sunday, setting clocks back one hour.

The change takes place officially at 2 a.m. after 10 months with most of the nation on daylight saving time. The switch to standard time will remain in effect until 2 a.m. Feb. 23, 1975.

Among the areas not affected by the change are eastern Indiana, Arizona, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and American Samoa all of which have remained on standard time.

The change also will not affect 66 counties of Kentucky which switched from the Eastern to Central time zone when daylight time went into effect. These counties will now switch back to the Eastern Time Zone, meaning there will be no change in their clocks.

Artist chosen for Municipal Building mural

The Sedalia Art Commission has selected an artist to paint a mural for the new Municipal Building.

The contract will be signed after the commission receives preliminary drawings, which are to be completed by March. The project will take an estimated two years.

The artist is Eric Bransby of Kansas City, a noted muralist and associate professor of art at the University of Missouri-Kansas City (UMKC). He was selected by the art commission from among 22 artists who responded to invitations sent out in August, 1973.

Bransby studied under Thomas Hart Benton while a student at the Kansas City Art Institute from 1938-42. He has also studied at the Colorado Springs Fine Art Center, Colorado College and Yale University. He has had wide teaching experience.

The artist has executed 13 murals, which are his specialty, including one completed this year at UMKC. In addition, he has murals at Rockhurst College in Kansas City, Western Illinois University, Brigham Young University, the Colorado Springs Medical Center, at two Air Force commands there, the Air Force Academy, and in numerous other places.

Bransby's work has been exhibited at several museums, including the Library of Congress, Denver Art Museum, Dallas Museum, New York Architectural League, the Smithsonian's traveling exhibit and in Moscow, as part of an exhibit by the National Society of Mural Painters. He has also had several one-man shows.

The work will be executed in three sections in Bransby's studio in Kansas City, and then attached to the large vertical panels in the Municipal Building that enclose the City Council chambers. The artist will make an architectural mock-up of the area to work from, it was reported.

Historical research will be done by both Bransby and the Sedalia Art Commission to formulate a basis for the mural, which will stress Sedalia's past.

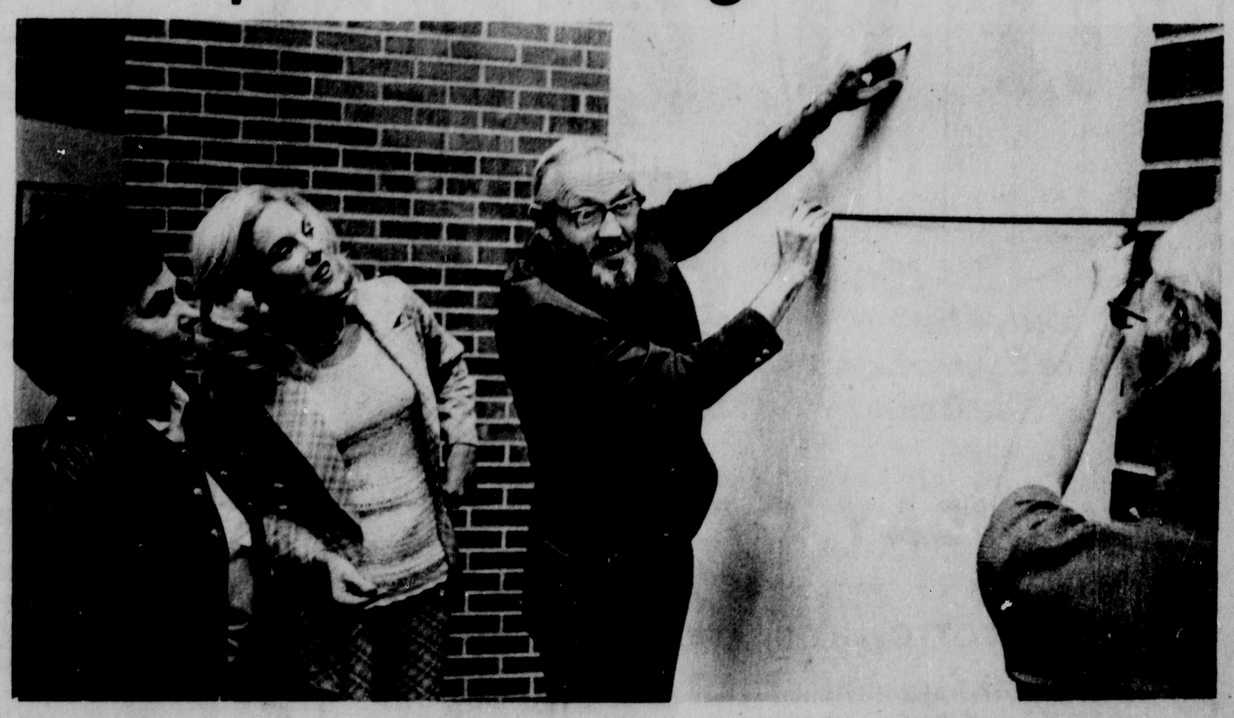
"The opportunity of designing and executing the Sedalia Municipal Bulding murals represents a strong artistic challenge," Bransby said. "I am looking forward to this project with considerable anticipation."

The muralist said he would attempt to create a "dialogue" between his art and the architecture of the Municipal Building.

Bransby praised the "concerned and sensitive manner" in which the art commission sought out a muralist. Mrs. Ellen Quigg is chairman of the 11-member commission.

Bransby was described basically as a "realist" who stamps his work with his own distinctive style, by Mrs. Alvin Heynen, an art commission member.

"We really felt the commission was picking an entry that would increase in value over the years," Mrs. Heynen said.



Learning the layout

Little backing for tax

DEMOCRAT-CAPITAL SURVEY

QUESTION — The City Council is considering a new ordinance to control obscene and pornographic materials and shows, and another to require theater managers to enforce age guidelines on R- and X-rated movies. Do you favor generally tougher controls in both these areas?

Comments and signed letters are appreciated.

Name will not be used if checked here. ☐

YES ☐ NO ☐

Clip and return to: The Sedalia Democrat-Capital, Seventh and Massachusetts, Sedalia, Missouri, 65301.

The idea of an income tax surcharge in an effort to ease the nation's inflation problems received support from only 40 per cent of The Democrat-Capital readers who answered last Sunday's survey.

A mere eight responses were received, and only three of them had comments attached to the ballot.

Readers were asked, "One of the most controversail parts of President Ford's anti-inflation package is the 5 per cent income surcharge. It would affect individuals making more than $7,500 a year and families making more than $15,000, and it would be applied to income earned in 1975. Do you favor this recommendation?"

An unidentified reader who did not said, "I'm definitely opposed to a tax increase for any one. It's time our government began to balance its budget, pay its debts and quit spending so much money foolishly.

"We need our income taxes cut and quit 'doctoring' our pay checks before we even see them. They take what they want and we have to manage on what is left. Any Benton County farmer is smarter than the government. We know we have to live within our income. We need our grain at home and take care of Americans first, instead of being Santa Claus to the world. If our tax exemptions were increased, we could save money and provide for ourselves," the letter concluded.

Jerome Hieronymus, Route 2, wrote, "Solvency is the name of the game. Reduction in spending is the preferred method, but time is required to re-train the masses to pick up a shovel in lieu of the extension of an open palm. P.S. If we can't all chip in, we have a damn poor spirit of 76."

And finally from Anna Lee Smith, 641 East 10th: "No, we do not think we should have any tax surcharge. We are paying too much tax the way it is. The rich people have a way of getting out of paying any or very little (tax). The others that are on welfare get everything for nothing ... The ones making from $7,500 to $15,000 will be better off to quit their jobs and go on welfare. Why should we work so the others can sit on their cans all the time? I think I would enjoy that myself ... Isn't this like paying tax on tax, which is illegal?"

Charge 2 men in kidnaping of man, wife

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Two 26-year-old Springfield men have been charged in the kidnaping of a Springfield oil distributor and his wife.

Police Chief W.T. Hall said Richard W. Van Zile and Larry W. Massey were arrested Friday morning, one day after the abduction.

They reportedly were charged with aggravated kidnaping. Police found $19,788 in small denominations in the apartment where the men were found and in two cars parked nearby.

The arrests followed the kidnaping Thursday of Perry W. Pierce, president of the Harper Oil Co., and his wife, Twylah.

Two armed men entered the Pierce home and forced Pierce to withdraw $20,000 from a local bank while holding his wife hostage, police said.

The couple was released unharmed about three hours later. Their car was recovered five miles from their home near Lake Springfield.

Vets' parade plans announced

A reviewing stand, located in front of the Pettis County Courthouse, will be a new feature of this year's annual Veteran's Day parade at 10 a.m. Nov. 11, it was announced Friday.

Larry Melton, executive manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, will announce the individual parade units from the stand over a public address system.

Another special parade highlight will be the appearance of local youngsters riding bicycles and other vehicles decorated in a patriotic red-white-and-blue theme.

Youths planning to participate in the parade will meet in the vicinity of Seventh and Lafayette by 9:30 a.m. Nov. 11. They will be excused from school upon the written permission of the parents and the promise of transportation to and from the schools.

Exports to Mideast, North Africa may reach $2 billion this year

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm exports to the Middle East and North Africa may soar to $2 billion this fiscal year, accounting for nearly 10 per cent of total U.S. farm sales overseas, says the Agriculture Department.

The region, stretching from Morocco to Iran, bought $1.4 billion worth of U.S. farm products in the year ending last June 30, up from $521 million in 1972. Officials said oil revenues have been a major factor.

The analysis was included in a monthly report, Foreign Agricultural Trade of the United States, published by the department's Economic Research Service. It was written by John B. Parker Jr. and Michael E. Kurtzig of that agency.

Although all the countries in the regions do not have oil, the flow of capital from those that do—including Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Abu Dhabi—have helped others build up their foreign exchanges.

"U.S. farm exports to the area could reach $2 billion in fiscal 1975, mostly because of larger sales of wheat to Iran, Turkey and Egypt, and rising sales of rice to Iran, Iraq and the Arabian peninsula," the report said.

Also, the report said, sales of a wide variety of processed U.S. food to the Arabian peninsula countries are still thriving, including tomato products, canned fruits and juices, canned peas and beans, honey and popcorn.

Total U.S. farm exports to all countries are expected to be around $21 billion for the year ending next June 30, about the same as the record value set in 1973-74.

While quantities of some major items are expected to decline this year—including smaller total exports of wheat and corn—higher prices are pushing up the over-all values.

The July-August export value of wheat was $4.24 per bushel, compared with $2.90 during the same two months last year, according to USDA records. Rice was 23 cents per pound, compared with 16 cents a year earlier.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1974 alfalfa seed crop is expected to total 104.7 million pounds, up 2 per cent from last year, says the Agriculture Department.

The California seed crop is estimated at 29.5 million pounds, up 16 per cent from last year. But Idaho and Washington, the next largest producers, expect to have smaller crops, the Crop Reporting Board said.

Significant increases, however, were estimated for Oklahoma where the 1974 seed crop was put at 6.6 million pounds compared with 4.9 million last year, and in Utah, estimated at 4.42 million against 2.3 million in 1973.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A quarterly grain inventory shows the United States has more corn than officials had thought but the stockpile still is the smallest since 1948.

As of Oct. 1, the Agriculture Department said Thursday, corn supplies totaled 481 million bushels. Although that was 53 million bushels more than had been estimated, the reserve still was down 32 per cent from last fall.

Furth, department records showed the corn reserve was the smallest Oct. 1 level since 123.5 million bushels on hand 26 years ago.

Oct. 1 is the beginning of the new corn marketing year and the reserve then represents grain left over from previous crops.

The report also indicated there is more wheat than previously thought. The wheat crop here began last July 1 and total use, including exports and domestic use, was down from a year earlier during July, August and September.

Last July 1 about 249 million bushels of wheat was left over from previous crops. That was also the lowest reserve since 1948. The 1974 wheat harvest was a record, up 4 per cent from last year.

During the July-September quarter, the report said Thursday, wheat use dropped to 483 million bushels against 693 million bushels used domestically and export in the same period last year.

Thus, the report showed, the Oct. 1 wheat supply was nearly 1.55 billion bushels, up 6 per cent from a year ago.

Officials said the Oct. 1 inventory of the four feed grains—corn, sorghum, oats and barley—totalled 33.7 million short tons, down 25 per cent from a year earlier.

DEATH NOTICES

Mrs. Mary Kinsey

Mrs. Mary Kinsey, 92, 923 South Kentucky, died Thursday morning at El Reno, Okla.

She was born Nov. 1, 1881, in Sedalia, daughter of the late Hoil and Mary Wegman Emrich. She was married to Victor Kinsey, who preceded her in death.

They moved from Boonville to Sedalia in 1952. She was a member of the Broadway Presbyterian Church and a charter member and 50-year member of Pettis County Chapter No. 279 OES.

Survivors include one cousin, Dr. Harry Smith, Clear Water, Fla.; two nephews, Walter Kinsey and Ira Kinsey, both of California; and three nieces, Mrs. George Henderson and Mrs. Pearl Mergan, both of El Reno; and Mrs. Courtney Cross, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Graveside services will be held at 4 p.m. Monday at Crown Hill Cemetery with the Rev. Dr. Roger Williams officiating.

Friends may call Sunday and Monday at the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel.

Mrs. Viola Taylor

GRAVOIS MILLS — Mrs. Viola Taylor, 80, Route 2, Gravois Mills, died Saturday morning at the Rest Haven Nursing Home, Sedalia.

She was born Dec. 1, 1893, in Camden County, daughter of the late William and Elizabeth Christian Bishop. She was married on Sept. 1, 1912, to Delbert Henderson at Sagrada, Mo., and he died in 1955. In 1958 she married Oscar Taylor at Carson City, Nev., and he survives of the home.

Mrs. Taylor attended school in Camden County and lived in Windsor from 1923 to 1958. She lived in the state of California from 1958 to 1963, when she and her husband moved back to Missouri.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church, Windsor.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a son, William Henderson, Windsor; three daughters, Mrs. Edith Lambeth, Kailua, Hawaii; Mrs. Faye Berney, Arcadia, Calif.; Mrs. Mae Bradley, Windsor; two stepchildren, Mrs. Dorothy Louer, Grass Valley, Calif.; Bob Taylor, Orangevale, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Georgia Vest, Eureka, Kan.; Mrs. Fern Johnson, Camino, Calif.; two brothers, Henry Bishop and Dewey Bishop, both of the state of California; 12 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Hadley Funeral Home in Windsor with Dr. Melvin M. Hall officiating.

Burial will be in Laurel Oak Cemetery.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Monday at the funeral home.

Mrs. Nell Fossett

KANSAS CITY — Mrs. Nell Fossett, 93, Kansas City, died Friday at a Liberty, Mo., nursing home.

She was born Sept. 9, 1881, in Monegaw Spring, Mo., daughter of the late Fred and Lela Rittermeyer. She was married to Claude Fossett, who preceded her in death.

Survivors include one brother, L. F. Rittermeyer, 2009 East 10th, Sedalia.

Wayne Dean

WARSAW — Wayne Dean, 68, of Warsaw, died Saturday at a Clinton hospital after a short illness.

He was born June 7, 1906, in Nebraska, son of the late Mitchell A. and Ella Mae Dean.

He moved to Warsaw in 1965, where he was employed at the Bishop Gunstock Factory and the Warsaw Lumber Yard.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church here.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. La Nee Thompson, Twin Falls, Idaho; Mrs. Lessa Lane, Warsaw; three step-sons, Collins Marble, state of Iowa; Bill Marble, state of Florida; Bob Marble, state of Kansas; one sister, Mrs. Reva Montgomery, Tucson, Ariz.; and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Reser Funeral Chapel here.

Burial will be in Riverside Cemetery, Warsaw.

The family will receive friends at the funeral chapel Sunday evening.

Fred J. Riddell

Fred J. Riddell, 1810 East Fifth, died Saturday night at his home.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Ward, 903 South Arlington.

The body is at the Heckart-Gillespie Funeral Home where funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Tires, wheel covers stolen from auto lot

Routszong-Malmo Motors, 2901 South Limit, reported to police Saturday the theft of two radial tires, chrome rims and dust covers, valued at $200, and four wheel covers, also valued at $200.

Andy Kramer, general manager, told police the items were discovered missing Saturday morning. They were taken from two Oldsmobiles on the company lot.

In other police news, Dennis Conner, 2300 North Woodlawn, reported the theft of a shotgun, shotgun case and a helmet, valued at a total of $220.

Conner told police no one was at his home Tuesday or Wednesday evening. The theft was discovered Thursday, police said.

Teen-ager injured; Sedalia man jailed

A 14-year-old Sedalia boy is in the Boone County Hospital at Columbia, suffering from a concussion he sustained in a football injury, compounded by a beating he received four days earlier at Smith-Cotton High School, it was learned by The Democrat-Capital Saturday.

Rick Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Russell, 2506 West 32nd, was beaten Oct. 18 by Danny Collier, 20, 819 East 10th, when Russell attempted to board a school bus at the high school.

A bus driver, who asked not to be identified, said she was notified of the fight and went to stop it. She said she saw Collier holding Russell by the front of his shirt and forcibly slamming the youth against a school bus. It was also reported that Russell was struck above the left ear.

His father said the boy complained of a headache on the afternoon of Oct. 18, but seemed to improve. The boy then played football last Tuesday, when he was again injured, and subsequently hospitalized. Russell said the concussion was viewed by doctors as a result of the beating and the football injury.

According to reports, Collier allegedly attacked Russell because Collier thought the boy had passed on a list of names of drug users and pushers to school authorities. Russell's father said this was not true. That was confirmed by Russell Bellamy, school attendance and security officer at Smith-Cotton, who said there was no list of names.

The attack on Russell was broken up when the first bus driver obtained assistance from another driver, it was learned. Then, on the Monday after the reported assault, Collier was again seen on the Smith-Cotton grounds. He was approached and apprehended this time by Bellamy, vice principal Morris Byrum, and principal Ken Keithly. Bellamy said the three men had to forcibly restrain Collier until police arrived. Byrum received a glancing kick to the head in the scuffle.

Collier appeared in Municipal Court Friday on three charges of disorderly conduct — one of them based on the attack on the Russell boy, the other on a threat made to the first bus driver and the third based on the scuffle with the three school officials. Collier was sentenced to a total of 90 days in jail and fined $225, according to City Attorney Robert Liston.

Collier, after the sentence was pronounced, said, "I'll pay the fine, but you'll have to shoot me to get me in jail," according to Liston. Collier then tried to flee the courtroom, but was apprehended.

It was also reported that Collier displayed numerous knife cuts on his arms in court and said to the Russell boy, "This is what happens to you when you mess around with pushers." That report was confirmed by the bus driver, who was called to court as a witness.

Collier is currently serving his sentence in the Pettis County jail.

The incident is the latest involving trouble at Smith-Cotton with non-students who frequent the vicinity of the high school campus, according to one school official. There have been unconfirmed reports that such persons sell drugs and other controlled substances to students.

Ford, Brezhnev to meet in November

MOSCOW (AP) — President Ford and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev will meet near Vladivostok in the Soviet Far East on Nov. 23-24 to discuss "matters of mutual interest," the White House and the Kremlin announced Saturday.

The session, following Ford's planned visits to Japan and South Korea, will give Brezhnev a chance to size up the new President while they work on narrowing differences over a new nuclear arms limitation agreement. The Middle East and European security are also expected to be high on the agenda.

Narrowing the differences on arms limitation began during the current Moscow visit of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. He has claimed progress in his three days of talks with Brezhnev, but described the bargaining as tough.

U.S. officials said that Kissinger and Brezhnev have not reached an agreement, but were optimistic one could be achieved by the time the Soviet leader visits Washington early next summer.

The precise site of the short November summit between Ford and Brezhnev was not disclosed.

The official announcement, both here and in Washington, said only that the two leaders would meet "in the vicinity of Vladivostok to exchange views on matters of mutual interest."

Vladivostok, a strategic port and naval headquarters for the Soviet Pacific fleet, is 450 miles north of Seoul, South Korea's capital, where Ford will visit Nov. 22-23. The city normally is closed to Westerners.

Brezhnev and Ford's expected discussion of the Middle East crisis will be significant because despite detente, the two powers have been trying to influence the Arabs along different paths toward a settlement with Israel.

While Kissinger is promoting step-by-step negotiations and a temporary shelving of the Palestinian issue, the Soviets have been pressing for a resumption of the Geneva peace conference to work on a full-blown Middle East settlement.

The European Security Conference in Geneva has also been tied up in an East-West dispute, and the Ford-Brezhnev session will enable the two leaders to exchange views on the subject.

Kissinger's final talk with Brezhnev in the Kremlin was delayed without explanation. There were unconfirmed reports that the Soviet leader had convened the Communist party's ruling politburo for its endorsement of his course.

Kissinger is to leave Moscow on Sunday morning for India.

Drug council formulates 5 objectives

Five objectives to be accomplished in the coming months by the newly-appointed Sedalia Team on Drug Abuse were formulated Friday night at the group's first meeting at the Municipal Building Council Chambers.

They are: to assess and identify the nature and scope of the local drug abuse situation in Sedalia; to support and encourage governmental agencies in their efforts to combat the problem; and to provide information to the public on drug abuse and settle rumors regarding the problem.

Two additional aims of the group are to evaluate and develop a certification program for any "crisis-type" counseling service which may be developed locally in the future; and to cooperate with federal drug abuse agencies in distributing information.

Presently, group chairman Earl Finley said, team members are formulating specific programs and projects to be implemented in connection with the five goals.

The next meeting of the team is scheduled for Nov. 6.

Other members on the team, in addition to Finley, are Kem Keithly, Larry Smithson, the Rev. Wilson Phillips, Dr. Robert Glass, Charles Knapp, Emmett Fairfax, Gary Fleming, Robert Liston, Ed Spurling, Larry Melton, Mrs. Alice Williams and Mrs. Florence McGuire.

Five bombs explode in Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP) — Five bombs went off at or near banks in Manhattan early Saturday in what a Puerto Rican nationalist group called an offensive against "yanki monopoly capitalism."

No one was killed or injured by the blasts, four of which were in and around Rockefeller Center and the other in the Wall Street area.

A handful of guards and custodians at the site emerged somewhat dazed and shaken after the series of blasts, which began at 2:56 a.m. and ended at 3:30 a.m.

"We have just bombed imperialist banks," a woman caller told The Associated Press minutes later. "Free all Puerto Rican political prisoners!"

Acting Chief of Detectives James T. Sullivan said he believed the five bombings were the work of one group because of the rapid sequence of detonations.

He said he was puzzled only by the inclusion of the glasswalled Lever House at 53rd and Park Avenue. The building has no bank offices, though a First National City branch is across the street.

The other bombed midtown sites were the Banco de Ponce at 49th Street off Rockefeller Plaza, the Chemical Bank branch in the Exxon building at 49th Street and Sixth Avenue and the Union Carbide Building at 48th Street and Park Avenue, where Manufacturers Hanover Trust has a branch.

The biggest of the blasts, Sullivan said, was the one in Wall Street, which destroyed the car of Mary Rothbell, of Massapequa, N.Y., a night worker.

Sullivan said the device used in that explosion was the equivalent of 40 sticks of dynamite or 20 pounds of plastic explosive.

The explosion shattered windows of the Marine Midland office up to the 11th story and windows of four other banks within 300 feet.

The broken glass zone took in the Chase Manhattan headquarters, the Chemical Exchange Bank, the Federal Reserve Bank and the Barclay Bank.

Exchange agreement working

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russians and Americans reported progress Saturday under a scientific and technology exchange agreement.

In a news conference, the U.S. chairman of the Joint Commission on Scientific and Technical Cooperation, Dr. H. Guyford Stever, hailed the program's work as "an important building block in the detente between the two countries."

His counterpart, Soviet academician V.A. Kirillin, said, "I have no doubt our work will proceed successfully."

The exchange agreement, reached 2½ yeas ago, calls for work in 37 areas from solid state theory to forestry.

Nearly 500 scientists from both countries have been in exchange programs for planning conferences and actual research, which is just beginning on some of the projects.

Congressional conservatives have criticized the agreement as a giveaway of valuable American technological advances in aerospace and computers, as examples.

Stever told reporters that the programs will benefit both countries and that view is also shared by President Ford, who met with the Soviets Friday.

When asked if advanced U.S. computer models would be sent to Russia, Stever referred the question to the Soviets.

The answer was only that the computer exchange involves application of computers to large-scale management problems and training of personnel.

(Democrat-Capital Service)

JEFFERSON CITY — Despite the damage and casualties, including one fatality, that resulted from last July's Ozark Music Festival in Sedalia, Sen. Ike Skelton, D-Lexington, vice-chairman of the Senate Select committee that probed the festival, said he was taking "the positive approach to this affair by stating I hope the legislation this ... committee is proposing will be enacted into law."

"I am certainly personally saddened by the fact that this rock festival was held and that the Missouri State Fairgrounds, which is the showcase of Missouri agriculture, received such a black eye as a result," he said.

Legislation to prohibit a repetition of the rock festival, Skelton said, "could help insure the people of the State of Missouri, especially the agricultural community, that this desecration shall not happen again on the very ground that is intended to promote interest and appreciation in agriculture.

"One thing is perfectly clear: we need to renew the fight against drug pushers in our state and the legislation we propose creating a division of drug and crime control ... should be a giant step in that direction," he added.

Skelton noted that most of the young people who attended the festival were "law-abiding and did not participate in the lawless activities that occurred. However, there is no way to statistically gauge just how many young people were introduced to the use of marijuana or other drugs for the first time. I can only hope that the legislation we introduce and pass will insure that the young people of tomorrow will not be exposed to anything approaching what occurred in Sedalia this last July," he said.

Los Angeles man dragged to death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The body of a young East Los Angeles man who apparently had been tied underneath a car and dragged to death was found Saturday by sheriff's officers.

Authorities first thought Louis Joe Garcia, 16, was a hit-and-run victim but witnesses later reported seeing several men tie the teen-ager under a car and drive off, sheriff's detectives said.

Before leaving, the men deflated the rear shock absorbers to lower the car's undercarriage to just inches above the pavement, the witnesses told sheriff's homicide detectives.

the festival ... On Feb. 7, before the lease had been written or executed, 'it was stated by Ron Jones that the Missouri State Fair would effect all clean-up operations in connection with the fairgrounds.'" The committee theorized that Jones perhaps made this agreement "on the concern the fairgrounds might not be properly cleaned up by Musical Productions Inc., in time for the State Fair, or he may have been trying to encourage — at this initial stage — a lease agreement between the two parties."

The following are other highlights of the committee's findings:

✓ "During the meeting on Feb. 7 ... Jones asked the promoters if they wanted to utilize '...in some manner the liquor license held by the Missouri State Fair to sell beer on the premises and (the promoters) indicated that this would not be desired.'

✓ ...William Holden (an attorney for the Department of Agriculture at the time) testified Ron Jones apparently agreed with Musical Productions in limiting the contract termination clause to the three day period (of the festival).

✓ Wells Fargo officials testified they were also misled about the 'type' of musical production the Ozark Music Festival was to be. Mr. Andrew Orgonik, who served as administrator of fiscal affairs for the security company, believed the music was to be blue grass and light rock.

✓ ...The festival was to be an 'educational and cultural experience' (according to the promoters).

✓ Col. Sam Smith (of the Highway Patrol) agreed (and) ... said the festival might have a slim chance of running smoothly.

✓ By April 24 ... Sheriff (Emmett) Fairfax had decided not to head the proposed security force and sent a letter of the same date to Mr. Shaw and a copy to Mr. Jones saying in part ... 'I have made careful consideration of this project and believe it will take a security force from the state as large or larger than used at the State Fair and supplemented on certain security details; trained law enforcement officers for such a show are necessary.'"

Digging into the festival itself and its background, the committee learned that Highway Patrol undercover agents who attended a rock festival in St. Charles County received "information from head shops throughout Missouri that the Ozark Music Festival was going to be the 'biggest bash of the summer.'"

After a drug raid on the Monday preceding the festival, those arriving here for the event were assured they would not be bothered by police or with future drug arrests, the committee reported.

The report says, "Every camper the undercover agents talked to had either personally attended the meeting (held between Shaw and early arrivers) or heard of it. Mr. Shaw reportedly informed them the police would be told to stay out of the fairgrounds unless the campers started burning buildings. Three undercover agents, pretending to be pushers, talked to three security guards and asked if it would be safe to sell drugs after the raid. All three told the undercover agents 'the boss' (with one security guard referring specifically to Mr. Shaw as 'the boss') had informed gate attendants to lock the gates and not let police in the fairgrounds. Of the three, one told the undercover agents they could do anything so long as they did not burn buildings on the fairgrounds..."

Here are further findings:

✓ "Highway Patrol undercover agents reported observing security personnel using drugs...

✓ One undercover agent described the (drug) activity as operating 'in the same manner as a concessionaire would operate at a public sporting event.'

✓ A nurse who worked in the Women's Building summarized the festival as '...an alcohol, drug-oriented sex orgy from the beginning to the end; I saw things that I wouldn't have believed had I not seen it.'

✓ A farmer from the Sedalia area testified some of the early arrivals crossed into his property and slaughtered some of his livestock. When one of his larger cows was shot by a participant approximately 150 people '...jumped onto it with knives.'

✓ There were many reports of prostitution. Two vehicles formerly used as school buses had been converted into portable brothels. Each was designed to accommodate six girls who were engaging in prostitution for two dollars per encounter.

✓ Not all sexual encounters were confined to the enclosure of the school buses. Signs were prevalent advertising a sex orgy near the Sheep Pavilion. Undercover agents reported observing public sexual intercourse before a rather sizable audience.

✓ Throughout the festival many members of various motorcycle gangs were seen on the fairgrounds. Members of 'The Fourth Reich,' 'The Scorpions' and the 'Diablos' were specifically noted in Highway Patrol intelligence reports. The Patrol estimated 80 to 90 gang members were in attendance...

✓ There were several reports of motorcycle gang members wearing security shirts and riding in security golf carts."

Question

My father passed away recently. Before his retirement he purchased Series E Bonds monthly under a payroll deduction plan. Our family believes he still owns some bonds but cannot locate them — is there anyway we can check on this?

Answer

There is a very good possibility you may be able to replace these bonds if they have been lost, stolen or destroyed. At the same time you may also be able to determine the total number of bonds issued to your father; how many have been redeemed and whether there are any presently outstanding.

Write to: Bureau of public Debt; Division of Loans and Currency; 536 So. Clark Street; Chicago, Illinois 60605

The bureau will supply you with the forms necessary to establish the fact of ownership. If any bonds are still outstanding they will tell you what you must do to have the bonds issued to those legally entitled to receive them.

Hearings on new beef grading standards

By WILLIAM SCHIFFMANN
Associated Press Writer

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Some consumer advocates don't like the proposed changes in beef grading, but a researcher says your taste buds won't be able to tell the difference.

The U.S. Agriculture Department is now holding hearings around the nation on its plans to permit younger, leaner beef to be graded as prime or choice meat.

Agriculture officials expect the new standards to be in effect before mid-1975.

Ken Ellis, now heading the University of California Agriculture Extension Service in Fresno County, says a two-year study he directed at the University of California at Berkeley sought to prove younger cattle with less fat could be just as good as older beef fed longer to make them fatter.

The study played a key role in the proposed changes, he says.

"What happened is that with improvements in breeding, cattle now gain weight faster than they used to," Ellis said. "So you have a younger animal reaching a slaughter weight of 1,000 to 1,200 pounds.

"The new standards are not a lowering of beef quality. A taste panel of eight judges included in the research, who were chosen for their ability to detect small changes in flavor, show in most cases consumers can't tell the difference.

"In addition, the less fat per pound, the more protein we have available," Ellis added. "And less colesterol may be present in leaner meat."

Consumer advocates aren't warm to the change, however.

"Consumers are going to be very angry if they find lesser quality beef at the same prices," says Ruth Yannatta, chairwoman of Fight Inflation Together, a Los Angeles-based group involved in the meat boycott in spring 1973.

"We don't want changes just to insure that the cattle industry gets its profit at the expense of the consumer's shrinking dollar.

She says the UC study is not enough. "The Agriculture Department should find a few key markets in various cities and sell beef graded under the new standards, then ask consumers for their opinions on the difference."

Hearings on the proposed change are scheduled in Chicago on Oct. 30; Dallas, Oct. 31; Atlanta, Nov. 1; San Francisco Nov. 11.

Current USDA grading standards call for a certain amount of marbling, or fat in muscle tissue, before beef earns the prime or choice rankings.

"But it takes time to develop marbling, and more than twice as much feed to create fat as muscle," Ellis said. "You have to continue feeding the newer breeds of cattle past the point where they are ready for market from a weight standpoint."

The new standards will permit leaner meat to be graded higher than under current rules.

Wife's night out

By ERMA BOMBECK

Prayer of a Housewife Who Gets Out Once a Year and Tonight is the Night.

Please, Lord, don't let the spots on Laurie's chest mean what I think they mean, and if they do mean what we both know they mean, grant that our sitter has had chicken pox.

Give me the humor to smile when I turn on the bath water and realize that someone has left the knob on "shower" and it drenches an $8 hairdo.

Grant me the serenity to put on my fake eyelashes without gluing my left eye permanently to my cheekbone.

Do not let me despair when my husband arrives home thirty minutes late, with a three-day beard that can't wait, a front seat full of dirty Little League bases that smell like a stable, and then tells me he has to stop at a discount house to cash a check.

Smile upon me this one night so that I may not have to endure a klutz on one side who hums the overture and Typhoid Annie who is sitting behind me and is coughing down my back.

And when it rains (as we know it will) lead us into the nearest gas station so that we may buy the refills for our windshield wipers that my husband has been putting off for three years . . .saying the world is due for a drought.

In Your infinite wisdom, help us to ignore our name as it is being paged in the restaurant as we all well know it is the sitter saying that Michael demands an entire bottle of Pepsi and she will not be responsible for his plumbing if he has a whole one instead of a half.

Walk with us as we get the table by the kitchen door and I get the bent fork and my husband's soup is cold and by the time we get to the dance floor the waltz turns into "Tie a Yellow Ribbon 'Round the Old Oak Tree" and we don't dance fast because my husband thought it was a fad that would go out with Gene Kelly.

Comfort us as we go fifteen miles out of our way for a gas station that is open all night and the sitter is angry because we are late and it is a school night and we have to write her a check for the tip and she's never had chicken pox . . . before tonight.

If I ask too much, Lord, give me the strength to say, "Who needs a night out? I'd rather stay at home."

Student reports

SALISBURY — Terry Janney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Janney, formerly of Sedalia, recently received a Hilberry Theatre fellowship at Wayne State University, Detroit, Mich.

The advanced training programs offers students a chance to actively participate in theatre productions while working toward a graduate degree in theatre. Miss Janney is a 1970 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School and a 1972 graduate of State Fair Community College.

Fifteen Smith-Cotton High School speech and debate students competed recently at Southwest High School, Kansas City.

Of these, Kristy Iuchs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Iuchs, Route 3, reached the semifinals in extemperaneous speaking.

Arthur Seabury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seabury, placed fourth in impromptu speaking. In debate, Denice Bergman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bergman, 1412 South Park, and Bill Barrick, son of Mrs. Lillian Barrick, 1500 West Broadway, tied for fourth place.

Miss Rhonda Hoehns, a senior at Smithton High School, was notified recently that she is to featured in the eighth annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students." Less than three per cent of the junior and senior class students nation-wide are awarded this recognition.

Miss Hoehns is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rance Hoehns, Route 1, Smithton.

She is a member of the school's Homemaker of Tomorrow, band, volleyball team, National Honor Society, pep club, and also belongs to 4-H and the United Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Inspectors' test to be given here

Persons wishing to take the examination to be a licensed motor vehicle inspector will be able to do so at the State Fairgrounds effective Nov. 6.

This is a new program for the State Highway Patrol to make the test available to more mechanics and to make giving the test easier on patrolmen, according to Capt. P. V. Volkmer, Commander of Troop A.

The Motor Vehicle Inspection and Mechanic Training Program examinations will be held at 10 a.m. the first Wednesday of the month, except on holidays, at the Highway Patrol office under the fairground bleachers.

Capt. Volkmer said the schedule will be increased or decreased, depending on the need.

Randall is critical of Ford

"President Ford is calling for the voters to oppose a Democratically - controlled Congress, but I say the American people need a Democratically-controlled Congress to counterbalance the appointed Republicans who control the executive and judicial branches of our government."

William Randall, the incumbent representative of the fourth congressional district, spoke Friday night before 175 Democrats at the Hughesville High School and spoke of the upcoming election and the "apathy the Republicans may have, but we Democrats don't have to be disenchanted."

"What President Ford really wants is a rubber stamp Congress, instead of a balance between the three branches of our government," Randall said. "I think President Ford is an honest, open and candid person, but the Jerry Ford of the last few weeks is not the man I have known for fifteen years."

Randall claims Ford pardoned former President Richard Nixon so the country could get on with its business, but "we aren't getting on with our business and the innuendo has laid the blame on the 93rd Congress," Randall said.

"I would challenge such a notion since it was the Democratic Congress which finally stopped the bombing in Southeast Asia over President Nixon's veto, six months after the POWs were released," Randall said. "That is when the war started to wind down."

William Randall

Randall also spoke of recent legislation which has helped stabilize pensions for persons in private industry, cleaned up political contribution to elections and the War Powers Act.

"The War Powers Act was said to be too liberal by some, but it allows the president to put out a "brushfire" (minor internation skirmish) for 60 days. The Congress has to vote on additional appropriations to any war effort," Randall said. "This was designed to prevent any situations like Vietnam again."

Randall also rejected Ford's amnesty plan "because of the high unemployment rate in the country now. All those public works jobs, he is going to forget about the unemployed and Vietnam veterans without jobs. It also could set a dangerous precedent."

Randall commented on the worsening state of Nelson Rockefeller's chances for confirmation as the next vice-president, especially since he owes hundreds of thousands of dollars in back taxes.

Farmers are also in the news these days but "we can't legislate weather," Randall quipped. "But what we need in the Agriculture Department is more heads and less Butz."

On the serious side of agriculture, Randall stressed that the machinery is in force now to control beef imports, increase domestic meat purchases and grant low interest loans to farmers, but "we are not using our present laws."

Randall countered a claim by his opponent in the race, Republican Claude Patterson, who claimed this week Randall was taking junkets to Europe at the taxpayers' expense.

"As chairman of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization subcommittee, I must go to Brussels, Belgium, to confer with people in NATO. And how else does one check on the effectiveness of our troops without going to the front. Besides, I was sent by a mandate of the House of Representatives to report on our present position in NATO," Randall said.

Lagging car sales force cuts in cost

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors is launching a cost-cutting program in the wake of sagging car sales which dropped the firm's profit margin to practically zero.

GM said the cutbacks will include a trimming of capital expenditures as well as already announced production and employment cuts at four plants.

The company said Friday that its profits during the third quarter of 1974 were $16 million, down 94 per cent from record earnings of $267 million during the same period last year. And domestic auto sales during mid-October were off more than 28 per cent.

Ford and Chrysler also announced more layoffs Friday as they escalated cost-cutting programs to deal with the current depresseion in auto sales.

But even with the cost cutting, GM executives say an improvement in the troubled auto industry depends upon the nation's economic rebound.

GM Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg and President E.M. Estes cited unrecovered costs totaling $200 on 1975 model cars as having a significant impact on the profits decline.

While profits nose dived, dollar sales declined just 9 per cent, to $6.7 billion. The heavy toll on profits as compared to sales is viewed as an indication of heavy inflationary pressures.

Profits as a per cent of sales, another indicator, were .02 per cent, down from 3.5 per cent in the third quarter last year.

But Gerstenberg and Estes said they expect GM vehicle sales, off 26 per cent for the first nine months, to improve during the fourth quarter.

GM profits through the first nine months of 1974 were $442 million, off 76.5 per cent from $1.88 billion last year, based on sales of $22.2 billion, 17 per cent below the same period in 1973.

Tax rolls will bear a heavy toll for GM's poor performance. The firm said domestic and foreign tax payments were $302 million during the nine-month period this year, down from $1.76 billion a year ago.

Earlier this week, Chrysler reported an $8 million third-quarter loss despite a $500 million gain in dollar sales.

Chat with the mayor

After signing a proclamation signifying the local observance of Missouri Head Start week, beginning Monday, Mayor Jerry Jones took time to talk things over with several of the Head Start students who accompanied their teachers to the Municipal Building. The two local Head Start centers are located in the Anthony Buckner Apartments and the Sedalia Community Center. Head Start supervisors include Mrs. Bettye Taylor, Mrs. Ruby Stevenson and Mrs. Elvera Satterwhite. Teacher aides include Sara Studer, Virginia Crobarker and Mike Tichenor. Community aides are Mrs. Louise Woods and David Bell. A total of 60 children are served at the two local centers.

Swing-wing rolls out

This is a full-scale model of the prototype B1 bomber which rolled out of its hanger into the desert sun Saturday amid ceremonies and speech making, although the future of the cost-plagued, controversial development program is under a cloud. (AP Wirephoto)

Plans to marry her Indian chief

By WILLIAM R. LONG
Associated Press Writer

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Felicitas Barreto, 64 and still a blonde, says she is going back to live in the jungle and marry an Indian chief who proposed to her more than two years ago.

"Permanently, I'm going to dive into that lost world," she said in an interview.

An artist and former dancer, Felicitas has been there before — for 30 years in the jungles of Brazil and other parts of Latin America.

She was born near Rio and studied at a fine arts school here. Her early career in classical and folk dancing served as background for writing "Dances of Brazil," a book published in 1959.

Felicitas said she lived for two years with the Wayana tribe in northern Para State, near the Peru River and the Surinam border. She said the Wayana chief, Aparabe, asked her to marry him and join his other two wives.

But Felicitas returned to Rio nearly two years ago to care for her ailing mother. Her mother died, and Felicitas says she now plans to return and marry Aparabe.

She said marriage among the Wayanas is more to her liking than in the outside world.

"No one gives orders," she said. "Having a wife is not for lust or for work. They are companions, to not be alone. They are friends."

Felicitas said she was married in Rio de Janeiro in 1931 but she couldn't tolerate matrimony and the city with its "lack of air, too much stone."

She said the Wayanas fish and hunt, spending "months and months" outside their villages, traveling in canoes and roaming the forests.

"It is hard, but here it is more disagreeable," she said. "Life is difficult there, but it is preferable.

"It is too monotonous here. It is only for making money, money, money."

The comet Kohoutek disappointed observers last winter by not being as brightly visible as anticipated. But it provided a wealth of information that delighted scientists, reports the National Geographic. Two new compounds found in Kohoutek may help determine how far out in space comets are formed.

Plane may be sidelined

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — The prototype of the newest U.S. bomber, the swing-wing B1, rolls out amid ceremonies and speech-making Saturday. But the plane may be sidelined because of soaring costs.

Advocates say the B1 will be superfast and hard to destroy and that armed with a potent load of missiles it will help deter World War III. Critics say it will be a flying dinosaur not worth its ever-rising price tag.

The long-nosed test plane, coated with a special white paint to reflect nuclear radiation and powered by four jet engines tucked close to its fuselage, will emerge Saturday from a hangar at the Rockwell International plant here 50 miles north of Los Angeles.

Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger and Air Force Secretary John L. McLucas will speak.

The four-year-old B1 program has so far cost $1.6 billion. By 1983 — two years before the last of 247 planes, including three prototypes, are scheduled to be built — the cost is expected to reach $18.6 billion, or about $76 million per plane. That's $7.4 billion higher than estimated in 1970.

Congressional critics, stunned by the dramatic hike which the Air Force attributes mostly to inflation, will be watching the flight tests in December with a "this had better be good" attitude.

The Pentagon will make a decision by November 1976 on whether to put the B1 into production.

"The flight tests will be absolutely crucial to the fate of the program, and very quickly," says a high Air Force official.

Air Force officials bewail the escalating costs. "Inflation I have no control over," Maj. Gen. Abner B. Martin, B1 program director, told an interviewer.

"The unfortunate aspect is that we are measuring future costs of the B1 in terms of today's references, quoting costs for the 1980s which are based on an escalation factor."

The B1 is intended to replace, in the early 1980s, the fleet of aging B52s which form one arm of the U. S. Triad defense (land-based missiles, submarine-launched missiles and manned bombers). B52s are now more than 20 years old.

B1 advocates say the United States must have a mixture of the three to effectively deter an attack. Rockwell and Air Force officials say the new bomber is so vital to national defense that cost should be a secondary factor. They say the plane will be "a viable deterrent into the 21st Century."

Opponents, including Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., contend that the slower bomber would be of little use in a battle of missiles.

The Jawboner

The sculpture "The Jawboner" by Norman Rupnow, New Berlin, Wis., is being prepared for shipment to President Ford to encourage him in his recent resolve to jawbone, or urge labor and industry to moderate their wage and price demands. The head and back of the bird-shaped work is a cow's jawbone.

Outer space is taking on junkyard appearance

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's a population explosion of sorts in outer space.

Not the baby boom variety, but in the steadily increasing number of manmade objects orbiting the earth, more than 3,200 at latest count.

"It's starting to look like a junkyard out there," said an official of the North American Defense Command (NORAD), which keeps track of satellites and debris circling the globe.

According to the adage, "What goes up must come down." And the stuff is coming down at the rate of one piece a day. Almost all of it burns up from atmospheric friction, and the odds against anyone being hit are calculated at more than one billion to one.

But NORAD estimates that by year 2000 there will be 10,000 objects in space, and more fragments are expected to survive re-entry and thus impact on earth because of sturdier materials and improved designs. So the odds against getting beaned will become smaller unless preventive steps are taken.

Most of the orbiting material is useless debris from two sources: satellites and rocket cases that break apart, and expendable items such as nose shrouds, nuts and bolts, cable tethers, spent engines and pressure bottles that are discarded when a payload enters orbit.

The only known fatality caused by space junk was a cow killed on a Cuban farm in 1961 by a metal fragment from a U.S. probe.

Reimbursements recommended

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Federal reimbursement of more than $65,000 has been recommended for 10 more governmental units filing disaster claims as a result of last spring's high winds and flooding.

State Auditor John Ashcroft, in releasing his audits of the claims Friday, said that he was not recommending reimbursement for about $20,000 in claims by the units under federal guidelines.

The audit reports along with Ashcroft's recommendations have been sent to the federal Office of Emergency Preparedness for final determination.

The recommended reimbursements were:

Mercer County, $18,605; DeKalb County, $11,282; the village of Mokane, $5,946; Liberty township in Stoddard County, $5,065; Paxico, $1,420; New Franklin, $3,423; Howardville, $2,276; Gideon, $15,603; North Lilbourn, $424, and St. Jones Bayou Basin Drainage District in New Madrid County, $10,997.

Likelihood of large Democratic gains

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nov. 5 election is likely to confront President Ford with the most heavily Democratic Congress in a decade, primed to push for more programs at home and fewer abroad than the President will want.

But some Democrats already fear that weak Democratic leadership, especially in the House, could produce a mixed legislative record that would leave the party vulnerable in the 1976 presidential campaign.

With 10 days to go before the election, an Associated Press survey shows the likelihood of substantial Democratic gains has increased. The Democrats could pick up five or more GOP Senate seats and from 30 to 50 in the House.

The Democrats currently control the Senate 58 to 42, and the House 248 to 187.

Even if Republicans hold Democratic gains to their 20-25 target, the new House will have more Democrats than any since 295 were elected in the late Lyndon B. Johnson's 1964 landslide.

Many of the likely Democratic victors are younger and more liberal than the Republicans who are either retiring or facing defeat.

In the Senate, Democratic strength seems likely to go above 60 for the first time since the 1967-69 period. But it will take a far bigger sweep than now seems likely to reach the 1964 total of 68.

Even if the Democratic majorities near the two-thirds level that is needed to override a presidential veto — 290 in the House, 67 in the Senate — the 94th Congress is unlikely to be the "veto-proof" body against which Ford has been campaigning.

Straight party votes are a rarity. With majorities nearly that big in the last two years of the Eisenhower administration, Democrats overrode only two of 44 vetoes.

A major question mark is how the lame-duck 93rd Congress that returns Nov. 18 and the new 94th Congress will react to the nation's deepening economic crisis.

Candidates in both parties have generally opposed the President's 5 per cent surtax plan.

Congress is likely to push harder than Ford for expanded public service employment and lower income tax relief. Many Democrats think 1975 will be the year in which Congress can enact broad tax reform and health insurance plans that go beyond the administration's likely proposals.

On the foreign front, the new Congress may be even harder to convince than the current one of the need for continued large-scale U.S. military assistance to South Vietnam and Turkey. Clashes with Ford seem inevitable.

The survey, based on reports by AP bureaus and interviews here, shows projected Democratic statewide sweeps in California and New York could increase the party's congressional gains in those states beyond earlier estimates.

In view of the handicaps of the Watergate scandal and the slumping economy Republicans would be satisfied to keep Democratic gains near the off-year average for a party out of the White House.

The figures vary, depending on how many elections are included. For the past five off-year elections, the party out-of-power has gained an average of four seats in the Senate and 26 in the House.

Gains have tended to be far bigger, however, in elections two years after big presidential victories.

Of the 20 Democratic-held Senate seats being contested this year, best chances for Republican pickups appear to be Sen. Mike Gravel's Alaska seat and the Nevada spot being surrendered by retiring Sen. Alan Bible.

The Alaska race is considered close between Gravel and conservative Republican C. R. Lewis. But in Nevada, Democratic polls show Lt. Gov. Harry Reid widening his margin over Republican former Gov. Paul Laxalt.

Of the 14 GOP seats, only Sens. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland and Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania now seem certain winners.

The most vulnerable GOP seats are in Florida, Colorado, North Dakota, Kentucky and Oklahoma. Democrat Richard Stone is considered ahead of Republican Jack Eckerd for Sen. Edward J. Gurney's Florida seats.

Incumbent GOP Sens. Peter Dominick of Colorado, Milton R. Young of North Dakota, Marlow W. Cook of Kentucky and Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma are rated at this point behind their Democratic rivals, Gary Hart, former Gov. William L. Guy, Gov. Wendell Ford and Rep. Ed Edmondson, respectively.

Republican Sen. Robert Dole's race in Kansas against Democratic Rep. William Roy remains close. Dole says he has pulled ahead, but some Republicans think he may have peaked too soon.

Another tight contest is in Utah, where Democratic Rep. Wayne Owens has moved into a marginal lead in one poll against Republican Jake Garn. Republican Sen. Wallace Bennett is retiring.

Other Democratic chances are in Oregon, where state Sen. Betty Roberts is challenging Sen. Bob Packwood, and in New Hampshire and Vermont, where Democrats are mounting strong challenges in races without incumbents.

Republicans are increasingly concerned about New York, where polls show former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark surprisingly close to Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits. Conservative Barbara Keating is draining off GOP votes upstate, and the undecided vote appears large, a bad sign for an incumbent.

New York could also be the place where Republicans suffer their worst House setback. With Democrat Hugh Carey expected to swamp Republican Gov. Malcolm Wilson, some Republicans now fear more than a half-dozen House seats could be lost.

In California, where Democrat Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown Jr. is favored to defeat Republican Houston I. Flournoy for the governorship, Democrats hope to pick up from 4 to 6 House seats.

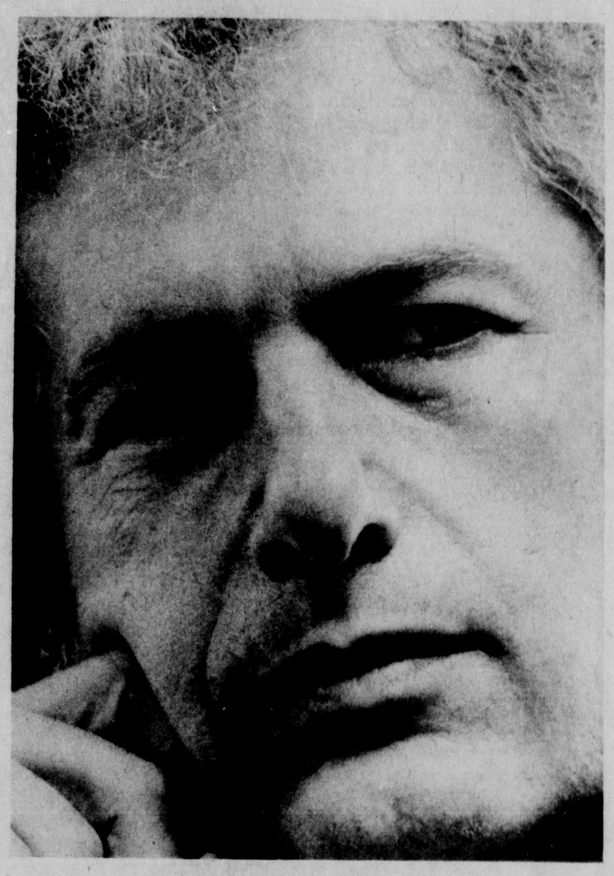
Novelist is waiting for an idea for third novel



Not an overnight happening

It's out, and Joseph Heller is "happy as a clam" about early reviews of his new book, "Something Happened." His first novel, "Catch 22," now a classic, took eight years to finish. The second took 14, but its lengthy genesis disturbed others more than the author, who recognizes that he writes slowly and says he was absorbed in his work. When he's not writing, Heller, who lives in Manhattan where he posed for the photograph, teaches creative writing at New York's City College.

(AP)

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Heller admits he is a slow writer.

After all, it took him eight years to finish his first book, "Catch 22," and 14 more to produce his second, "Something Happened."

When literary critics wrote about one-book novelists and writers with second novel difficulties, they always mentioned Heller — among others — as an example. He says that got to be a little irritating.

"I wanted to call them up and say, 'Hey! I'm working! I work as rapidly as I can. But I recognized regretfully about halfway through "Catch 22" that I'm a slow writer. The fact that there was a large interval between books did not disturb me. I was absorbed in my work."

Boyish in turtleneck sweater and striped jacket despite his 50 years, Heller leaned back in a chair at his publisher's office and shook his mop of unruly gray-blond curls. He pronounced himself "happy as a clam" about early reviews of his new book.

Critics so far are generally favorable in reviews of "Something Happened," perhaps in part because many of them dismissed "Catch 22" as a work of little consequence back in 1961. Heller's novel has become a celebrated World War II story: eight million copies have been sold around the world and the title has become a part of everyday language.

"Just the other day I got a letter from three or four guys aboard a destroyer who had just read the book for the first time. I've heard from a lot of servicemen who identified with it, and I answer their letters, but I would say the success of the book exceeded my most extravagant daydreams," Heller said.

Heller's new book is completely different from tales of wartime absurdity. It tackles the life, loves and work of Bob Slocum, middle-management executive in a New York company. Most of the action takes place inside Slocum's head.

Something has happened to make him what he is — efficient but afraid, loving his family and his sometime-mistress but unable to express that love. Instead he worries about his job — he is about to be promoted, he wants to be promoted, but he doesn't want to fire Andy Kagle, the man he will replace.

And, at the end of the book something has happened. Slocum has changed, has been promoted and everyone says he is doing well. But is he? Is his life empty? Heller leaves the question nagging at the reader.

Meticulous concentration on style and form characterize Heller's writing. He writes in longhand, usually from three to five pages a day, which he then edits, polishes and concentrates into one typewritten page.

"Then I think about it all the time: what I'll write next or in the future. I jot down notes on cards I carry with me.

"I put a lot of thought into this book, into every sentence, every paragraph. I like to tell a story not as a story, but in various episodes. It requires a lot of work to change technique. I write with as much intelligence as I can — intelligence a reader can recognize as having meaning," Heller added.

When Heller isn't writing or thinking about writing, he teaches creative writing at New York's City College. It is more, he says, than a substitute for working.

"Ideally there are 12 students in a class. I have to keep reminding myself that they are very young. Those enrolled in my classes work very, very hard, although some are more gifted than others. And many of them have part-time jobs.

"Even young writers have problems, periods of fatigue and writer's block. I try to explain to them that everything they read on the printed page didn't come to that author that way, quickly, the way it reads. It just isn't true," Heller said.

He added that he is an accessible person. If a student wants to meet him or interview him for a term paper, he takes the student to lunch.

"Bertrand Russell did that for me once. I'm not as hospitable as he was, but I think it's a good idea," Heller said.

He tries to read the new novelists and his contemporaries who "seem to have sensibilities that harmonize with my own. And he is reading almost all of Dickens.

"Television, the automobile and the jet airplane, along with night baseball and the telephone, interfere with reading and writing. One needs a lot of time and patience for Dickens. He can't be skimmed. I always set aside an hour an evening to read purely for pleasure, and the past few weeks it has been 'Bleak House.'"

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Heller was a B25 bombardier during World War II, as was "Catch 22" character Yossarian. He came home from war to go to college, graduate Phi Beta Kappa from New York University and get his master's degree in American literature from Columbia University.

He has been married 29 years to the same woman. "We've outgrown our self-consciousness about it. We're no longer apologetic that we like being married to each other," Heller said.

They have a daughter 22 and a son 18.

Now that "Something Happened" is being greeted as the publishing event of the year, will Heller begin a new novel?

"I won't begin another book until I have a good idea to write about," he said firmly. "It would come to me, and then I'll work on it as rapidly as I can."

ELECT

REPUBLICAN
PRESIDING JUDGE OF PETTIS COUNTY COURT

I have been your Western District Judge for the past two years.

I was responsible for setting up guidelines for streets and roads in sub-divisions so they would be acceptable to County road departments without unnecessary cost to the county.

AS A COURT:

- We have started a program of crowning country roads and keeping water in ditches where it belongs.
- We have put a new roof on our County Court House.
- We have decorated and cleaned the interior of the same.

BUENA VISTA HOME:

Contrary to the belief of a lot of people, Buena Vista Home is owned by the county and rented to a board for $1.00 per year. The County Court has no jurisdiction over its operation. We have subsidized a deficit only because we are interested in the elderly and because they would have no place to go if we did not do this. The present board realizes that supervision has not been up to par and are trying to improve conditions and balance the budget.

The cost of County government, like the cost of living and everything we buy, has gone up. The state has forced counties to raise taxes by 11%. We feel that before taxes are raised that taxable properties should be equalized. From talking to other county courts we have found that the ONLY way for a fair and equitable solution is to employ an outside firm. This has proved to be the cheapest way (by far) and only about 15% of the cost will leave Pettis County as balance will be spent to pay salaries, etc. here.

As we go into a Class 2 county, I promise, if elected, only to serve all the people of Pettis County to the best of my ability.

YOUR VOTE NOV. 5 WILL BE APPRECIATED.

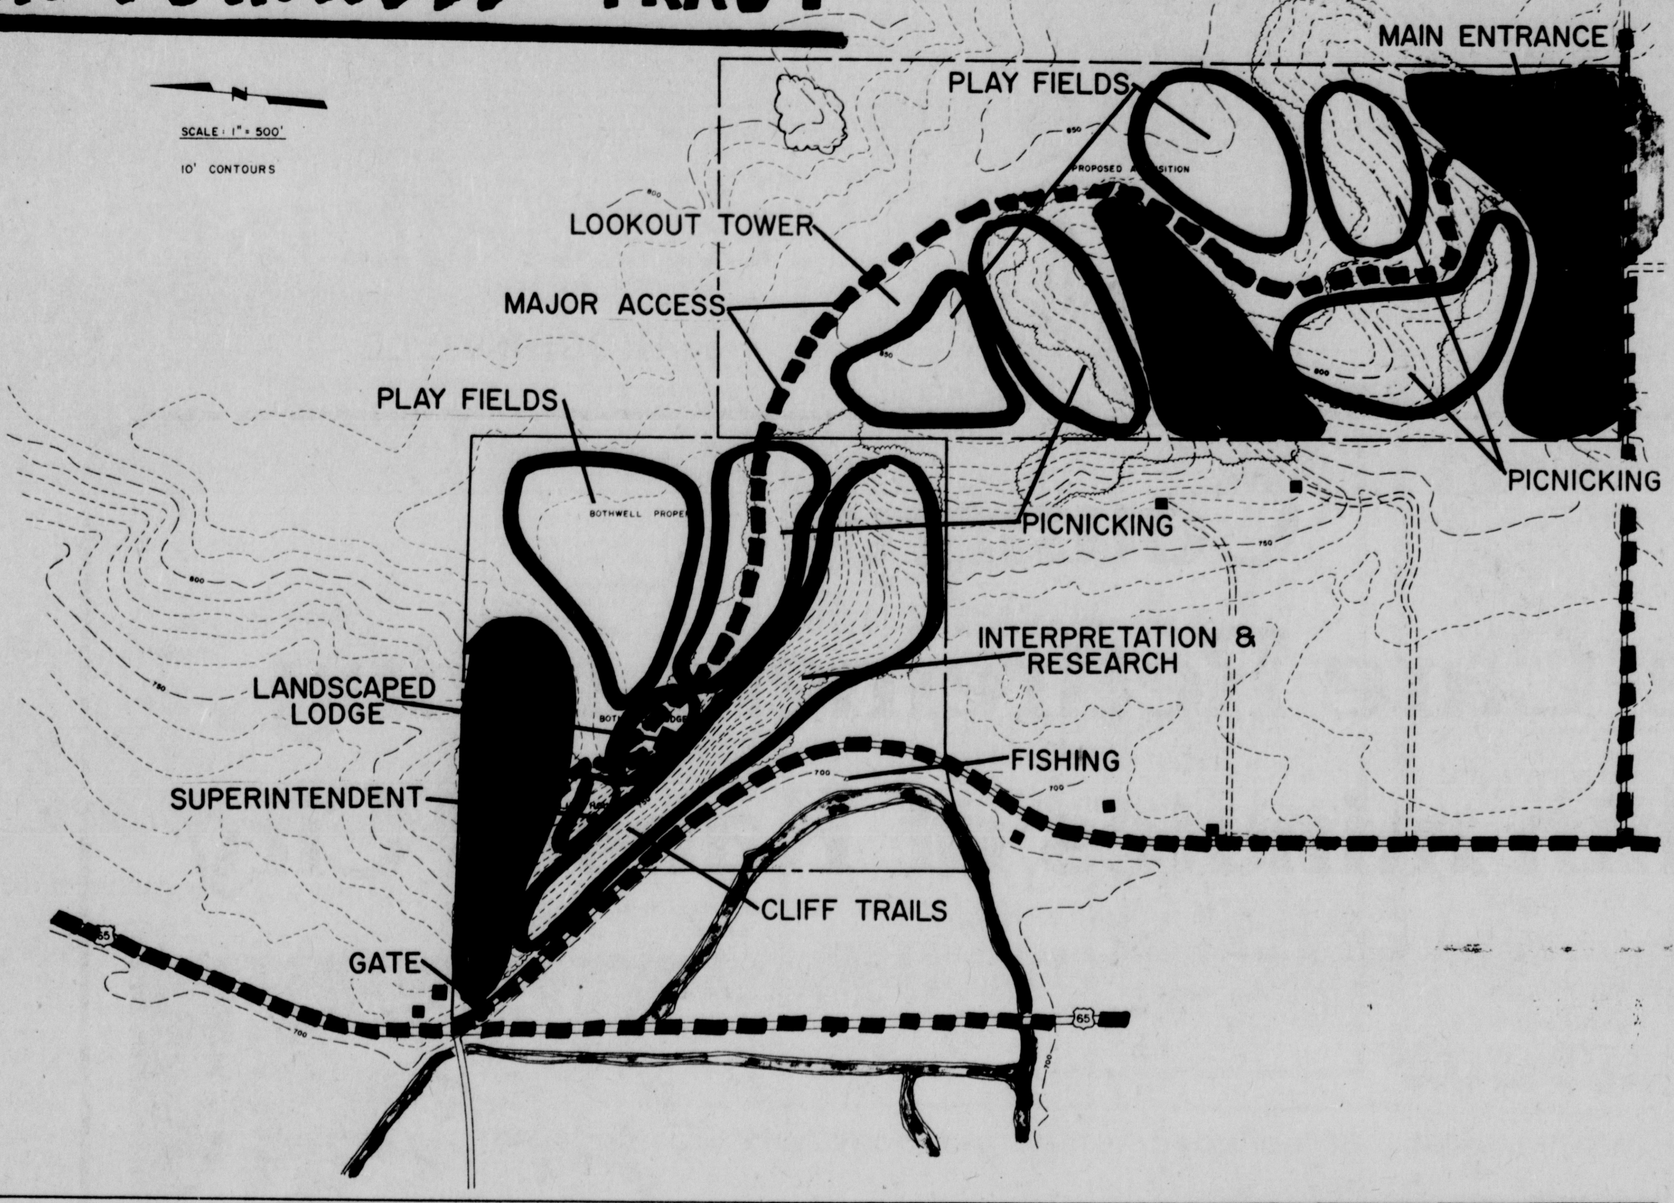
JOHN BOTHWELL TRACT



CONCEPTUAL PLAN

Proposed Bothwell park plan

This artist's rendering of a projected state park centered around the Bothwell Lodge estate north of Sedalia was released recently by Gov. Christopher Bond. In addition to the 75-acre Bothwell property, the park proposal calls for the purchase of 100 additional acres generally southeast of the present lodge property. The main entrance of the proposed park would be located on an access road two-thirds of a mile south of the present lodge turn-off on North Highway 65. The entrance would be approximately one-half mile east on the gravel road, then slightly north. Four picknicking areas, three play field areas, a lookout tower, an interpretation and research area, a fishing lake and cliff trails are proposed as attractions to complement the Bothwell estate itself. The shaded areas above represent wooded areas. The cost of rennovating the lodge, estimated at between $250,000 and $500,000, would be financed by the state, with no legislative action having yet been taken. Funds for purchasing the additional acreage will be requested from the U.S. Department of Interior. No estimated cost on this was made available.

Contributions are returned

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 11 congressional candidates have returned contributions from the American Medical Association's political organization because they believe voters are skeptical of politicians who take campaign money from special interest groups.

"The special interest groups have turned so many people off the election process following Watergate," said Edward Murnane, campaign manager for Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill. "It is a form of influence-peddling the American people have indicated they will not tolerate."

The returned contributions were disclosed in campaign finance records filed with the House of Representatives by the AMA's political organizations.

Crane returned a $1,000 contribution.

Nine of the candidates rejecting the funds are incumbents. Better known than their challengers, they are generally in more secure financial and political positions and are freer to pick and choose among contributions.

The money is distributed by the American Medical Political Action Committee, one of the richest special interest groups supporting political campaigns. A spokesman said the group has contributed to at least 220 Senate and House candidates this year and will give money to more campaigns before the Nov. 5 election.

Analyzing campaign funding reports, Common Cause said the AMA group had contributed $832,589 to various candidates as of Sept. 1.

David Baldwin, a spokesman for the AMA, said the political action committee built up its campaign war chest with contributions averaging $25 to $30. The largest single offering was $125, he said.

Millicent Fenwick, the Republican candidate for the seat being vacated by Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., rejected the $2,500 the AMA political arm sent to her.

Most of the candidates who rejected the money from the largest professional medical organization had announced earlier in their campaigns that they would refuse money from special interest groups or contributions over a certain amount.

But Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr., R-N.Y., returned the $1,000 sent to his campaign, fearing that voters in his upstate New York district might think the AMA influenced his position on pending national health insurance legislation. The contribution was the largest Fish received, an aide said.

Rep. Jack F. Kemp, R-N.Y., refused a $1,000 contribution because he is not accepting any special interest group money, but his executive assistant, Harry Clark, conceded that an incumbent is in a better position to be selective.

The other candidates who returned funds are Rep. Gilbert Gude, R-Md., $1,000; Rep. Bill Archer, R-Tex., $4,000; Rep. William J. Randall, D-Mo., amount unavailable; Rep. David C. Treen, R-La., amount unavailable; Rep. Bo Ginn, D-Ga., amount unavailable; Clifford W. Taylor, a Michigan Republican running for a vacated seat, amount unavailable; and Rep. Abraham Kazen, D-Tex., amount unavailable.

Randall, Taylor, Treen and Ginn accepted a portion of the contributions, rejecting the amount beyond limits they set on campaign receipts, the AMA group said.

Judge fights to avoid retirement

By CINDY ROSE
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — "When I turned 70 I didn't go out looking for a rocking chair," says Judge Nathan Wernick. And he says he won't let the government put one under him without a fight.

Wernick, who turned 70 on Sept. 25, has filed suit in U.S. District Court to keep his job as a Social Security administrative law judge.

The outcome could have widespread effect because he's challenging the constitutionality of a federal law that requires mandatory retirement of almost all federal employes at age 70. Supreme Court justices are exempted.

"I want to get up in the morning and know I have a job," said Wernick, who balks at being called elderly. "I want to live a long time without getting old. As long as there's people older than I am, I'm young."

He has obtained a temporary restraining order allowing him to stay on the bench, but no hearing date on his suit has yet been set.

Wernick works eight hours a day, five days a week, presiding over Social Security hearings.

"I don't see any slow down in my productivity," he said. "Frankly, I think I'm far better now with all my experience. I don't feel a day older than I did 20 years ago.

Wernick's immediate superior, Judge Morris Jacobson, described Wernick as "alert, judicious and a man who makes good decisions.

"He is probably one of the better administrative law judges in the country. I base that on the quantity of his caseload and the quality of his decisions."

Wernick earned his law degree in New York. He has been an administrative law judge since 1966 in Puerto Rico, Tampa and Miami.

"It's a good job," he said. "I enjoy contact with people, making decisions, reasoning them out, writing them.

"I think I'm doing something worthwhile. And I think I have a chance to keep being a judge."

Urge more production for home canning

By BRIAN B. KING
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Who put eight great tomatoes in that little bitty jar?

The home canner, that's who, forced by a shortage of equipment to stuff as much produce as possible into each container.

Although the canning season has ended for most parts of the United States, the Agriculture Department already is trying to prod manufacturers into increasing production to avoid shortages next fall.

Increased home canning is predicted because of of inflation and President Ford's plea to each citizen to plant a WIN—Whip Inflation Now—garden.

Meanwhile, Americans who didn't can will find the commercially canned vegetables costing more this fall and winter, with some shortages also expected, according to the Agriculture Department.

The department also said that prices of fresh vegetables this fall are higher than last year, primarily because of smaller harvests and higher markups of middlemen.

The figures that canning equipment manufacturers have provided privately to presidential consumer adviser Virginia Knauer show that only half the raw material they need for full production presently is in the industrial pipeline.

Mrs. Knauer's office already has written 20 steel manufacturers to urge increased production by lid-makers. A Knauer aide said this week that the steel companies have yet to respond to the supply queries.

Accused murderer is ordered to stand trial

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — William Rowland Roberts, 37, accused of murders and robberies in eight states and a parole violator from Kansas City, was ordered removed to Cincinnati, Ohio, Thursday to stand trial for kidnaping and murder.

U.S. Magistrate George Juba ordered the removal after a brief hearing.

Court officials said it has not been determined when Roberts will be taken to Cincinnatti.

He is accused of the Aug. 5 kidnaping of William and Norma Reed in Rising Sun, Ind.

William Reed was found beaten and hanged in his home in Cincinatti. His wife was gagged and tied to a bed.

Roberts is charged in other states with a series of robberies involving priests and ministers.

He was arrested as he lay in a Portland hospital bed earlier this month. He had checked into a hospital complaining of chest pains. Nurses called the police when they found he had three sets of identification.

He is not sought by Oregon officials.

He is charged with robbing clergymen in Fort Smith, Ark., Moab, Utah, and Martinsburg, West Va.

The FBI says Roberts has been charged with the murder of a priest in Wilkesboro, N.C., June 28. The priest, Rev. Francis T. Donahue, was found dead on his bed where he had been tied and gagged.

Agents said death apparently was from a heart attack, but that a murder charge was filed because the death was related to the commission of a felony.

The FBI agent said Roberts is believed to have approached each minister on the pretense of making funeral arrangements for a relative. He is charged with the armed robbery of a Vernon, Ala., motel Sept 21, and is sought in New York, Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

In Portland, he was arrested on a federal warrant charging him with parole violation.

Mandel appears far ahead of Republican competition

By DAVID GOELLER
Associated Press Writer

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Maryland has been rocked by major kickback scandals in recent years and now investigators are looking at a group of businessmen close to Democratic Gov. Marvin Mandel.

But the 54-year-old Democrat, acareer politician who was speaker of the House of Delegates before he became governor, is considered far ahead of Republican Louise Gore in what looms as a good year for incumbents in Maryland elections.

In the state's Senate race, liberal Republican Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. also is headed for re-election against a woman opponent, Baltimore Councilwoman Barbara A. Mikulski.

Seven congressmen also are favored for new terms. The eighth, Rep. Lawrence W. Hogan, lost the GOP gubernatorial primary after becoming the first Republican on the House Judiciary Committee to call publicly for former President Richard M. Nixon's impeachment.

The election comes a little more than a year after two major Maryland political figures, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Baltimore County Executive Dale Anderson, ran afoul of a still-continuing political corruption probe directed by U.S. Atty. George Beall of Baltimore.

First, Anderson, a symbol of suburban machine politics, was indicted on charges of extorting kickbacks from consultants doing business with the county. He was subsequently convicted.

Then, Agnew, Anderson's Republican predecessor, was accused of receiving kickbacks while governor and vice president. He resigned his office and pleaded no contest to a single tax evasion count as the prosecutors released a 40-page account of accusations against him.

Now Beall's office is looking into the activities of long-time Mandel associates and fundraisers Harry W. Rodgers III and W. Dale Hess.

Miss Gore has made little effort to criticize the governor's relationship with them, though volunteers phoned voters saying her election is needed "to clean up corruption in state government."

Nor has she tried to make campaign capital out of Mandel's much-publicized divorce and remarriage.

Instead, the wealthy, 49-year-old national committeewoman and former state senator, credited with introducing Agnew to Nixon, is concentrating on low-key campaigning before coffee klatches and Republican groups.

Scout News

Cadette Girl Scout Troop 311 hosted a Halloween party for three Brownie troops recently at Camp Sacajawea. Troops participating were Troop 311 from Sacred Heart Catholic School; Troop 354, Horace Mann School; and Troop 314, Whittier School.

Winners in a best costume competition among Brownies were Rene Morales, first; Amy McCoy and Laura Kiesel, second; Jana Jobe, third. Cadette winners were Ann Thomas, first; Missy Lamm, second; and Debbie Fisher, third.

In other scout news, Julie Wittman and Chris Haase, members of Cadette Troop 311, recently attended an all-day outing at the Bar S Stables near Columbia. Cadette scouts from Cole Camp, Columbia, Jefferson City and Mexico also participated in the event.

The groupings of stars are called constellations. They often form patterns which can be easily recognized and remembered.

ERTS satellites may help solve many of the world's problems

A schoolboy visiting the Hayden Plantearium in New York City ponders a giant photograph of the United States compiled from nearly 600 images transmitted by the ERTS-1 satellite. The extremely detailed 10x16 rendition shows various features of a scale of one inch to a million inches on the ground. Information from such pictures help scientists gain insights into agriculture, forestry, geology, oceanography, water resources, pollution, mapping and land use.

(AP)

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Geologist R.B. Parker spent weeks backpacking and mulepacking in Wyoming's rugged Wind River Mountains to map linear faults and fractures, the potential sites of hidden mineral deposits.

During a five-year period, he mapped little more than 10 per cent of the region. Then, one afternoon, he received a single picture of the entire range, snapped from America's Earth Resources Technology Satellite — ERTS. In just three hours, sitting at his desk at the University of Wyoming, he completed the job, charting scores of linear features.

From its lofty outpost 560 miles high, ERTS has transmitted more than half a million pictures since it was launched by NASA two years ago. The photos cover 75 per cent of the globe and 100 per cent of the United States. They have demonstrated that it is feasible for a satellite to measure, catalogue and monitor the earth's natural resources.

"First and foremost, ERTS data could be a tool for identifying potential new sources of energy, particularly oil and natural gas deposits," said Enrico P. Mercanti of NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center in nearby Maryland. "And ERTS can play a major role in environmental impact assessment.

"In a world increasingly threatened by famine, a realistic objective measure of food supplies has become an obvious need. New and promising work has been done on ERTS crop-use analysis."

Although still experimental, the $185 million satellite already has produced enormous dividends. Items:

—California saved more than one million dollars when ERTS pictures pinpointed hot spots in a Big Sur forest fire, enabling firefighters to subdue the flames two to three days faster than if they had worked without ERTS.

—The U.S. Geological Survey is using ERTS photos to monitor water levels behind hundreds of dams. The aim is to prevent a dam collapse similar to West Virginia's Buffalo Creek disaster, which killed 118 people in 1972.

—Land use maps of various states are being drawn up from ERTS photos at a cost of about $80,000 a state. Previously, it cost about $1 million to map a state with photos taken from aircraft. ERTS maps of many remote and undeveloped countries often are better than existing charts.

—Potential sources of minerals, oil, gas and geothermal energy have been located in many western states and in South Africa, Brazil, Mexico, Iran and other nations.

—Earthquake experts have located hundreds of previously unknown fault zones in California. These charts enable builders and highway planners to steer away from construction in potentially dangerous areas.

—By analyzing an ERTS picture that showed differences in sea color, experts were able to direct fishermen to menhaden in the Mississippi Sound.

Photographs from ERTS are examined by 312 special investigators in 38 countries. However, anyone — geologists, farmers, regional planners — can purchase pictures for $7 each from a distribution center in Sioux Falls, S.D. Each photo covers 10,000 square miles of the earth's surface.

The satellite's orbital path takes it over the same area of the world each 18 days and at the same time of day, permitting changes to be recorded.

A key appliction promises to be the inventorying of major agricultural crops on a national and a global scale. ERTS crop identification this year approached or exceeded a 90 per cent accuracy level for corn and soybeans in South Dakota, Illinois and Michigan; field corn and popcorn in Nebraska; winter wheat in Kansas, and rice, safflower, asparagus, corn and cotton in California.

ERTS also has surveyed glaciers and snow cover to predict annual water runoff. Its imagery has been used to redraw maps of the Arctic and Antarctica, and to chart the flow of ice in the Great Lakes. This could lead to more efficient routing of ships during winter.

Texas, Florida, Georgia, Colorado, Oklahoma and Kansas use ERTS data to help manage water supplies. Several states use the photos as a low-cost accurate surveyor of land and how it is used.

More and more foreign countries are obtaining ERTS photos, principally for agriculture and geology surveys. Brazil and Canada have built ground stations to receive photos directly from the satellite, and Italy soon will have one to serve the heart of Europe.

Researchers say they have barely tapped the ERTS potential.

Already the satellite has exceeded its anticipated useful lifetime by more than a year. It shows no signs of wearing down, scientists say. ERTS-2 is to be launched early in 1975. The two satellites together should provide more frequent coverage of given areas than the 18 days now possible.

Sedalia notes the 25th anniversary of the tube

By RON JENNINGS
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

The year was 1949 and the film was "Casablanca." The star attractions were Humphrey Bogart, Ingrid Bergman and a haunting melody, "As Time Goes By." Billed by the Uptown Theater as an "all-time favorite," it was destined to be one of Hollywood's most memorable movies.

And yet, on this mid-October evening 25 years ago, Bogie's appearance on Ohio Street was upstaged by an unlikely rival located four blocks south — a box-like contraption with a magic six-inch screen, located in Gerald Cecil's showroom window.

Television had come to Sedalia.

Observing his silver anniversary in the TV business this month, Cecil chuckled as he fondly recalled the long lines of people hovering in front of his store, eagerly elbowing each other for the privilege of peering at the dartboard-designed test pattern of station WDAF, Kansas City, which had beamed its first broadcast that fall.

"They'd just stand and look at it for hours on end," he said. "They just never seemed to get bored, even if the only picture we could get was mostly snowy. People didn't mind this, it was all so new to them."

In a sales-boosting move, Cecil wasted little time in promoting his new product the best way he knew how.

"I figured the only way people could really begin to comprehend what television was, was to let them see for themselves," he said. "You couldn't effectively convey what it was by advertisements. You had to show them the real McCoy."

He did this by rigging up a small outside speaker system which allowed sidewalk viewers to hear as well as see the action. "I guess you'd say that, in the late, late 40's, this was about the most interesting show in town," he said. "We always had big crowds."

In those early days, Cecil recalled, "sports were king ... that was about the only thing the people watched." His biggest crowds downtown were on Wednesday and Friday nights when the Pabst Blue Ribbon bouts and the Gillette Friday night fights were on.

"Yes, the fights were what really drew them in," Cecil said. "Sometimes, when the match was a big one, we'd set up chairs inside too."

But, it wasn't all boxing. There were also the Redbirds from St. Louis. It was the age of second baseman Red Schoendiest, catcher Joe Garagiola, third baseman Marty Marion and left fielder Enos Slaughter. And, of course, The Man, himself.

It's been over a quarter of a century, but local baseball buff Bob Brown, 1006 West 11th, hasn't forgotten those first few times he saw Stan Musial on the miniature silver screen.

"I had seen him in person many times before, yet I was as excited as anything about standing outside and looking in, watching them on that snowy little screen. It was really kind of crazy," he said.

Vintage model

This old, six-inch screen television set is the kind which fascinated Sedalians 25 years ago. Although, after a quarter-century of use, the set is hard put to produce a proper picture, Cerald Cecil, shown here, doesn't plan on throwing it away. "They just don't make 'em like this anymore," he said.

(Democrat-Capital Photo)

Another favorite attraction was Randall Jessie, the former Sedalia radio announcer who became WDAF's first news personality.

The prospects of seeing Slaughter come through again in the clutch and watching Randall Jessie with the news, all in the privacy of his own home, prompted Andy Yeager, Route 5, to buy one of the first sets in town.

"I was running a Mobil station at the corner of Broadway and Ohio," he reflected. "I used to walk across the street to Cecil's and look at the set in the window. Then, one day after they came out, I just went in and bought one.

"It was really quite a thing," he continued. "There was quite a to-do made over it in my neighborhood. People were just awed by it, I guess you would say."

They may have been awed by it and they may have flocked to the free fight shows, but it still took a lot of coaxing to talk most people into their first sets, Cecil indicated.

"People just were leery of spending that much money on something they had never seen around before," he said. "They didn't know how reliable they were or how good the reception would be."

In an effort to dispel these worries, Cecil purchased an aerial system attached to a portable tower. Capable of being cranked to a height of 50 feet, Cecil took his movable aerial with him on every sales call throughout the early 1950's.

"People wouldn't just walk into the store and say they're interested in a TV like they do now," he said. "I had to take the TV's and aerial to the door, so to speak."

Now, a quarter-century later, Cecil's best-selling models are 25-inch color units, a far cry from his first offerings. He hasn't made a house sales call in years. The one-time novelty has become a near-necessity in most households.

"Times have changed, that's for sure," he said. "I doubt if most people would know what to do if they didn't watch television. It's not new anymore, but it's wanted more than ever."

Mining firm seeks change in court rule

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Reserve Mining Co., filed an appeal with the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday, asking the court to overturn a decision by U.S. District Judge Miles Lord.

The judge ordered the Silver Bay, Minn., taconite processing firm last April to stop discharging industrial wastes into Lake Superior and the air. The order resulted in a two-day shutdown of Reserve operations, but the appeals court stayed the order while the appeal was pending.

In the motion filed Friday, Reserve said Judge Lord's finding of a health hazard "is admittedly a speculation and apparently rests on the erroneous view of the law that the district court was entitled to act in some sort of legislative-administrative capacity."

Reserve said the judge's finding that its discharge is responsible for "any meaningful portion of suspect fibers in Lake Superior is unsupported by any substantial evidence and is contrary to the great weight of evidence."

The firm also contended that a court-ordered closing of its plant would have grave economic and social consequences in northeastern Minnesota.

Arrest man in connection with slaying

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — George James Peters, 39, was arrested here Friday in connection with the Sept. 17, 1973, slaying of Dr. Lynn D. Weller, Jr., the FBI said.

Peters, formerly of Kansas City, had been living here several months and was recognized from a wanted poster by an FBI agent. A federal warrant charging him with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for first-degree murder was issued Oct. 19, 1973.

A U.S magistrate set his bond at $500,000.

Weller, an obstetrician-gynecologist who favored abortions, was shot to death at his home by two masked men.

Patrick H. McGuire, 32, pleaded guilty to second-degree murder after agreeing to testify against William H. Carlos, 51, who also performed abortions. McGuire testified that Carlos paid him $6,000 to kill Weller.

A circuit court jury in Kansas City convicted Carlos Aug. 24 on a first-degree murder charge.

Two men are sentenced for robbery try

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Prison sentences of 12 years each were handed down Friday to two men who admitted participation in the Christmas Eve, 1973, robbery of a suburban savings and loan office.

Sentenced in U.S. District were Dennis N. Giblin, 27, of Belleville, Ill., and Jack Springmeyer, 26, of Moline Acres, who pleaded guilty in September to charges of armed robbery and interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle.

The two were the third and fourth men to be sentenced for participation in the $11,000 robbery of the Carondelet Savings & Loan Association office in Ferguson.

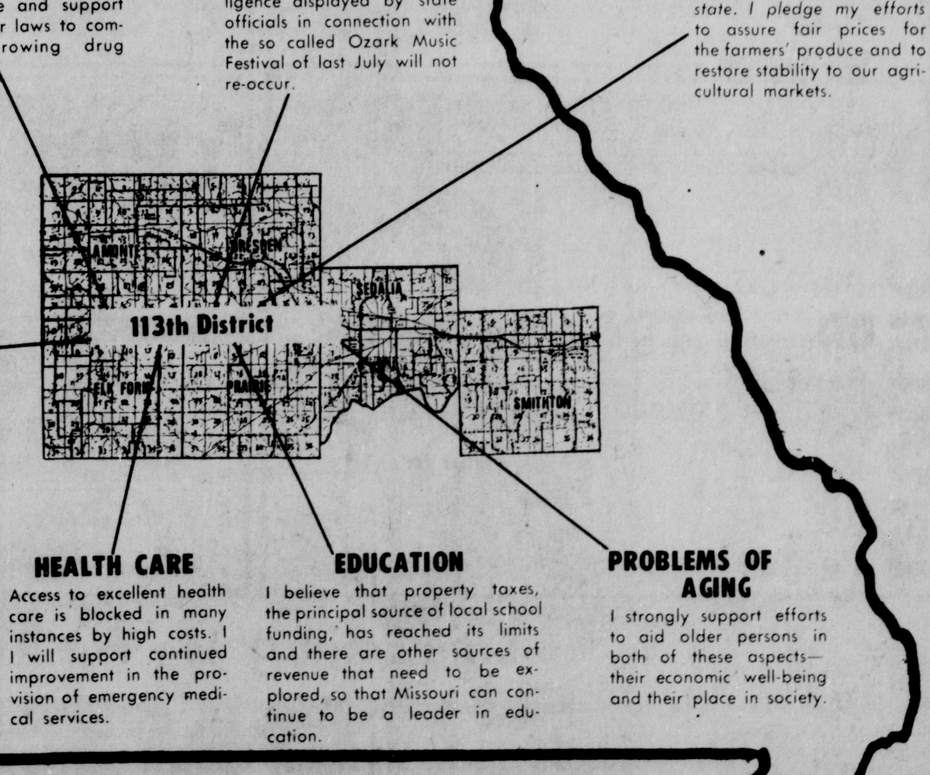
LAW ENFORCEMENT
I endorse all aspects of the Criminal Justice System and will introduce and support much stronger laws to combat the growing drug problems.

FAIRGROUNDS
I will introduce legislation so that the scandalous negligence displayed by state officials in connection with the so called Ozark Music Festival of last July will not re-occur.

AGRICULTURE & RURAL DEVELOPMENT
Agriculture continues to be the number one industry in Missouri and one that is vital to the economy of th state. I pledge my efforts to assure fair prices for the farmers' produce and to restore stability to our agricultural markets.

LABOR
I support legislation benefiting labor. The Democratic record in that respect has been and will continue to be excellent.



HEALTH CARE
Access to excellent health care is blocked in many instances by high costs. I I will support continued improvement in the provision of emergency medical services.

EDUCATION
I believe that property taxes, the principal source of local school funding, has reached its limits and there are other sources of revenue that need to be explored, so that Missouri can continue to be a leader in education.

PROBLEMS OF AGING
I strongly support efforts to aid older persons in both of these aspects—their economic well-being and their place in society.

Chain letters 'pain in the neck'

Dear Ann Landers: Today when I came home from school I found my mother very upset. She had received a chain letter, supposed to have been started by a saint. Mom was instructed to send out twenty copies to friends and relatives. If she does, the letter says, she will have good luck. If she doesn't she will have bad luck. In the letter it told about people who had broken the chain and how they lost their jobs, got cancer or had some terrible accident.

My mom works hard all day and doesn't want to bother with twenty letters. Also, it means $2 in stamps. What is your opinion of these chain letters? — Sorry For Mom

Dear Sorry? They are a crock of cranberries, sheer nonsense and a royal pain in the neck. I hope your mother ignores that nutty letter and helps to put an end to the foolishness.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm the mother of a three-year-old girl and a boy who is 16 months old. The girl is very sweet, but just average-looking. The boy is an unusually beautiful child.

Invariably people who come to the house, or acquaintances I meet on the street, rave about the boy, tell me he is "gorgeous" — and ignore the girl completely. My heart just breaks when this happens because I know how left-out she must feel.

So please, Ann, tell these good people who mean no harm, when there are two children present please don't ignore one and praise the other. It really hurts. — Mother Of Two

Dear Mother: How right you are. Of course these people mean no harm, they are just thoughtless. I hope your letter will help them to become more aware.

I try, every day, to plant at least one good idea, to make one useful point in this column. You did it for me today, and I thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: Just one more word, please, to "Too Late And Sorry," the unmarried female who was mad at her doctor because he removed her cancerous breast. She said, "Who would want half a woman? Now I'm doomed to spinsterhood."

I'm a coordinator for the Florida Division of the American Cancer Society and I direct the "Reach To Recovery" program. Our volunteer group of dedicated women includes many who married AFTER mastectomies.

Doesn't "Too Late" realize that a woman need not be double-breasted in order to be lovable? This is how she separates the men from the boys. To a real man, a woman's being single-breasted or flat altogether doesn't matter. Who'd want a man to whom a mastectomy would make a difference? If he really cared he'd be so grateful she had life-saving surgery that he'd love her even more.

We single-breated ladies have a little trick of our own. We don't let a man appraise our femininity on the basis of our single-breatedness. We appraise his masculinity based on his reaction. You'd be surprised how many gals have found wonderful men in this manner. It's foolproof. —

We single-breasted ladies have a little trick of our own. We don't let a man appraise our femininity on the basis of our single-breastedness. We appraise his masculinity based on his reaction. You'd be surprised how many gals have found wonderful men in this manner. It's foolproof. — Marie Maxon

Dear Marie: Thanks for a wonderfully upbeat letter. It should give a lift to the single-breasted and double-breasted alike.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1460, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The voice on the line

By DERECK WILLIAMSON

The Phoenix Nest — Edited by Martin Levin

I tried to dial a number from my home phone the other day, but all I got was a series of clicks, buzzes, and beeps. Then an operator came on the line. She said one moment, please.

Then she told me to deposit 55 cents.

It crossed my mind that this might be a sneaky new kind of rate hike. But no, it couldn't be. There was no place on my telephone to deposit coins. I found myself looking, just to be sure.

I told the operator that I was dialing from a private phone.

"You're in a phone booth," said the operator.

"I'm not in a booth," I retorted. I explained that although the room might be small by her standards, it was definitely not booth-size. I told her that I couldn't deposit any money even if I wanted to, which I didn't.

The operator said one moment, please. I prayed that she wasn't summoning reinforcements. I didn't want to argue with a succession of superiors. Suppose they managed to convince me that I actually was in a booth? What then? Already, I could feel my mind slipping.

Just as I was about to scratch a dirty word on my wall, the operator came back on the line. She told me to try my number again. She said she was sorry I was having trouble, a favorite operator statement that envisions a thick-fingered customer who somehow missed numbers in school. Hell, I wasn't having any trouble; the telephone company was having it. Their equipment had gotten so fouled up they thought I was in a phone booth.

It's funny, but if the lights go out, the power company admits it is having trouble someplace. When a gas main breaks, the gas company says it's having trouble. But whenever the phone doesn't work, the telephone company tells me I'm having trouble.

Another strange thing operators say is "They don't seem to be answering." This happens after an operator rings a number for me, either because I'm calling collect or because I can't get past the automatic equipment. She lets my number ring a long time, and then she makes the statement.

But what does "They don't seem to be answering" mean? Either the party answers, or doesn't. It's the "seem" that confuses me.

A salesman friend of mine is bugged by the "they." When he's out of town and phones his wife who is supposed to be home alone, he gets mad when the operator says "They don't seem to be answering."

"Who's they?!" he demands to know.

Now there's a new question for phone-users to ponder. Will the telephone company begin demanding coins at home?

I know one thing — the next time it happens, I'm asking for my dime back.

Cocaine sale bring prison term for youth

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — St. Louis County Circuit Judge Noah Weinstein has sentenced a 17-year-old Chesterfield youth to five years in prison on a charge of selling cocaine.

"I put cocaine in the same category as heroin," Weinstein declared while sentencing Steven Lebovich, who admitted selling drugs at Ladue High School.

The youth pleaded guilty in August to a charge of selling cocaine to an undercover narcotics agent.

Autumn

Autumn that shimmering, cider-sipping time of year, which Keats called the "season of mists and mellow fruitfulness," covers the county. Along with the sudden pinch of frosty evenings, come the prospects of harvest moon hayrides, eerie jack-o-lanterns, and the vistas of fall woodland beauty.

While similar in some ways, the individual thoughts and emotions evoked by these images are as abundant and subtly distinct as the falling leaves. For many, autumn is a peaceful interlude between the rigors of summer heat and winter's piercing cold. Others see in the season all the majesty Mother Nature has to offer.

Other seasons eagerly offer their attractions. But, as these photos reveal, autumn nobly bestows her's — to those lucky enough to notice.

Eshelman-Siron

LAMONTE — Miss Judith Ann Eshelman and the Rev. Terry W. Siron were united in marriage at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Baptist Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Del Eshelman, 2791 Meadow Wood Drive, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Siron, 907 West Seventh.

The Rev. Dean Catlett performed the ceremony before the altar decorated with pink carnations, lavender gladioli and peacock feathers. Miss Deana Catlett was the pianist and Keith Owens was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a hand-made gown purchased in Nottingham, England, of pale pink chiffon over taffeta with a white Nottingham lace bodice and cuffs. Her cathedral length train was trimmed in matching lace as was her floor-length illusion veil.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Weldon Jenkins. Mrs. Shirley Buchanan, sister of the groom, and Anita Barrick were bridesmaids. They were dressed in long pale pink and lavender gowns in an A-line style with bolero jackets.

Chuck Siron, brother of the groom, and Dean Jenkins, nephew of the bride, were candlelighters. Michelle Jenkins, niece of the bride, was the flower girl and David Jenkins, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Kenneth Buchanan, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. Paul Siron, brother of the groom, and Joe Fischer were groomsmen. Serving as ushers were Weldon Jenkins, brother-in-law of the bride, and Warren Preuitt.

Following a reception in the fellowship hall of the church, the couple left on a honeymoon to Tan-Tar-A. The bride wore a teal gray dress.

They will reside in LaMonte, where the groom is the pastor of the Baptist Church. He is a 1969 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School and a 1973 graduate of William Jewell College. The bride, a 1972 S-C graduate, is a junior communication and English major at William Jewell College.

Bottom-Neuwirth

OTTERVILLE — Miss Wanda Lee Bottom and John Al Neuwirth exchanged marriage vows at 6 p.m. Oct. 12 at the Presbyterian Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. S. F. Vanderhoof, Boonville, and Leo Bottom, Warrensburg. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Neuwirth, Mundelein, Ill.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long gown of white slipper satin, designed and sewn by her mother. The gown featured an empire waist with lace appliqued midriff, chapel train, deep appliqued cuffs and long sleeves. Her fingertip veil, trimmed in lace, was secured by a crocheted coronet dotted with seed pearls.

Mrs. Stephen Galliher was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Misses Donna Penn and Teresa Neuwirth. They wore long pink, lavender and green flowered organza over taffeta gowns with mint green, lavender and pink hats, respectively. Kim Grigsby was the flower girl.

Gary Noble was best man and Mark Oberman and Tim Neuwirth were groomsmen. Seating the guests were Charles Bottom, brother of the bride, and Russell Vanderhoff, step-brother of the birde.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church basement. At 9 p.m., a dance was held at the Boonville Rod and Gun Club.

The newlyweds will be at home in Ft. Bragg, N.C., where the groom is stationed with the U.S. Army.

Maltsbarger-Reed

New Bethel United Methodist Church was the setting for the Oct. 20 wedding of Miss Jean Ann Maltsbarger and William C. Reed.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maltsbarger, Route 1, are the bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Scrutchfield, Excelsior Springs, are the parents of the groom.

The Rev. Larry Shores performed the candlelight ceremony before an altar decorated with blue pom pons and white mums. Miss Cheryl Gorrell was the organist and soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long white organza gown trimmed with Venise and Chantilly lace. Lace trimmed the scoop neckline, bodice and soft long sleeves. The flared skirt with detachable train was scattered with light-hearted appliques. Clusters of pearls trimmed her bridal cap, securing a lace-trimmed fingertip veil and blusher.

Miss Sandra Arvieux, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Debra Jefcoat and Kathy Morris. They wore long light blue floral gowns and wide-brimmed blue hats.

Candlelighters were Miss Lee Ann Scrutchfield, sister of the groom, and Jeffery Logan. Miss Nikki Reed, niece of the groom, was flower girl and Brian Reed, nephew of the groom, was the ringbearer.

Richard Reed, brother of the groom, was best man and George and Jim Reed, also brothers of the groom, were groomsmen. Seating the guests were Donald Maltsbarger, brother of the bride, Ray Kullman, cousin of the bride, and Joe Purchase.

Following a reception in the basement of the church, the couple left on a honeymoon to southern Missouri and Arkansas. The bride wore a red and black plaid pantsuit.

The couple will be at home in Green Ridge.

McDonald-Ross

Miss Wanda Jean McDonald and Jimmie David Ross were married at 7 p.m. Oct. 11 at Mt. Herrman Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Anna Berniece McDonald, 1012 East 16th, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Everett Ross, 1205 West 16th.

The Rev. Troy Payne performed the candlelight ceremony. Mrs. Lillian Maynard was the organist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Robert Freeman McDonald, the bride wore a long white gown of soft organza styled with delicate ruffles edging the V-neckline and full sleeves. A double flounce swept a chapel train.

Serving as her sister's matron of honor was Mrs. Don Cook. Mrs. Jeff Williams was the bridesmaid. They wore long light blue gowns trimmed with lace at the V-necklines and cuffed sleeves.

Mitchell and Michael Harrington, nephews of the bride, were candlelighters and ushers. Renee Boyce, niece of the groom, was flower girl and Robert Evan McDonald, nephew of the bride, wss the ringbearer.

Benny L. Barber Jr. was best man. Jeff Williams was groomsman.

Following a reception in the church basement, the couple left on a honeymoon to Branson. The bride wore a navy blue blouse and skirt.

The couple will be at home at 1313 South Prospect.

The groom, a 1966 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School, is employed at Town and Country Shoes. The bride, a 1973 graduate of S-C, was graduated with a one-year certificate from State Fair Community College. She is employed at Pat O'Connor Chevrolet.

Waters-Davidson

East Sedalia Baptist Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Pamela Jo Waters and John F. Davidson at 3 p.m. Oct. 19.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Waters, 640 East Tenth, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Helene S. Davidson, Holden, and the late Alvin Davidson.

The Rev. Medford E. Speaker performed the candlelight ceremony before the altar decorated with autumn shades of mums, carnations and pom pons. Miss Jan Hoffman was the organist and Tim Waters, brother of the bride, was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long white crepe gown styled with an empire waist accented by a cumberbund trimmed in lace. The bodice featured long, puffed sleeves with a Victorian collar and scooped neckline inset with lace. A lace-covered juliet cap secured her elbow length veil of illusion.

Mrs. Jerry Faulkner was the matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. David Tidmore, cousin of the bride, and Miss Christie Deuschle. They wore crepe gowns in the fall colors of burnt orange, gold and moss green.

Kevin Curran, cousin of the bride, and Roger Waters, the bride's brother, were candlelighters. Miss Susanne Griswold, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. Ringbearer was Jeff Davidson, nephew of the groom.

Greg Thurman was best man and Tom and Bob Davidson, brothers of the groom, were groomsmen. Seating the guests were Mark Waters, brother of the bride, and Jim Davidson, brother of the groom.

Following a reception in the fellowship hall of the church, the couple left on a honeymoon to southeast Missouri. The bride wore a teal blue dress.

The couple will be at home in Kansas City, where the groom is assistant manager of Continent Personnel Service. He was graduated from Central Missouri State University with B.S. degree in psychology. The bride has received a B.S. degree in sociology from CMSU.

Breshears-Whitworth

LAMONTE — Miss Bobbie Jean Breshears and Larry Clay Whitworth exchanged wedding vows at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Methodist Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Faulconer, LaMonte, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wheatly, LaMonte.

The Rev. Jerry Jones performed the ceremony. Floral arrangements with candles decorated the altar. Mrs. Louise Hall was the pianist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long ivory gown trimmed with lace at the neck, bodice and sleeves, secured with a long tie in the back.

Mrs. Cindi Kindle, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a navy blue gown with long white sleeves and a navy vest.

Gary Whitworth, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Bill Breshears, brother of the bride, and Gene Minor, brother-in-law of the groom.

The bride's parents hosted a reception at their home following the ceremony. The couple went to Silver Dillar City on their honeymoon.

They will be at home in LaMonte. The groom, a 1974 graduate of LaMonte High School, is employed at Keeles Carpet Center. The bride, a 1973 graduate of LaMonte High School, is the owner of Jeanie's Beauty Salon here.

MRS. DAVID EARL LEE
Miss Mary Jo Rector

It's not every day that a son marries his mother or that the flower girl and ringbearer are grandchildren of the couple, or, for that matter, that the ushers are their sons.

But at 2 p.m. Oct. 19, at the First Christian Church, the Rev. Dale Carson performed the ceremony uniting his mother, Jessie M. Carson, 2107 South Harrison, in marriage to J. R. Mosier, 1304 South Stewart.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Pauline Trueman, 1416 South Prospect. Both the bride and the groom had been widowed in recent years.

The flower girl was Miss Myrna Marie Carson, granddaughter of the bride, and the ringbearer was Kevin Mosier, grandson of the groom.

Serving as witnesses and ushers were Ray Mosier, son of the groom, and David and Dennis Carson, sons of the bride.

Yellow mums, white carnations and lavender chrysanthemums decorated the altar.

The bride wore a long, oyster-color, chiffon-over-crepe skirt with a large orchid on her lace jacket and flowers in her hair.

They will be at home at 2107 South Harrison. The groom is employed in sales for Animal Health Products and the bride is a teacher at Horace Mann School.

Even distribution

Don't undo jogging benefits by hurting your feet while running. If you run on a hard surface wear a cushioned shoe.

Warm and wise

Get back to the soil this winter. Wear a long bulky knit scarf with the word EARTH knitted into the design.

Well finished

Chipped nail polish is unsightly and patching usually shows. Remove polish from the whole nail and apply new polish for a neater look.

Be smart

A balanced diet is still the best way to insure good skin and health. Too fast a weight loss can make you look drained and pale.

Linville-Cooke

Wesley United Methodist Church was the setting for the 2:30 p.m. Oct. 20 marriage of Miss Laurel Diane Linville and Roy Thomas Cooke Jr.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. John F. Linville, 2506 Dennis Road, and the groom's father is Roy T. Cooke, Cross Timbers.

The Rev. Thomas Hall performed the candlelight ceremony before the altar decorated with champagne carnations and red rovers. Miss Beth Belt was the organist and Mrs. Nancy Nuzum was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her mother and father, the bride wore a white dovetone gown fashioned with an empire waist and long straight sleeves. Seed pearls trimmed the stand-up collar, dress front and sleeve bottoms. Her fingertip illusion veil was secured with a seed pearl-trimmed juliet cap.

Miss Sheila Linville was the maid of honor and Miss Sandra Cooke was the bridesmaid. They wore rust dovetone gowns styled with a collared bodice and long gathered sleeves.

Don Cooke was the best man and John Percival was the groomsman. Seating the guests were John Linville, Dennis Cloud, Michial Dabner, Kim Dabner and Michael Kruger.

Fischer-Spratt

TIPTON — Miss Anita Ruth Fischer and Dr. Dennis Scott Spratt exchanged wedding vows at St. Andrew's Catholic Church here Oct. 5. The Rev. Msgr. Joseph N. Fischer celebrated the double ring nuptial mass at 5 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Fischer, Tipton, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Spratt, Burlington Junction.

Yellow and bronze painted daisies adorned the altar and painted daisies and autumn-colored ribbons marked the family pews.

Mrs. LeRoy Knipp was the organist and Mrs. Orville Courtney was the soloist. After the ceremony, the groom sang "Somewhere" to the bride.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a long ivory gown, designed and made by herself, of Lootsong Satin. Ivory seed pearls fashioned the cape, flared collar and bodice. Matching satin and seed pearls fashioned the headpiece from which trailed a cathedral length veil of ivory tulle. Her jewelry was a gold butterfly necklace with diamonds and turquoise, a gift from the groom.

Attending her sister was maid of honor Dorothy Hughes. Bridesmaids were Mary Frances Schroeder and Martha Trueblood, niece of the groom. They wore gowns of blue crepe fashioned similar to the bride's.

Ronald Spratt, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Terry Nicholas and Fred Fischer. Seating the guests were Dennis Barker and Lynn Carlson. Todd Croy, nephew of the bride, and Randy Mertes were mass servers.

Following a dinner reception at the Farmer's and Sportman's Club, the couple left on a honeymoon trip. They are at home in Kansas City.

Rector-Lee

CONCORDIA — Miss Mary Jo Rector and David Earl Lee were united in marriage at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 19 at the Baptist Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rector, Concordia. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lee, Bates City, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burton, Houstonia.

The Rev. William C. Miller performed the candlelight ceremony. Bronze mums decorated the piano and organ. Mrs. Esther Borgstadt was the organist and Mrs. Truman Hayden was the pianist. Mrs. Larry Borgstadt and Norman Schlueter were vocalists.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a long satin gown overlayed with lace, featuring an empire bodice, full skirt and long sleeves cuffed with lace over satin. Her fingertip illusion veil was edged with lace and secured by a lace cap.

Attending her cousin as maid of honor was Cathy Rector. Bridesmaids were Misses Rita Kresse and Vicki Renno. They wore autumn gold, orange and brown crepe gowns, respectively, styled with white lace overlaying the empire bodices and white satin sashes.

Candlelighters were Misses Kaye Rector, cousin of the bride, and Teresa Kresse.

Edgar Renno served as best man and groomsmen were Dale Pollard and Jeff Yoder. Seating the guests were Donald Johnson, and Steve and Rick Rector, cousins of the bride.

Following a reception in the church basement, the couple left on a short honeymoon trip.

The bride wore a blue and white double knit dress.

They will be at home in Concordia, where the groom is employed at Bush-Evans Equipment Co. The bride is employed at Rival Manufacturing Co., Sweet Springs.

Quotable women

By The Associated Press

Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"My life is supposed to be quieter now that I'm not doing the weekly show, but I'm busier than I have ever been." Lucille Ball, who gave up her weekly television series in favor of specials this year.

"If I can just keep myself active and stay well, I'll be doing this for a long time. Sometimes, I feel God was thinking about all the lonely elderly people and He said, 'I guess we'll get Cora to do something about that.'" Cora Dudley, 84, who runs a volunteer program for senior citizens in Miami.

"Sometimes I think that the past is much more interesting than the present," Hannah Joyce Massie, who spends 40 hours a week in a security vault doing research at Wright Patterson Air Force Base.

"I read a lot. Books. Yeah, got a whole bunch of junk in here. I just don't like it in here. All that medicine I have to take which I don't like and I have to take." Bobbie Archer, a 9-year-old, on leaving the special plastic-enclosed hospital room in Albany, N.Y., where she spent five months.

"Evidently it is meant for me to be a singer. It probably never would have happened if I had not had to really get myself together. Things have a habit of working out, even things that are tragic." Syreeta, former wife of singer Stevie Wonder, now launching her own singing career, in a New York interview.

Imported music adds new sound to songs

By HILMI TOROS
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — In this land of Giuseppe Verdi and lyric opera, pop went the music in the 1960s. In came rock, first hard and then soft, but arias and Neapolitan songs have not faded away yet.

Now Italian music is undergoing what the national daily La Stampa calls "an identity crisis."

How much of the proud old should give way to the suggestive new? How do you reconcile rock, particularly from the United States and Britain, with a culture that never envisaged it? Do you blend the past with the present or let them coexist in a musical detente?

In Italy, at times described as a nation of singers, there is a bit of everything.

The airwaves, with radio and television still state monopolies, and the $80-million-a-year record industry tilt toward imported, or adapted, rock and toward new, fast-beat Italian songs. One survey had 93 per cent of Italians saying they listen to pop music. They were not asked whether they liked it or not. Musical comedies ranked second, regional songs third and opera fourth.

But the dominant theme of Italian top pops revolves around the old and worldly trinity of "amore, cuore, dolore" — love, heart, sorrow.

The theme encroaches even into adaptations. Petula Clark's gold "Downtown," for instance, became "Ciao-Ciao" and the listener can easily think it's about a jilted lover bidding farewell rather than a trip to Main Street.

Occasional attempts to stray from the theme succeed. Adriano Celentano won the San Remo Song Festival with his cut of "He who Doesn't Work, Doesn't Make Love," then followed it up with a song about excessive smoke and noise in the cities. Some years earlier Domenico Modugno crooned his "Volare"—to fly — to 22 million records around the world.

Songs of protest are rare and no match for rock and love.

The theme song of one popular radio show still has Bill Hailey and his Comets rocking around the clock.

Traditional local songs survive mainly in festivals and restaurants.

Sing-alongs in restaurants of the old Trastevere quarter of Rome reveal another element of Italian music — loudness and the battle of vocal cords against eardrums. "E Forte" — he's strong — diners say and applaud, and the singer becomes fortissimo. It may be ideal for Met auditioners but diners who want softies or no music at all are out of luck.

"He's a real man, his voice is still strong," his fans say of ageless idol Claudio Villa, linking decibel counts to manhood.

Expletives deleted in polite speech are permitted in songs. One Roman restaurant is called "parolaccia" — dirty words — but always with music and wine.

For what La Stampa calls "our industrial generation," a Stevie Wonder or Cat Stevens always hangs in the charts, untranslated and often not understood. The beat is what counts.

Protestant ministers faced by a problem

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Protestant pastors, most of whom are married, in some instances get entangled in an age-old, personal predicament — the problem of the "other woman."

It is "a major problem that confronts pastors in every denomination," says the Rev. Andrew Bustanoby, a former Baptist pastor and now a marriage counselor in Bowie, Md.

Church authorities cite a special potentiality for such situations in the ministry, with its duties of visiting, counselling and encouraging members at deeply felt, private levels.

Also, in most congregations there are women, lonely and wanting companionship, who seek the pastor's personal advice and guidance. Sometimes, often unintentionally and almost by accident, his efforts to sympathize and be helpful develop into an affair.

The subject, its hazards and ways to avoid them, generally is included to varying extents in seminary training.

"Every pastoral ministry course in seminary includes a lecture on the pastor's relations with women in the church," the Rev. Mr. Bustanoby writes in the evangelical fortnightly, Christianity Today.

However, he says an aspect of the problem not dealt with adequately is "the pastor's need for what the other woman has to offer. Men are attracted to the ministry not only for spiritual reasons, but also for the emotional fulfillment it offers."

He maintains that ministers most likely to get involved with women in their churches are what psychologists have classified as "maladaptive 'top-dog' personalities." To screen them out, he proposed greater use of psychological testing in seminaries.

He says the "minister who errs sexually does not start out with sexual encounter on his mind" but to "build his ego on the admiration of all people in his congregation — men, women and children.

"The women of the congregation provide ego satisfaction for his doubts about his masculinity. These doubts are allayed by messages fro the women that he is an attractive male.

Opera star doing well after surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — Opera star Beverly Sills was in satisfactory condition after undergoing surgery for the removal of a malignancy in her pelvic area.

Miss Sills, 45 and the mother of two, had the operation on Thursday after flying back from Dallas where she had been rehearsing for "Lucreta Borgia."

A spokeswoman said the operation was a "total success"' and the singer would know by Monday whether further treatment was necessary.

Miss Sills is also scheduled to perform in San Francisco and Los Angeles and planned to open the 1975-76 season at the Metropolitan Opera in New York City in "The Seige of Corinth."

THE INCUMBENT CONGRESSMAN (Democrat)	CLAUDE PATTERSON (Republican)
AGE - 65	AGE - 38
15 years in Congress	Administrator, Educator, Minister and Businessman (over 20 years experience)
With his staff allowance - - has one office in the 4th District (Independence) to serve the Constituents	With the same allowance - - PATTERSON will establish three offices in the 4th District (including Independence and Sedalia) to serve the Constituents better and more efficiently
Accepts "special interest" money and supports their lobbyists with 80% of his votes	PATTERSON believes no special interest should "control" Congressmen and promises not to "sell out"
Supports Constitutional action in Congress only 42% of the time	PATTERSON believes "Constitutional" government is the only safe government for America
Is a remarkable tour guide in Washington, D.C.	PATTERSON believes the 4th District should be distinguished for something other than the "highest paid tour guide" in Washington, D.C.
Supports the Free Enterprise system with only 36.4% of his votes	PATTERSON believes the Free Enterprise System and a strong middle class is the strength of our economy
Is a member of the "Secret Caucus" that tries to control legislation in the House of Representatives (in an unrepresentative manner)	PATTERSON believes the "crisis of confidence" in Congress demands open legislative procedures
Talks of his influence while 67 of 68 bills he introduced died in committee (91st Congress)	PATTERSON rejects "Cosmetic" representation and promises fair and honest communication both for and with the consituents
Votes to give more and more power to Bureaucrats	PATTERSON believes the least Federal government is the best government. As Jefferson said, "Throw the Government in chains and free the people."
Votes to give food stamps and welfare to strikers	PATTERSON believes the Government should not get into a "strike breaker" role by subsidizing strikes
Would deny laborers the "right to work" (votes to repeal Sec. 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act)	PATTERSON believes all citizens should have the right to work and live in decency and dignity
If re-elected, may be part of a "Veto Proof" Congress	PATTERSON rejects the notion of a veto proof Congress and calls for an "inflation proof" Congress
Uses his office staff and mailing privilege to aide in his re-election campaign	PATTERSON will fight to limit the abusive practice of incumbents using their offices as an unfair advantage in maintaining themselves in office
Boasts of chairing a sub-committee dealing with the energy crisis	PATTERSON believes the refusal of Congress to act on the basis of "need," while trying to make political hay in a crisis is irresponsible treachery. Warnings of the energy "need" were as early as 1950
Misleads constituents by: 1. Using old pictures of himself for campaign advertising 2. Sending "Postal Patron" mail during the campaign at taxpayer expense because of "redistricting" (although redistricting occurred years ago) 3. Triumphantly announcing funds although he voted against them 4. Claiming powerful seniority while being legislatively ineffective	PATTERSON believes Congressmen should have credibility, conviction and candor, and rejects such political tricks.

Claims Ford's advice no help

By STEPHEN H. MILLER
AP Business News Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Chairman Lynn Townsend of Chrysler Corp. said this past week that the auto and housing industries were on the brink of serious recession and President Ford's economic advice hadn't helped.

"He urged people not to buy, and they're not buying," said Townsend, whose company announced the day before that it had lost $8 million in the third quarter.

Townsend said that instead of urging Americans to cut their buying, he should tell them to spend. He said the government should also ease credit controls and put a moratorium on any further requirements for safety or antipollution equipment on cars.

Townsend's remarks came the day it was announced that the rate of new car sales for Detroit's auto producers in mid-October was down 28.4 per cent from a year earlier.

Sales at Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler were both off about 18 per cent. The drop at General Motors Corp. was 34 per cent; at American Motors, which has not yet put its 1975 models on the market, the decline was 46 per cent.

Townsend said that in spite of the declining sales, Chrysler planned a second price hike. He said increases averaging $400 a car last month still left the company with an average of $250 in unrecovered costs per car.

Generally, if demand for a product declines, the prices follow it downward. But the Chrysler chairman said Nixon administration economic controls had caused dislocations which still hadn't worked themselves out in the economy.

General Motors said Friday slower sales, strikes and rising prices cut its third quarter profit to a mere $16 million, or a nickel a share, down from a record $267 million, or 92 cents a share, a year earlier.

GM, the nation's biggest manufacturer, said it had been absorbing cost increases of more than $300 a vehicle during 1972-74 price controls and was now absorbing $500, including $100 in costs added just since the start of the 1975 model year.

Earlier in the week, GM had announced about 6,000 workers were being laid off because of sagging auto sales — the first time in recent history that layoffs had been ordered so early in a model year.

Exxon Corp., the world's biggest oil company, said this past week that its third-quarter profits totaled $800 million, up 25 per cent from the year before on a 63 per cent gain in revenues to $11.94 billion.

Even larger gains were reported by some other major oil companies.

Gulf Oil said its profits were up 31 per cent at $275 million. Cities Service up 75 per cent at $45.8 million, Indiana Standard 101 per cent to $296 million, Phillips Petroleum 110 per cent to $112.9 million, Continental Oil 122 per cent to $120.2 million and Shell Oil 158 per cent to $216 million.

Economic boost is given area systems

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The state has given four public water supply systems and two sanitary sewer systems an economic boost.

State Department of Natural Resources Director James Wilson said Friday the six systems have been awarded state grants totaling more than $1 million.

The funds will finance only a small part of each project, he said, however, with the majority of the money obtained through local bond issues or loans from the federal government.

Lafayette County Water District No. 1 received $660,000, Jackson County District No. 7 got $196,200, Howard Pevely received $97,200 for sewage collection, the city of Clark got $66,000 for a sanitary sewer system and the Bates County District No. 4 received $3,000.

Structural steel in San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge totals more than 83,000 tons.

A thorough report from Senate panel

To read over the final report of the Select Senate Committee that investigated the Ozark Music Festival is to relive those July days when Sedalia was caught up in a running nightmare. It appears the committee has done a first-rate job in assembling the facts and then drawing the inescapable conclusions.

Certainly no one can quarrel with the following appraisal, which says a great deal in few words:

"The committee must conclude that there was a complete breakdown in communications between the various legal staffs and those they were employed to advise. There was also a complete breakdown in communication between the law enforcement sector of the state of Missouri and the rest of the administrative branch of government."

Nowhere was this breakdown more evident than in the fact that the state signed a contract which, in its final form, was not seen nor approved by its legal counsel. One vital change here revoked the state's right to cancel the contract any time up to and including the festival, and in its place gave the state this authority only during the actual festival.

The committee concludes that the contract should never have been signed in the form it was finally put in by festival promoters, who seemed to call most of the crucial shots.

Beyond that, however, both the state and Pettis County had the authority to seek an injunction against the festival as a clear "public nuisance," the report stresses.

Many of the findings of the 63-page report are already familiar to Sedalians, who lived through the rock festival first-hand. There is even a bit of black humor, as when the report quotes one of the festival publicity releases to the effect that the event would be a "cultural experience."

Some culture.

Federal policies keep prices high

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — While President Ford has called for sacrifices from the American people to curb inflation, he administers dozens of government programs whose explicit purpose is to drive up prices and hold them up.

Each was intended originally to help some new industry get started, to keep declining businesses from collapsing or to enable embattled farmers to weather the vicissitudes of the market.

But in their aggregate, they have sapped the efficiency of American production and victimized the consumers. Most of these boondoggles still survive long beyond their original purpose, because of the campaign contributions and political power of the special interests.

As part of our watch on waste, here are a few examples of how the government deliberately keeps prices from falling. What makes the irony more bitter is that the consumers are compelled to pay for their own fleecing, since their tax money is used to finance the price riggins:

FOOD SUBSIDIES: For decades, the price of vegetables, fruits and dairy products have been driven up by government marketing orders which restrict production, limit interstate shipments and eliminate "excess" produce.

Similarly, the government restricts the importation of cheaper meat cuts suitable for hamburger and sausages. Now thousands of poor people can't even afford hamburger.

Import quotas on dairy products result in higher cheese, dried milk and butter prices. Also, raw cotton, wheat and peanuts have been pushed up in price by government import controls. If the prices of these products should start to slip, the government can be relied on to boost them back up by making huge emergency purchases.

TRANSPORTATION RATES: Some economists estimate that truck and rail rates are inflated 20 per cent because of Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) regulations, thus adding $16 billion in unnecessary consumer costs.

The ICC not only limits the entry of new competitors into trucking but also gives existing truckers antitrust exemptions to rig consumer rates.

On the other hand, ICC restrictions actually force trucks to travel costly, circuitous routes and to make many return trips empty. Other regulations prohibit railroads and truckers from lowering their rates when they wish to do so for competitive reasons.

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) prevents air carriers from offering lower rates while forcing them to maintain unprofitable routes. At the same time, the CAB also keeps out competition. It recently turned down an application for Laker Airways, for example, to fly the New York-London route at about one-third the existing fares.

GOVERNMENT INTERVENTIONS: While steel and textile prices climb steadily up, the government has negotated import restrictions on steel and textiles. The effect is to block the imports that could push prices down. This holds true for many other products.

Government-sponsored "resale price maintenance" prevents merchants from lowering many prices at the retail level. And the Davis-Bacon Act drives up local construction costs everywhere by forcing the spread of high, sometimes exorbitant union wage rates. The result is that fewer and fewer consumers can afford construction, and more and more laborers are out of work.

A bill to require 30 per cent of all oil imports to move in American ships will, unless vetoed, push prices up on gasoline, heating oil, electricity, plastics and petrochemical products.

Another law, the Jones Act, requires all shipping between two American ports to be carried on uncompetitive American ships. This raises costs on a wide variety of goods for the benefit of the already heavily subsidized shipping industry and maritime unions, which happen to be prime sources of political slush funds.

The pumpkin goblin

"It's too early for a snowman"
Commented little Joe;
"Of course," said his brother,
"There isn't any snow."
"Yea, but I was thinking'
"Wouldn't it be lots of fun
"To build a ghost of snow
"That would really look like one?"
Brother Don then looked at pumpkins
And he thought of something, too,
"How about a pumpkin goblin?
"Now that we could do,"
So they took a great big pumpkin
Then a smaller one they found
But still big and the two youngsters
Worked to drag it o'er the ground,
It wasn't very easy,
They would tug and then would stop,
But at last on the big one
They got the other up on top,
They searched for a smaller pumpkin
For a head, and there he stood,
Their old pumpkin goblin
And he looked pretty good,
They had made a hole in his head
And gave him a carrot nose
Painted eyes and mouth and then
An old hat for him they chose,
So perfect for Halloween,
This goblin in their tiny field
That at night when children saw it
They were so scared that they squealed,
While Don and Joe giggled
As they watched the kids that night,
Their pumpkin goblin standing there
Was really quite a sight,
Then Joe and Don went trick or treating
And an old witch flying high
Happened to see the pumpkin goblin
As she was passing by
So she swooped to the ground,
Then she went up to it wobblin'
She laughed and turned it into
A sure 'nough real life goblin,
The old witch told the goblin
To go on down the street
And join the boys who made him
In their fun of trick or treat,
So the pumpkin goblin
Without a bit of noise
Made his way until he joined
On a porch the two small boys,
They felt something gently push
Saw it standing there between
'Twas their own pumpkin goblin
With blinking eyes, big and green,
They stood there stiff with fright
Staring at one another
While the pumpkin goblin grinned
At first one and then the other,
At last Don said to Joe
"Come on. Its alive, let's run
But the goblin went along,
He was having so much fun,
They ran home and locked the door,
Dropping treats 'long the way
Mother and dad were surprised
When they went to their room to stay,
But doors meant nothing to the goblin
He simply walked right through
And went into the boys' room
Grinning at the frightened two.
"Hi" he said as a greeting,
His tone was nice, not rough,
"You dropped your sacks and stuff."
"Y-y-you -c-came to life" stammered Joey
"T-t-the pu-pu-pumpkin goblin we made"
"Why, sure, I'm the same goblin
"So you don't need to be afraid,"
He stayed and talked to Joe and Don
Then something happened, weird,
The old town clock struck the midnight hour
And the goblin disappeared,
But the next day in the pumpkin patch
Joey and Donnie found
Their pumpkin goblin standing there
On that same spot of ground,
There was no grin 'neath his carrot nose
And no blinking his eyes of green
He stood rigid as three pumpkins would
He lived only Halloween.

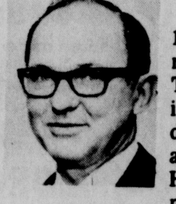
A conservative view

Ford's decisions: foolish and wise

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — President Ford made two decisions this month that prompt reflection upon the position of the presidency in our public life. One was foolish; and one was wise.



Kilpatrick

On the night of the 15th, he foolishly demanded and got prime TV time for a dull and innocuous speech. Two days later, he wisely appeared before the House Judiciary Committee to answer questions publicly on his pardon of Mr. Nixon. In the first instance, he used his presidential power clumisly. In the second, he downplayed his power adroitly.

The Tuesday night fiasco was a mistake all around. Producers and editors of televison news programs had determined, in advance, that Mr. Ford had nothing essentially new or different to say about his economic program. Their editorial judgment was that the speech did not justify a half hour of live coverage. In the event itself, that judgment was abundantly confirmed. But when the White House demanded live coverage — no other verb will suffice — the networks caved in and gave him the time.

The networks' pusillanimous surrender was as regrettable as Mr. Ford's magisterial command. Television likes to pretend that it has the same First Amendment rights of "free press" that newspapers have. Plainly that assertion is vain. If Mr. Ford had demanded that the Washington Star-News publish the text of his speech, the editors of the Star-News would have told him, deferentially to be sure, to go to hell. With the same deference, that is what NBC, CBS and ABC should have said to Ron Nessen that Tuesday.

The power of a president to command TV time is a power that ought not to exist. It ought to be abandoned. No president should be able instantly to dominate the television channels, at his sole discretion, and thus to impose his views upon the nation as a whole. The other side of this proposition, of course, is that John Chancellor, Walter Cronkite and Howard K. Smith should not have the power arbitrarily to deny a president access to the nation as a whole, but that is one of the things that freedom of the press is all about. Any time a president truly has something newsworthy to say, in Kansas City or anywhere else, newsmen will cover it. But the editorial judgment should be theirs alone.

Two days later, back in Washington, the picture of presidntial power was wholly different. Mr. Ford owed the House committee no accounting whatever for his pardon of Mr. Nixon. The power to pardon is vested exclusively in the chief executive. He does not have to seek congressional advice or consent. If a president grossly abuses his power power to pardon (assuming the absence of bribery), he may be answerable to history but he surely is not answerable to a House committee.

To his great credit, Mr. Ford cast aside the imperial toga of his predecessor. He waived any claim to "executive privilege." Calmly and courteously, he submitted voluntarily to the committee's questions. It was a heartwarming experience to see a president elevate his sights a little lower; and though his testimony was anticlimactic, it was wonderfully welcome. From time to time, as appropriate occasions arise, such question periods should be tried again.

The final straw for football freaks

WASHINGTON — AS everyone knows, I have always been in the forefront of the fight for women's liberation. My body is scarred from battling on the picket lines at the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City and the Miss Universe Contest in Miami. As we say in the lib movement, "I've paid by dues."

Buchwald

Therefore, I believe I can deal with the following subject with complete objectivity. What on God's green Astroturf is a woman doing as a sports commentator during a professional football game?

Last week I turned on the Redskin-Giant game, leaned back in my chair with a beer in my hand and a bowl of potato chips at my feet. Suddenly I heard this strange voice on the air. It sounded exactly like a woman's. My first thought was that CBS' Pat Summerall had had a serious operation. Then I decided that the sound on my set had gone awry. But a few seconds later a very pretty brunette came on the screen who was introduced as Jane Chastain, and Summerall said she was going to do the color for the game.

I sat straight up in my seat. A woman doing color on TV? Didn't CBS have any shame at all?

How could a multibillion-dollar network invade the homes of 30 million beer-drinking, potato chip-eating, red-blooded American football fans with the voice of a girl?

Let us make no mistake about this. Football watching is the last refuge of the Male Chauvinist Pig. We invented the game; we play it every Sunday — and Monday and Wednesday and Thursday and Friday and Saturday (see your local paper for TV listings). It is our thing.

As nice as Ms. Chastain looks and as knowledgeable as she tried to be, she has no more business on a TV football game than Howard Cosell has on The Waltons.

If I were to conjecture why CBS made this decision, I would have to guess that by assigning a woman announcer to a TV football game they were trying to attract a larger female audience. They were hoping to win over the wives or, as they are called, "widows" of the men who spend their weekends staring dumbly at their tubes.

This thinking is not the way we do things in America. The role of the wife on Sunday afternoons is to make the beds, prepare the meals, drive the children somewhere or take care of any relatives who might drop in unexpectedly.

Even if they wanted to, they don't have time to watch football. It is a cruel hoax on the part of the network to try to attract them to the TV screen when it knows women have so many more important things to do.

To show you the groveling they did last Sunday, CBS had Ms. Chastain interview Billie Jean King at half time. The last thing American men want to see during a football half time is an interview with Billie Jean King.

Let me make myself perfectly clear. I have no objection to women being airline pilots, truck drivers, senators and even President of the United States. They're entitled.

They can be doctors, lawyers, automobile mechanics, policemen, firemen and Indian chiefs. They can own banks, be in the numbers rackets and play Little League baseball if they want to.

The only place they don't belong is on a TV sportscast telling us male spectators things that they think we didn't know about football.

Mayor Delbert Langkrahr of LaMonte, left, and Mrs. W. C. Jones, LaMonte Community Betterment chairman, received congratulations from Lt. Gov. William Phelps this week in Jefferson City upon LaMonte winning first place in its division in the Missouri Community Betterment awards competition. Mrs. Jones also received a special governor's award for her efforts.

Comedian is named towns top officer

District Court Judge Bill Haworth gave Foxx the oath on Friday.

Foxx, star of NBC's "Sanford and Son" had been named chief of police of the all-black eastern Oklahoma community several months ago by Taft Mayor Lelia Foley.

Foxx said he didn't take the office lightly and would spend some time in Taft — the site of a state childrens' home.

20 year prison terms handed down

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — Concurrent prison sentences of 20 years each were handed down Friday in St. Louis County Circuit Court to a Hermann, Mo., man who pleaded guilty to robbing two pharmacies the same day.

Gary W. Magil, 28, pleaded guilty to taking money and drugs from the Medi-Care Pharmacy in Ferguson and from Bloemker's Drug Store in the county during armed robberies which occurred Sept. 21.

MFA will soon occupy new facilities

The MFA farm supply warehouse operation, presently located at 212 West Pacific, will be transferred soon to the former Home Building Corp. building, 303 North Park, it was announced Friday.

Lloyd Satterwhite, Columbia, general manager of the MFA farm supply division, said the location change was made to provide "more room for our expanding business operations."

The local warehouse serves as the storage center for MFA products sold in 50 MFA retail outlets in West-Central Missouri. The local MFA exchange headquarters, 2200 Clinton Road, will not be affected by the change.

Merchandise will be transferred to the new location beginning in a few weeks, with completion of the project expected soon after, Satterwhite indicated.

BLESSED EVENT

FROME, England (AP) — Brewery worker Colin Bennett was loaned a car by his employers for the ride to work. A pair of blackbirds made a nest for four eggs in Bennett's own car. The car loan lasted until the eggs hatched.

Farm Roundup

No change in reserves seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department officials say corn and wheat exports will be up some from earlier indications in the coming year but by the time 1975 harvests are ready the old-crop reserves will be about the same size as thought previously.

The figures were included Friday in a new "supply and demand" report showing estimates on how grain supplies are expected to be used during the 1974-75 season.

Corn exports for the year which began Oct. 1 had been expected to range between 750 million and 900 million bushels. But now, because of a larger foreign demand, those might total between 875 million and 925 million.

However, because domestic corn needs will be less than expected, reflecting a lower rate for livestock feed, the reserve going into the new crop year on Oct. 1, 1975, will be unchanged from recent estimates:315 million to 335 million bushels.

Wheat exports are expected to rise to between 1 billion and 1.1 billion bushels, up 50 million from a range of 950 million to 1.05 billion indicated earlier. As with corn, domestic wheat needs will decline.

Thus, the wheat reserve next July 1, when another crop year begins,could total between 243 million and 293 million bushels, compared with 218 million to 268 million previously indicated.

Two men killed as car, truck collide

TAYLOR, Mo. (AP) — A truck knocked an oncoming car 320 feet back along a road Friday, killing two men in the crumpled car.

The victims were the driver, George A. Jones, 22, of Ewing, Mo., and George P. Thomas, 24, Quincy, Ill. The highway patrol said the westbound car swerved into the eastbound lane of U.S. 24 east of Taylor, which is across the Mississippi River from Quincy. The vehicles met head-on.

The truck driver, Donald W. Smith, 29, Des Moines, Iowa, was not hurt but his cab was damaged heavily.

As Shakespeare might well have said, "Take your game and let the honors go."

South thought of this, but greed got the better of him and he bid the game in his suit instead of notrump. Fortunately for his continuing good relations with his partner, South worked out the correct line of play.

He started proceedings by cashing his second high spade at trick two. Then he led a club to dummy's 10 and East's jack. East led back a third spade, but that didn't upset South at all. He ruffed and led a second club.

East won and led a fourth spade. South ruffed again and led a third club. Eventually, South wound up with his own five trumps, two spades, two diamonds and a ruff of his fourth club with dummy's nine of trumps to score game, rubber and 150 honors.

The really noteworthy part of South's play occurred at trick two when he cashed his second high spade. If he had failed to make this play, East could have beaten South by the simple expedient of taking three immediate club tricks. This would have allowed West to jettison his second spade, whereupon East would have simply given his partner a ruff.

What do you do now?

A—Bid five hearts. Once more you are asking your partner to bid six if he can take the second diamond. However, if he now bids six diamonds you should bid seven hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of rebidding two hearts your partner rebids two diamonds. What do you do now?

Smith-Cotton offense falters in 21-0 defeat

By VAUGHN HART
Sports Editor

KANSAS CITY — Smith-Cotton football coach Greg Cook is probably glad it's all over. Well, almost all over. The road season is, but still ahead are powerful Columbia Hickman and speedy Springfield Parkview. Fortunately for Cook and the Tigers, who absorbed their seventh loss in eight games here yesterday afternon, those long trips of 1974 are a thing of the past.

O'Hara, clobbered by Smith-Cotton in Jennie Jaynes Stadium last year, 54-14, celebrated its homecoming with a 21-0 shutout over the Tigers.

Greg Cook is probably glad it's all over, Well almost over...the road season is.

The Smith-Cotton pattern followed its agonizing but familiar course. The Tigers outrushed O'Hara by nearly 70 yards, but couldn't find the end zone, even though they had four chances inside the 10 in the third period.

O'Hara put together a 46-yard drive, capped off by an eight-yard scoring pass from Mark Smith to end Clint Cook with six minutes showing in the first quarter.

That was actually all the Celtics, who pushed their record to 5-2 with the victory, needed. But an intercepted halfback pass put up by Marvin Spruell, gave O'Hara a relatively comfortable 14-0 halftime lead.

With 2:45 remaining in the first half, senior quarterback Rick McRoy flipped the ball to Spruell on a fourth-and-nine situation on the Celtics' 23. Spruell, who tried three halfback passes, aimed the ball back to McRoy, only to have junior defensive halfback Bob Brown pick it off and race 72 yards for the TD.

Shawn Geraghty boomed home his second conversion, bringing the Celtics their halftime bulge.

Smith-Cotton had a chance to make a game of it late in the third period, when the Tigers opened a drive on their own 24. They got the ball all the way to the one, and were faced with a fourth-and-goal situation. McRoy made a short pitch to halfback Spruell who went in.

But a holding penalty nullified that, and pushed the ball out to the 16. Undaunted, McRoy called a pass play, but defensive tackle Chuck Acquino got a hand on it and it dropped harmlessly incomplete at the nine.

That mistake, as well as the pass interception by Brown, was more than enough for O'Hara. But a fourth-period TD by senior Joe Leuckenhoff from five yards out with just 20 seconds to play, put the icing on the Celtics' homecoming cake.

The scoring drive, which started at Smith-Cotton's 45, was helped along by a 23-yard run by Smith, a personal foul penalty on the Tigers and a nine-yard pass from Smith to Ralph Iseman.

The pass to Iseman put the ball on the Tigers' 10; two plays later Leuckenhoff banged in for the score.

Geraghty's point rounded out the scoring.

Spruell turned in another standout performance carrying the football, picking up 151 yards on 18 carries. His total on the ground was 21 more than the entire O'Hara club picked up on the ground. Spruell also caught three passes for an additional 19 yards.

The Smith-Cotton pattern followed its agonizing but familiar course.

As a team, the Tigers picked up 198 yards rushing, but no value score-wise.

Friday night's game with the Hickman Kewpies, who moved within one game of winning the Central Missouri Conference championship with a victory over Hannibal, is scheduled to get underway at 8 p.m.

State meet looms ahead for S-C cross country

By STEPHEN A. SEEWOESTER
Democrat-Capital Staffwriter

The Sedalia Smith-Cotton cross country team will head to Columbia next weekend to compete in the state cross country meet at the University of Missouri golf course.

The Tigers won their berth in the meet after placing second Saturday in the regional meet held at Elm Hills Golf Course.

Jefferson City won the meet with 35 points followed by Smith-Cotton, 57; Waynesville, 59; Marshall, 104; Neosho, 131; Sullivan, 134; Carthage, 194; and Ash Grove, 196.

The top three teams qualified for the state meet as well as the top ten individual runners. They were: Dave Cooper, Jeff City, 9:34; Bryce Allmon, Jeff City, 9:42; Steve Fisher, Smith-Cotton, 9:55; Tom Hoft, Columbia Hickman, 10:00; Jeff Mittlehauser, Smith-Cotton, 10:04; Dick Hodkins, Warrensburg, 10:08; Russ Shelden, Waynesville, 10:07; Kim Winn, Mount Vernon, 10:13; Rich Hamel, Nevada, 10:14; and Steve Nagel, Columbia Rock Bridge, 10:20.

In the adjusted scoring, for the team competition, other Smith-Cotton runners finished: Rick Hunter, 12th, 10:30; Tony Dabney, 13th, 10:31; John Moore, 25th, 10:56; Doug Slagle, 32nd, 11:10; Bartley Ives, 37th, 11:19.

S-C cross country coach Leonard Butler noted that his top runner, Fisher, stepped on a stick during the race, and Fisher had to stop and pull it out of his shoe. "I think Mittlehauser's high finish was the key to our making the state meet," Butler said.

"The state meet is going to be very competitive this year with Lee's Summit and Raytown South the obvious favorites," Butler said. "As for our chances, each of our boys would have to run an exceptional race, especially our sixth and seventh men."

Butler said next year's team will have to do some rebuilding since the top three runners Fisher, Mittlehauser and Hunter, graduate.

"But look for Toney and Victor Dabney, Moore, Slagel, Ives, Scott Gardner, Dale Tagtmeier and Scott Miller to do the bulk of the work," Butler said. "This year we lost a couple of sophomores who decided not to participate, Greg Loverkamp and Danny Fisher. If we can get them to come out next year we can definitely have a successful season. I think our trip to state will be a building block for the future."

Sweet Springs uses early lead to top U. High

SWEET SPRINGS — The Sweet Springs Greyhounds streaked to their seventh victory of the season Friday night with a 26-4 pasting of University High of Warrensburg.

The Greyhounds did all their scoring in the first half with the first score coming in the first quarter on a Lynn Heerman 15-yard run. The PAT failed.

Then with six seconds remaining in the first quarter the Greyhounds put across another score on a Duane Sheriff eight-yard run. Sheriff, a freshman, was the game's leading ground gainer with 109 yards in 14 carries.

In the second quarter Sweet Springs scored on a Joe Meyer 35-yard run and a seven-yard pass from quarterback Rick Arnold to Heerman.

University High scored on two safeties in the second half.

Sweet Springs outgained U. High 236 to 57 and led in the passing department 64-50.

Sweet Springs will play Windsor at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Sweet Springs. Sweet Springs is 7-1.

(Democrat-Capital Service)

NEW FRANKLIN — The Smithton Tigers, who wound up third in the Missouri State High School Activities Association's Class-A basketball tournament last season, opened the 1974-75 campaign on a winning note here Friday night with a 53-45 victory.

Smithton, under new head coach Andy Crist, trailed at the end of the opening period, 11-2, but got rolling in the second period with a 23-point outburst. That vaulted the Tigers into a 25-19 lead at the half.

Gene Anderson, Martin White and Greg Seigel with 16, 16 and 15 points respectively.

Dennis Snoddy and Jack Clusmeyer led New Franklin with 16 and 12 in that order.

New Franklin opened the evening with a 42-38 victory in the junior varsity game.

Marvin Wells was tops in the game with 18 points for New Franklin.

Wightman Cup eludes America

DEESIDE, Wales (AP) — A belated doubles victory Saturday by Julie Heldman and Mona Schallau salvaged something from the wreckage of America's 1974 Wightman Cup tennis quest and prevented a whitewash at the hands of a young and aggressive British women's team.

Misses Heldman, of New York, and Schallau, of Iowa City, Iowa, beat Virginia Wade and Glynis Coles 7-5, 6-4 in the last match of this series. But the British happily walked off with the trophy by six matches to one—their biggest victory in the 50-year-old tournament.

It was only the eighth time since the series started in 1923 that Britain won the Cup. The last time was in 1968 at Wimbledon. And the result was the biggest British victory since 1924, when they also won 6-1. All other British victories had been by narrow 4-3 margins.

Miss Wade, the British captain and a veteran of 10 Wightman Cup clashes, had been hoping for a clean sweep. The Americans have done this to Britain seven times in the past, the last coming in 1953.

There were three matches on Saturday's program—two singles and the doubles. The overall result had already been decided in Britain's favor, since the home girls had won four matches Thursday and Friday.

Miss Coles, a 20-year-old former British junior champion playing in her second Wightman series, started the day with a 6-0, 6-4 victory over New York's Miss Heldman. And Miss Wade, first in Britain's national tennis rankings, overwhelmed Janet Newberry from La Jolla, Calif. 6-1, 6-3 in the second singles.

The final doubles was a sad anticlimax for the 3,000 fans who were hoping for a British shutout.

The British pair evidently suffered from over-reaction to the previous heady events of the series and were too loose. By contrast, the American pair played tightly and, despite the close score, always looked on top.

Negotiations for Aaron have begun

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Braves and Milwaukee Brewers have begun formal negotiations on a possible trade of home run king Hank Aaron, the Atlanta Journal-Constitution reported in Sunday's editions.

The newspaper quoted Braves vice president Eddie Robinson as confirming the report.

Robinson said that talks had begun with the Milwaukee club and "we'll talk some more this week when we reach Colorado Springs."

General managers of major league teams will meet in the Colorado city beginning Sunday.

Aaron ended a 21-year career with the Braves this season, smashing the all-time home run record and lifting his total to 733.

The 40-year-old star has indicated he would consider playing in no other city than Milwaukee, where he started his career in 1954.

Tigers' Bybee out for year

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Ray Bybee, Missouri starting fullback, broke four bones in his left ankle in Saturday's football game with Colorado and will be lost for the remainder of the season.

Bybee was injured in the third quarter when he was tackled after a 16-yard gain and helped from the field. A team spokesman said Bybee will undergo surgery Sunday.

Bybee gained 105 yards in 14 carries against Colorado. He is a senior from East Moline, Ill.

Cole Camp, Lincoln win in tourney

GREEN RIDGE — Lincoln moved into first place in the basketball division of the Kaysinger Conference Junior High School basketball-volleyball tournament here Saturday night.

Lincoln dumped Stover 45-26 behind the 14-point performance of Brad Kauble, the game's leading scorer. Lincoln's Monty Young and Stover's Pete Brown scored 12 points each.

Warsaw dropped Smithton for third place, 27-17. The game's high scorer was Doug Menning with 12 points, while Lonnie Brown scored 10 points for Warsaw.

In girl's volleyball, Cole Camp took first place over Stover in two sets 15-9 and 15-11. Wanda Pritzel topped all scorers in this game with 12 points. Kim Williams scored 8 more points for Cole Camp and Rhonda Capps showed 7 points for Stover.

LaMonte took three sets to down Sedalia Sacred Heart for third place 15-10, 11-15, 15-9. Karen Stone scored 12 points for Sacred Heart while Kim Davis and Lea Ann Reickhoff shared individual honors with 11 points each.

OTTERVILLE — The Otterville Eagles rolled over Bunceton, 85-61, in Cooper County Athletic Association basketball action Friday night.

Otterville, led by Rusty Schilb's 25 points, jumped out in front early with a 23-7 scoring edge in the opening period.

Three other Eagles hit in double figures — Robby Young, 16; Lanny Landreth, 14; and Ronnie Thomas, 14.

Bunceton's Clarence Roland was the leading scorer in the loss for the Dragons with 29 points.

In girls action, Bunceton earned a split in the night's card with a 24-19 victory in the preliminary contest.

Otterville travels to Prairie Home Nov. 5 for its next game.

MIAA games

CMSU 21, Rolla 21

WARRENSBURG, Mo (AP) — Greg Haug, Rolla quarterback, threw two fourth-quarter touchdown passes to pull the Miners into a 21-21 tie with the Central Missouri Mules Saturday.

Haug completed 24 of 39 passes for 295 yards and two touchdowns. His biggest receiver was split end Jack Gevecker who caught 10 passes for 127 yards and one touchdown.

The Mules are 0-2-1 in the MIAA and 2-4-1 for the season. Rolla 2-0-1 and 4-2-1.

SW Mo. 29, NW Mo. 24

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP) — A kickoff return for a touchdown late in the game gave Southwest Missouri a 29-24 MIAA football win Saturday over Northwest Missouri.

The game was tied 7-all at halftime.

Gino Travline returned a Northwest kickoff 94 yards for a score to produce the Southwest victory.

Both teams are 2-1 in the conference and both have 5-2 records overall.

Trevino second in Takai Open

NAGOYA, Japan (AP) — Lee Trevino struggled to a one-over-par 73 Saturday and slipped to second place, four strokes behind Japan's Kosaku Shimada, after the third round of the $133,000 Takai Classic golf tournament.

Shimada toured the 7,065-yard, par-72 Miyoshi Country Club course in a five-under-par 67 for a 54-hole total of 205.

Trevino, 1974 PGA champion, was tied at 209 with Japanese Teruo Sugihara, who had a 70 Saturday.

Tied for eighth was American Hale Irwin, the 1974 U.S. Open champion. Irwin shot a three-under-par 69 Saturday for a three-round total of 214.

First prize in the tourney, which concludes Sunday, is $16,700.

In the women's competition, Yu Ho-Yu, an amateur from Taiwan, fired a four-under-par 70 to take a two-stroke opening round lead on the 6,150-yard, par-74 Miyoshi golf course.

American Cathy Duggan scored a two-under-par 72 while another American pro, Kathy Whitworth, was in third place after a one-under-par 73. The women golfers will play their final round in the $5,000 tournament Sunday.

Battle royal featured event

An eight-man battle royal tops this week's wrestling show at Liberty Park's Convention Hall. Clashing in Tuesday's show will be Bob Brown, Mike George, Jerry Oates, Ted Oates, Bob Jaggers, Bob Brady, Lord Alfred Hayes and Bobby Whitlock.

Each man will put up $100, and promoter Gust Karras will put up $200 to make up the $1,000 that will go to the winner of the event.

Four other events are scheduled on the card, which opens at 8:30 p.m.

NFL roundup

Pros approach halfway point

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

A fistful of National Football League quarterbacks will be pulling on brand new uniforms Sunday when the NFL season reaches its halfway point.

The New York Giants will introduce Craig Morton at quarterback in New Haven, Conn. Morton will hardly need an introduction to the Giants' opponents — the Dallas Cowboys — who gave him up for New York's No. 1 selection in the 1975 college draft.

St. Louis, the NFL's only unbeaten team, will try and fatten its two game lead in the NFC East.

Green Bay's game at Detroit will present two new quarterbacks, although neither is likely to start. The Packers surrendered five top 1975 and 1976 draft choices to Los Angeles for John Hadl, while the Lions had to give San Francisco only one draft pick to get Joe Reed. However, Jack Concannon is expected to start at quarterback for Green Bay and Bill Munson for Detroit.

The 49ers should have Norm Snead ready for their Bay Area confrontation against the Oakland Raiders. Snead came from the Giants for two draft choices.

In other Sunday games, Philadelphia plays at New Orleans, Washington is at St. Louis, Chicago visits Buffalo, Los Angeles plays the Jets at New York, New England is at Minnesota, Baltimore visits Miami, Denver is at Cleveland, Houston plays at Cincinnati and Kansas City plays at San Diego.

Monday night's nationally televised game sends Atlanta at Pittsburgh.

Kansas City was involved in two other deals that just beat the NFL trading deadline. The Chiefs got defensive tackle John Matuszak from Houston for defensive tackle Curley Culp and a draft choice, and also sent cornerback Jim Marsalis to Denver for linebacker Tom Graham and tackle Tom Drougas.

That will give Kansas City a new look for the game at San Diego, where the Chargers are excited about their own new 14tk — rookie running back Don Woods, the American Conference's No. 2 rusher behind Buffalo's O.J. Simpson.

Both San Diego and Kansas City lost last week, the Chargers dropping their fourth straight and the Chiefs bowing to Miami on a touchdown in the final half-minute of the game.

St. Louis, the NFL's only unbeaten team, will try and fatten its two-game lead in the NFC East, facing Washington. The Redskins are tied for second place with Philadelphia.

The Cardinals, enjoying their best start ever, beat Washington 17-10 in their first meeting, scoring one touchdown on Ron Yankowski's 71-yard run with a recovered fumble and the other on a 75-yard run from scrimmage by Terry Metcalf.

Both Minnesota and New England will be trying to bounce back after having five-game winning streaks snapped last week.

The Buffalo Bills will try to win a four-game winning streak going when they meet Chicago.

The Oakland Raiders lead the AFC West with five straight victories after an opening game setback. San Francisco has dropped four in a row.

Los Angeles, having dispatched Hadl to Green Bay, will go with James Harris at quarterback against the New York Jets, in a game that will be a homecoming for Rams' head Coach Chuck Knox. Knox spent four seasons with the Jets as an assistant coach under Weeb Ewbank.

New York is dragging with four straight losses.

Baltimore ended a five-game losing streak by beating the Jets last week and the Colts' game in Miami will be another homecoming. Joe Thomas, Baltimore Coach, spent eight years as player personnel director in Miami.

The stumbling Dolphins are only one game back in the AFC East after last week's last-minute victory over Kansas City.

Now that they've proven they can win on the road, the New Orleans Saints will try and do the same at home against Philadelphia. The Saints won their first road game in 19 tries, beating Atlanta last Sunday. Philadelphia, tied for second in the NFC East, bowed to Dallas a week ago and slipped into a second-place tie with Washington.

Cincinnati dropped into second place in the AFC Central last week, losing to Oakland in the final minute, and now the Bengals will try and move back up against Houston. Cincinnati has won the last five meetings between these two teams.

A fistful of National Football League quarterbacks will be pulling on brand new uniforms this weekend.

Denver trails Oakland by 1½ games in the AFC West.

Pittsburgh, with a one-half game lead in the AFC Central, hosts Atlanta in the Monday night game. The Falcons, only 2-4, are in a three-way tie in the NFC West and trail firstplace Los Angeles by just two games.

Foreman, Ali weigh in KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — World heavyweight champion George Foreman weighed 220 and challenger Muhammad Ali 216 at their official weigh-in ceremonies on Saturday for their Oct. 30 title fight.

Some 12,000 Zairians turned out Saturday at the Stade Du 20 Mai (Stadium of the 20th of May) for the weigh-in.

Muhammad Ali made a premature entry into the ring 40 minutes before the 11 p.m., local time, scheduled ceremony. The crowd went wild.

Shouting and raising their hands, they chanted:

"Ali, boom a ya, boom a ya,

"Kill him.

"Kill him.

"Ali, boom a ya."

The challenger, wearing a brightly colored African shirt which hung loosely over his trunks, held his hand high in response to the salute.

He entered the ring, accompanied by his fighter brother, Rachman, and did a few dance steps.

The crowd cheered wildly.

The preliminary gesture lasted only about five minutes.

As he left the ring Ali was heard to mutter to Rachman: "Let's shake 'em up."

Then he went to the side of the stadium and walked in front of the screaming African fans, hands over his head, and into the dressing room.

A light rain began falling early in the evening but the ring, with its red, white and blue strands hanging loosely, was completely covered, as were ringside and press seats.

Penn State's football co-captains are halfback Jim Bradley of Johnstown, Pa., a premed student, and center Jack Baiorunos of Quincy, Mass., a predental major.

Missouri rallies to beat Colorado

Stampede

Missouri Fullback Ray Bybee stampedes through the Colorado Buffalo line for eight yards and a first down in Saturday's Big Eight clash. The Tigers bounced back this week to win after being behind twice in the second half. MU 30, CU 24.

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Missouri checked its erratic ways just in time and Tony Galbreath capped an 80-yard surge with a 36-yard touchdown burst as the Tigers subdued Colorado, 30-24, in a Big Eight Conference football battle Saturday.

Only seven minutes, 57 seconds remained when Galbreath who made three touchdowns, bolted goalward and stumbled out of a shoestring tackle effort at the three and fell into the end zone.

It was the third time the Tigers surged from behind. A crowd of 61,023 watched Colorado blow a 10-point lead, fall behind, and then go ahead twice again. Fumbles and pass interceptions hurt Missouri badly until the Bengals went on their last big drive.

Galbreath, who had 146 yards on 23 carries, also scored on runs of four and 14 yards, his second touchdown putting Missouri ahead in the second quarter for the first time.

The Buffs struck back with 20 seconds left on a 10-yard pass from Dave Williams to Larry Allen to boost Colorado into a 17-14 halftime advantage.

Steve Pisarkiewicz fired an 11-yard pass to Henry Marshall late in the third quarter for a touchdown that gave Missouri the lead again only to have Colorado bounce back once more when Clyde Crutchmer ran three yards on the keeper to end a 71-yard march in the early moments of the period.

Colorado had taken a 10-0 lead on a 35-yard field goal by Tom Mackenzie and a two-yard touchdown run by Terry Kunz before Missouri ran a single play from scrimmage. Missouri is 4-3 over-all and 2-1 in the conference. Colorado is 3-4 and 1-2 in the Big Eight.

Oklahoma 63, Kansas St. 0

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Propelled by the lightning moves of halfback Joe Washington and the sure quarterbacking of Steve Davis, second-ranked Oklahoma smashed to a 35-0 halftime lead and went on to bury the Kansas State Wildcats, 63-0, in a Big Eight football game Saturday.

Washington, who went into the game averaging an amazing 8.8 yards per carry, scored one touchdown and jetted for 133 yards in only 17 carries in the first half Sooner blitz.

Washington and the rest of the talented No. 1 Sooner backfield did not play a down after intermission against the outclassed Wildcats, who dropped to 3-4.

Davis scored one touchdown, passed for two others and made brilliant pitchouts out of the wishbone as the Sooners rolled to 369 total yards in the first 30 minutes of play.

The victory was the Sooners' 15th in a row and their 24th game without a loss.

Oklahoma, which leads the nation in both rushing and total offense, amassed 530 yards on the ground against the Wildcats, who entered the game as the third best team in the Big Eight in rushing defense.

Oklahoma took a 14-0 first quarter lead as Davis tallied on a three-yard run and then minutes later hit split end Tinker Owens on a 31-yard touchdown pass.

The two scores capped drives of 77 yards in only nine plays and 56 yards in six plays.

Nebraska 7, Oklahoma St. 3

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska cornerbacks Ardell Johnson and Jim Burrow made key defensive plays in the final three minutes to halt Oklahoma State drives and preserve a 7-3 victory for the ninth-ranked Cornhuskers in a Big Eight Conference football game Saturday.

With Nebraska holding a 7-3 lead, Johnson recovered Cowboy quarterback Charlie Weatherbie's fumble on the one-yard line with 3:22 showing on the clock to stop an Oklahoma State drive that had covered 79 yards in 10 plays.

The Husker offense could not sustain a drive on the next series and had to punt. Oklahoma State started its final drive on its own 38 yard line. Weatherbie threw three incompleted passes and his fourth aerial was picked off on the 14 by Burrow who returned it to the 33 with 55 seconds remaining in the game.

Nebraska's lone touchdown came in the third period when fullback Tony Davis popped over from the four-yard line.

His tally capped an 11-play, 79-yard drive highlighted by quarterback Dave Humm's 30-yard pass to Ritch Bahe on third down.

Oklahoma State's only score came with 12:01 remaining in the fourth period, when Abbie Daigle put the Cowboys on the board with a 32-yard field goal.

That tally was set up when Weatherbie hit Leonard Thompson with a 38 yard pass on the Husker 39. But the Cowboy drive was stymied on the Nebraska 10.

It was an expected defensive show. Nebraska went into the game ranked second nationally in total defense, and Oklahoma State is ranked third in that department.

Iowa St. 22, Kansas 6

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Barry Hill intercepted four passes, Tom Goedjen kicked three field goals and Iowa State smothered the sputtering Kansas offense for a 22-6 Big Eight football victory Saturday.

Hill, a senior safety, raised his career interception total to 18, breaking the conference record of 17 set in 1946-49 by Oklahoma's Darrell Royal, now the Texas coach. Hill has six interceptions this season.

Goedjen, also a senior, booted field goals of 38, 22 and 40 yards, raising his conference career total to 35.

Phil Danowsky tacked on two short touchdown runs for the Cyclones, now 2-1 in the conference and 4-3 for all games. Kansas sank to 1-2 in the Big Eight and is 4-3 for the season.

Kansas scored with only 6:50 left in the game on an 82-yard halfback pass play from freshman Bill Campfield to Bruce Adams.

The Jayhawk scoring play marked only the second time in the game that Kansas got into Iowa State territory. The Jayhawks got to the Cyclone 28 early in the second quarter only to have an apparent touchdown pass nullified by an illegal motion penalty.

Hill's first interception, with the game just three minutes old, set up Goedjen's first field goal. His third theft started a 29-yard Cyclone touchdown drive, climaxed Danowsky's six-yard run for a 22-0 lead.

College Football Oct. 26

Ohio St. 55, Northwestern 7

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Super tailback Archie Griffin churned 173 yards on 19 carries to match a National Collegiate Athletic Association record as top-ranked Ohio State crushed Northwestern 55-7 in Big Ten football Saturday.

Griffin, who left the runaway contest midway through the third quarter, tied the record of 17 consecutive 100-plus yard rushing games set by Oklahoma's Steve Owens in 1968-69.

Griffin, who scored the third of Ohio State's eight touchdowns, has rushed 1,050 yards this season, making him the first Buckeye ballcarrier in history to surpass 1,000 yards in two successive seasons.

Northwestern, contributing to its own downfall by having three intercepted passes turned into touchdowns, engineered a surprising 85-yard drive in 21 plays to gain a 7-7 tie late in the first quarter on Jim Pooler's seven-yard touchdown run.

But on the ensuing kickoff Ohio State's fleet Len Willis raced 92 yards with the return for a 14-7 lead and the rout was on.

Michigan 49, Minnesota 0

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Wingback Gil Chapman scored two touchdowns while tailbacks Rob Lytle and Gordon Bell combined for 289 yards rushing to lead third-ranked Michigan to a 49-0 Big Ten football victory over Minnesota Saturday.

Chapman scored on a 29-yard run in the first quarter and on a five-yard scamper in the third as the Wolverines coasted to their fourth conference triumph without a loss, and ran their season mark to 7-0.

Minnesota dropped to 1-3 in the Big Ten and 3-4 over-all.

Alabama 41, TCU 3

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Quarterbacks Robert Fraley and Jack O'Rear, subbing in fine style, directed fourth-ranked Alabama to a 41-3 football victory Saturday over outclassed Texas Christian.

Fraley scored once and threw two scoring passes and O'Rear ran for one touchdown and passed for another.

Fraley triggered the Crimson Tide, now 7-0, on an 83-yard drive on its first possession, taking it in himself from the four.

With 55 players seeing first-period action for Alabama, fourth-stringer O'Rear took the Tide on a 68-yard march, capped by Rick Watson's one-yard scoring run.

After TCU's Tony Biasatti kicked a 30-yard field goal late in the half, the Horned Frogs tried an onsides kick, but Rick McLain fell on it for Alabama at the TCU 49.

Willie Shelby, who ran for 86 yards on six carries, got 31 of them on the next play and the Tide then moved to the five from where Fraley hit George Pugh with a scoring pass.

Auburn 38, Florida St. 6

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Quarterback Phil Gargis passed for two touchdowns and ran for another Saturday, and fifth-ranked Auburn came to life in the second half to wallop Florida State 38-6.

Gagris scored on a 16-yard run as the undefeated Tigers handed Florida State its 19th defeat in a row before an Auburn homecoming crowd of 58,709.

Auburn, with the fourth best defense in the nation, held a 7-6 halftime lead.

Notre Dame 38, Miami (Fla.) 7

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Quarterback Tom Clements engineered five first-half scoring drives and seventh-ranked Notre Dame raced past highly regarded Miami, Fla., 38-7 in a college football game Saturday.

The Irish, now 6-1, quickly made a shambles of what had been expected to be a rugged defensive battle by marching 79 yards in six plays the first time they had the ball.

Clements lofted a perfect pass to tight end Pete Demmerle, who took it in stride at the 10-yard line and sped in for a 47-yard touchdown play only 2:09 into the game.

Up and over

Michigan back Chuck Heater dives over the top of the Minnesota front line Saturday for a first down in the Big Ten conference game. Michigan went on to win 49-0 as the Wolverines roll to their annual showdown with Ohio State for the Big Ten crown later this fall.

The Hurricanes, 4-2, made their most serious scoring effort of the half on their opening drive, pushing 70 yards to the Notre Dame 10. But Cris Dennis missed a 26-yard field goal.

Penn St. 21, West Virginia 12

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (AP) — Opportunistic Penn State converted a pair of West Virginia errors into touchdowns, including the game-clincher by Ron Coder, and the 10th ranked Nittany Lions downed the determined Mountaineers 21-12 Saturday in a battle of college football independents.

Penn State, 6-1, converted a fumbled snap into the game's first score only three minutes into the first period.

Then, leading 14-6 in the third quarter, Penn State turned an error of its own into the clinching touchdown.

Halted at the West Virginia five, Penn State saw a 27-yard John Reihner field goal attempt blocked. But when the bouncing football hit a West Virginia player in the end zone, Coder alertly recovered for a Lion touchdown.

Oregon St.-USC

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Anthony Davis, Southern Cal's 5-foot-9 tailback, slashed through Oregon State 26 times for 143 yards and scored twice to set a Pacific-8 Conference touchdown record as the Trojans whipped the stubborn Beavers 31-10 Saturday.

The high-stepping senior scored the Trojans' first touchdown on a 13-yard tackle-breaking run late in the second period.

It was the 41st of his career and it broke the record of 40 set by California's Duke Morrison from 1920-1922 in the forerunner of the Pacific-8

GUERNSEY HEIFERS

4 Guernsey Heifers, 3 yrs. old, springers

NOTE: This is an outstanding herd of Guernsey Cows & Heifers. One of the Best Herds in the County. We have been in the Dairy Business with Guernsey Cows for 38 years. Last 3 bulls used on this herd were Foremost Bulls from University of Mo. Cows are gentle, good size, smooth udders, heavy milkers with high test. Would make good family cows. We have had a standing order for our heifer calves at all times. Tested. Records given sale day. Plan to attend this sale. You will not be disappointed.

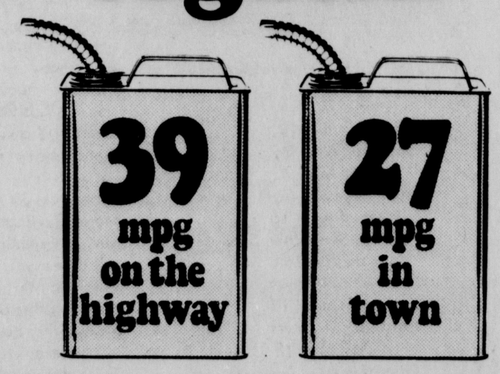
Datsun wins the EPA mileage test. Again.



On September 20, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency published the results of its mileage tests of 1975 domestic and imported cars to be sold in the United States.

The Datsun B-210 came in first for best highway and city mileage. Hardly a surprise. Our Datsun 1200 placed first in 1973, and the B-210 is first in its weight class for 1974.

Datsun's great engineering made this track record possible. But gas economy is only part of our economy story. There's Datsun's low maintenance plus high resale value. Also the long list of features you get as standard equipment at the low sticker price. See your Datsun Dealer for an enjoyable test drive.

Q — Recently I received my city personal and real estate tax assessments in separate envelopes, each with a stamp on it. In these financially-troubled times, why doesn't the city send out both assessment forms in one envelope and one stamp? — J.F.

A — City Collector Mrs. Opal Hugelman said every effort is made to mail personal and real estate assessments together in one envelope. In the few isolated cases where they were sent under separate cover, there is usually a logical explanation she said. Some times , she noted, one assessment is listed under a husband's name and another under his wife's name. In such cases, the assessments are inadvertently sent to the same address in separate envelopes.

Q — Why is Sears Roebuck allowed to park two or three vehicles up toward an alley headed east on one of the city parking lots behind their store? — E.T.

A — City meter superintendent David Schick informed Hot Line that meter department ticket men inspect the lot in question "on every one of their rounds" and ticket all vehicles that are illegally parked in the vicinity.

People improperly parked in restricted areas are assessed a $2 fine, rather than the standard 25-cent overtime parking ticket. "We generally have good cooperation in such cases," he noted. "We try to enforce the parking ordinances as closely as possible, but it is impossible to catch everyone all the time."

Q — On July 15, 1974, I sent a $1 check to: Parkay "Sheer Look" Panty Hose, Box 728, Chicago, Ill., for a pair of panty hose. I got the check back from the bank so I know they got the money. But I haven't got my panty hose. On sept. 17 I sent them a letter telling them to please send my panty hose or my money. I didn't hear from them. What can I do? — M.A.

A — The Better Business Bureau in Kansas City advises writing the Chicago Better Business Bureau, 430 West Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill., 60611, and they will get in touch with the company. The BB will then report what it learned.

Urge optometry school for St. Louis

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — An advisory committee says the University of Missouri should establish a school of optometry in St. Louis.

The committee says the building should cost $7.3 million and it would cost $2.3 million annually to teach 260 students.

The report was given to the university curators Friday. The MU president, Dr. C. Brice Ratchford, said he would consider the report and make a recommendation to the curators Nov. 22.

The report said there is a shortage of optometrists. There should be 14 optometrists for each 100,000 population, but Missouri has 8.8 and the national average is 9.4.

The National Optometric Association has its headquarters in St. Louis and there is strong support for the proposal there, the report said.

The curators got an enrollment report which showed the fall enrollment in the university system is 49,423, an increase of 3.2 per cent.

Deficit one more problem for district

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — An apparent deficit of more than $1 million in payments to the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund has been added to the woes of School District 189.

U.S. Atty. Henry A. Schwarz, in a letter written to state and county officials, said Friday the delinquency in payment was discovered in an investigation of alleged extortion by school board members.

"It appears that the delinquency is growing and growing and growing," Schwarz added in his letter to Michael Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction; William Scott, attorney general, and Robert Rice, St. Clair County state's attorney.

School Board President Charles Merritts was among six board figures named Thursday in federal grand jury indictments charging them with accepting kickbacks from contractors.

In addition, Merrits is free on $100,000 bond stemming from a federal indictment charging him with conspiring to have a fellow school board member, Clyde C. Jordan, murdered.

Movie violence shocks top TV producer

By PATTI KERINS

NEW YORK — Danny Wilson scanned the movie theatre, watched the shadowed mouths turn upward in vengeful glee and heard the thunderous approval of the mollified crowd. Then Danny Wilson walked out.

Wilson is an Emmy-Award-winning television producer whose credits include some of the finest children's shows on the market, from "Rookie of the Year" to "Mr. Dickens of London" to "Arthur Godfrey's America." His idealism was shaken by his recent cinema experience.

"I respond very negatively to violence," said Wilson in telling his reactions to the controversial movie "Death Wish." "I couldn't believe what I was hearing. People were literally cheering every time another man was killed! I just don't understand it. I'd rather watch Fellini or Bergman. Really, I don't believe in censorship but I do think that viewers should become more selective."

Working through the medium of television, Daniel Wilson Productions is doing its part to raise the standards of broadcasting and, more importantly, audiences.

"Family programming has been a neglected area," said Wilson. "If you look at the children's shows 10 years ago, you'll see that violence was the key to success. I am interested in producing shows that are not only entertaining but enlightening. Let's face it, commercial TV is meant to entertain. But can't we entertain and be informative at the same time? I like working with children's shows. There's a tremendous responsibility in this area. You've got the power of stretching the minds of the young — forming tastes, values, shaping millions of young people.

"When you talk to the young people in this country the degree of sophistication is remarkable. Those of 13 can articulate ideas and issues — and they're not the exception. These young people are ready for good, solid programming, not the pap that's being offered for the most part."

Wilson continued, "I don't blame it entirely on the networks. People turn on their televisions and leave them on. They're satisfied with whatever comes on. They don't respond to quality efforts. It's very frustrating for a producer who's trying to provide high-level entertainment to lose the audience to a sitcom. You give up after a while."

Wilson is not ready to hoist the white flag, however. His efforts so far have been reaping substantial benefits. He struck home last year with this After School Special entry "Rookie of the Year" exploring the controversial issue of little girls in Little Leagues.

"It was a very interesting experience," Wilson recalled. "We had put together a team of young actors and actresses and we enlisted the Stony Point (N.Y.) Little League team to play the oppsotion. It was a real eye-opener to watch this game that had started out as a sequence for the film turn into a keen rivalry. We realized that the boys were actually afraid to play against the girls simply because the girls might play better."

The film turned out to be a big success and won an Emmy. Wilson claims its popularity is due to its entertainment value and to its potential to teach a lesson. "There is a type of film that has something to say," said Wilson, "and that's what I'm aiming at."

He's been getting some help from interested groups. Wilson said that pressure on broadcasters from parent groups, Action for Children's Television (ACT) in Boston and even government agencies have helped upgrade children's television. Much has been achieved but even more remains to be done, he feels. Young people are beginning to experience what a high-potential medium can produce. But what can they expect when they reach the other side of the generation gap? Said Wilson optimistically, "After we've had good children's programming for a number of years, we will also have good adult viewing. By that time, the kids brought up on high-level shows will be in control and they'll make the right choices."

Danny Wilson

Gortner's career comes to him more than just easily

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — There is something about his eyes — suddenly you understand.

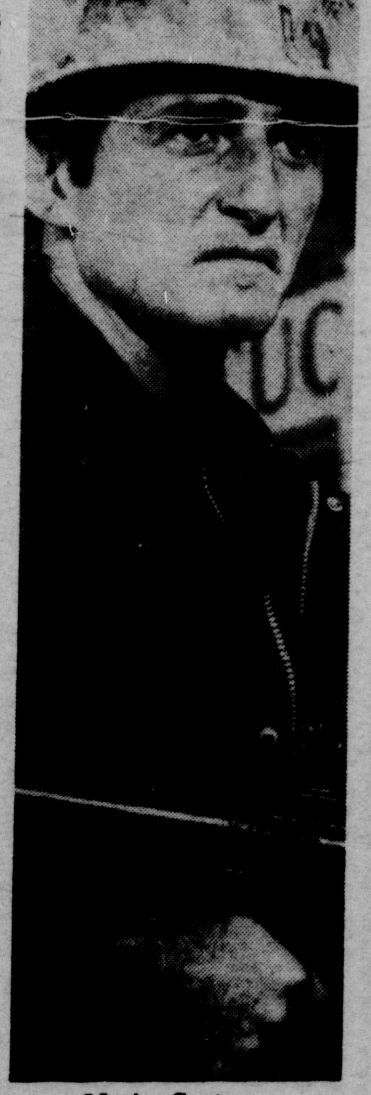
How could a small boy have become such a wonder as Marjoe was when he was billed as "The World's Youngest Evangelist?" They called him "Miracle Child," too, in those days in the early '50s when he spread the gospel throughout the South.

It's in his eyes, even now, even after he's given up his religious work to become an actor. Those bright blue eyes hold you, smile at you, beckon you. And you cannot help but respond.

You can imagine how it must have been, 20 years ago, when the blond hair was carefully arranged in appealing ringlets, when the pudgy little fingers clasped the Bible, when those eyes looked out of the angelic young face and the childish voice spouted those carefully-rehearsed sermons.

"Oh, I saved some souls in those days," Marjoe Gortner says today, smiling at the memory, shaking his head with sadness or wonder or perhaps a little of both. "And I did some healing, too."

Then he hastens to explain his current feeling, that the healing was not miraculous, merely another example of the power of suggestion, the power of the mind.



Marjoe Gortner

His current feeling about religion is worth examining. Since he has abandoned preaching and evangelism the belief has spread that has also abandoned religion. Untrue.

"It is wrong to say that I have lost all religion," Marjoe says. "I still believe in God. I am not an atheist.

"But I believe that God is within us. God is in man. I don't believe in any organized church any more. And I don't go to any church any more."

Even as a child, he recognized the falseness of the evangelical approach, at least as it was being practiced by his family. He was supposed to be delivering his sermons extemporaneously but he had to learn them, word for word.

At 7, he knew that the whole structure of his life and the evangelism was phony. He knew it was just a con job.

But, at 7, he did what his mother and father told him to do. When he was a teen-ager, he could rebel — and he did. For some years, he kicked around, doing nothing or very little. In the late '60s, he even tried to go back on the preaching trail but it was too late.

Then a movie was made of his life, of his preaching both as a boy and as a young man. The movie, "Marjoe," was a huge hit and so was the man who starred in it.

He knew, then, that he had come home. Acting before the camera was easy. He had been acting most of his life. He had been projecting a message, playing a part. He would be an actor.

His career has been a growing one in Hollywood. His latest film is Universal's big "Earthquake," in which he plays a schizophrenic soldier. At the moment, he's shooting a pilot about two gamblers. He says it's a TV version of "The Sting," basically.

"I'm in acting for good," he says.

He waited a long time, after "Marjoe," because all the offers he got were to play preachers and he didn't want to be typed when his career was so new. He took the first part that gave him a chance to play something completely different — he played a junkie in "The Marcus-Nelson Murders," the TV movie that led to the Kojak series.

When he renounced preaching he expected that his emotional followers would turn from loving him to hating him. He was surprised to find that he did not get the flood of hate mail he had anticipated.

"They don't hate me, for deserting them," he says. "Instead, they are all praying for my soul."

His father is also praying for him. His father, who has remained in religious work, is now with another evangelist, Kathryn Kuhlmann.

Moving Van

Is Dick Van Dyke the father of Vincent Van Patten? — Drusilla DeNio, Muskegon, Mich.

No, but Dick Van Patton, who was on Dick Van Dyke's series, is the father of young Vincent, who is on Apple's Way. Actress Joyce Van Patten is Dick Van Patton's sister and Vincent's aunt. Dick Van Dyke only got in there because of that Van in his name.

Fuey

I would like to know when you will be showing the original Kung Fu movie on television. — B. Brooke, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Well, I never show movies on TV. If I did, I would reschedule that movie, because it was a good one. However, the opening Kung Fu of this season, a two-hour long segment with Patricia Neal as a guest, was written especially to give insight into the character to those viewers who might not have seen the original film. There are no plans, as of now, to repeat that first film.

Close

Please tell me how old Sandy Duncan is. My mother says she is in her 20s and I say she is in her 30s. — J.L., Chicago, Ill.

Sandy is still in her 20s. She was born in Henderson, Tex., in 1946.

Which Nolan

A friend of mine says Jeanette Nolan, who played Dirty Sally, also played Kate in The Real McCoys. My daughter says no way. Also is Dirty Sally married to Wagon Train's John McIntire? — Mrs. H. E. Miller, Arlington Heights, Ill.

Jeanette Nolan, who played Dirty Sally, is married to John McIntire. They are the parents of actor Tim McIntire. But it was Kathy Nolan, who now bills herself as Kathleen Nolan, who played Kate in The Real McCoys.

Rehearsing two roles at the same time

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP (AP) — Wideapart roles are no problem for Mary Ure who started her career as the Virgin Mary in medieval drama and has ranged since from period elegance to modern angry.

"I am a people lover," the British actress explains her emotional agility.

For gamut stretch this season there are parts on Broadway and on tour in "Love for Love," a witty Restoration charade, and "The Rules of the Game," a distraught 19th century romance.

"I don't think human nature has changed very much since the beginning of time," she dismisses any apparent differences in the feminine mystique of William Congreve's heroine Angelica and Luigi Pirandello's Silia three centuries later.

The workout with the New Phoenix Company has given Miss Ure fresh challenge. The two plays were rehearsed simultaneously, under different directors, even though one won't be publicly performed until the run of the other is completed. The reason: reduced funding.

For a leading lady who has directing ambition herself, such strenuous preparation proved rewarding.

"Both are fascinating," she says of Harold Prince, stager of "Love for Love," and Stephen Porter, calling signals for "The Rules of the Game." (The first opens at the Helen Hayes Theater Nov. 11, the second on Dec. 12).

"They approach their work from completely different points of view, which is very stimulating for the actor. One has to adapt to each man's thinking and way of working.

"I don't think the public ever realizes how adaptable, how diplomatic, a performer has to be in going from one part to another.

"I think that's why Shirley Temple Black will be a great ambassador for you — she's been adaptable ever since she went into the movies at 3½." That's heartening reassurance perhaps for the recently appointed envoy to Ghana.

Miss Ure shows her own flair for tact when discussing the comparative virtues of playwrights past and present, or their interpreters on stage and screen.

"I don't think that one can really make comparisons in the arts. Everything is so individual and so different. There's Bach and there's Mozart. And in acting you can't say one performer is better than another. That's why I dislike awards very much."

She doesn't conceal, however, a personal preference for films which have monopolized most of her thespic energies of late. The most recent Ure stage appearance in London was in 1968. Two years ago she participated with her husband, Robert Shaw, and Rosemary Harris in Harold Pinter's "Old Times" here.

"There are a lot of good film directors that I'd like to work for," she somewhat forlornly remarks, "although movies seem now to be a dying art. I hope not.

"But whenever there's a depression, which we are in, in Europe and America, money gets very short and the arts are the first thing to go. It's very sad."

Miss Ure was married to John Osborne, whose "Look Back in Anger" established him in the authorship van and gave her an important acting boost. She doesn't talk about him.

Now her spouse is Robert Shaw, who writes novels, plays and eminently acts. Between engagements afar, the 41-year-old leading lady presides at an old Irish homestead over a collective clan of nine offspring — three his by previous wedlock, three hers by Osborne, and three together. The youngest is 4.

"I have domestic responsibilities," she limits comment. "I find other people's children very boring. Mine are interesting because they are mine, but I don't particularly want to talk about them.

"I feel very much like that great comedian of yours, W.C. Fields, who said children and dogs shouldn't be talked about. I'm not really an animal lover, either."

Reward of being versatile

One actress, two very different roles and simultaneous rehearsals with two different directors add up to a "fascinating" experience, according to Mary Ure, photographed recently in New York. The British actress will be seen in the Restoration comedy, "Love for Love," directed by Harold Prince, and in the 19th-century "The Rules of the Game," directed by Stephen Porter, on Broadway and on tour this season with the New Phoenix Company.

High-Lee liked

I hope you will answer my question. I have tried others and haven't received any answer. I enjoy Lee Meriwether of the Barnaby Jones show and would like to know where to write her. Thank you. — A. Leonhardt, San Jose, Calif.

Lee, a former Miss America, is well-liked by everyone who knows her. There are a lot of places where you could write her, but perhaps the best would be in care of Theater West, 3333 Cahuenga Blvd. West, Los Angeles, Calif. She is an active member of this group and your letter should reach her reasonably soon.

Where can I write to get the words to the theme used on M*A*S*H? — C.M., Valparaiso, Fla.

Write the offices of producers Gene Reynolds and Larry Gelbart at 20th Century-Fox, 10100 Pico Blvd., West Los Angeles, Calif. 90213.

Sure

Can you tell me something about Elizabeth Montgomery and her family? — R.B.O., Anchorage, Alaska.

Sure. She is the daughter of Robert Montgomery, known for his suave light comedy roles in films and his early TV anthology series, Robert Montgomery Presents. She is about to star in a TV movie, "The Legend of Lizzie Borden" for producer George LeMaire.

Man oh Mano

Who is the actor who played Manolito on The High Chaparral? What has he done since? Where can I write him? — A Very Interested Fan. P.F., Derby, Kan.

Henry Darrow, born Henry Delgado in Puerto Rico and raised in New York, played Manolito. He has been in The New Dick Van Dyke Show as a regular, as a guest on several television shows and recently in the TV film "Aloha Means Goodbye" and he is now a regular on Harry O. Write him at The Burbank Studios, Burbank, Calif. 91505.

TV Scout Reports

Two oldies but goodies are being revived at Universal Studios as pilot movies. One is Ellery Queen and the other is The Invisible Man.

Meanwhile, the casting problems continue for Roman Grey, with the network holding out for a name despite that fact that a non-name actor might even do the role better.

Some writers don't trust actors. A segment of Planet of the Apes had the character of Galen (Roddy McDowall) falling off a cliff and explaining he fell because it was dark. The character of Burke (James Naughton) then had a line that went, "No kidding. Next time wait for the lights to change." The author had written a direction for the actor: "try levity." A line like either of those would try our levity, too, to say nothing of our patience.

Non-typical Hollywood success story

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — The young actor ran out of gas in Hollywood. He asked the attendant to put in a gallon. It cost 47 cents in those days. The actor searched his pockets but could only find 46 cents, and the attendant said that was OK.

"I was absolutely tapped," says Kevin Dobson, the actor in this little story. "I had nothing."

But the very next day he got the part he now plays every week — Detective Crocker, the sharp young assistant to Kojak on that CBS series.

Now things are looking up for Kevin Dobson. He not only can afford to fill his gas tank, he can afford to have his wife here with him and they can afford to have their first child this December.

Dobson's career is an interesting one. He comes from Long Island, and, as a youth, baseball was his sole interest. He was good at it, too, and was thinking seriously of a pro career. But he went into the Army and, when he came out, he got a job with the Long Island Railroad.

He was a trainman, punching tickets. And he was pretty happy. He had a job he didn't mind and he had a girl — her name was Susan — he hoped to marry when he made enough money.

But both Susan and one of Kevin's sisters felt he was wasting himself punching commuters' tickets. They suggested he get a job modeling. He was good-looking and such a job would give him some more money.

His sister introduced him to an agent and soon he was in a mouthwash commercial on TV. From that he got a part in a play — "The Impossible Years," with Tom Ewell — and he toured most of the U.S. in that.

So he quit the railroad — "and then I starved." His first few lucky breaks didn't repeat themselves so he decided to try his luck in California. He had married Susan by this time, but she stayed home, working for an airline.

He had starved in New York, now he starved in the California sunshine. For a while, he worked as Jon Voight's understudy in "A Streetcar Named Desire," but he never once went on. Voight was too healthy.

Then he auditioned for Kojak and, as noted, when things were at their lowest, he got the word that he had the part of Crocker.

When things were bad for him here, Dobson went back to his ballplaying to keep body and soul together. He went to a bar that sponsored a softball team and asked to try out.

"I knew," he says, "that as soon as they saw me play they'd want me. They did. So I told them that I needed a job. I got three offers the next day."

He went to work for the Santa Fe Railroad as an apprentice engineer, playing ball for the bar on weekends.

He says that, so far, his biggest thrill has been when he put on a Los Angeles Dodger uniform and played at Dodger Stadium in a celebrity game. Since nobody else would catch, he did — and he picked a man off base and got a couple of hits, so it was a good day. And a dream come true.

Television comic gets new roles as a 'heavy'

HOLLYWOOD — Henry Gibson has left his flower pot and his poems behind him, at least temporarily. The man who used to brighten the Laugh-In corner has gone on to other things — mostly being a heavy in films.

It seems like casting against type to put this pleasant and utterly charming man in the part of a villain. But you must remember that Henry Gibson is, primarily, an actor and when he does his poetry-reciting man, he's playing a part, too.

It was the fine director, Bob Altman, who decided that there was something sinister in Gibson.

Altman put him in "The Long Goodbye," as a strange psychiatrist — "It was a Peter Lorre-ish kind of role" — and it worked.

"But," Gibson says, "nobody ever saw that movie except the New York critics, who adored it."

But Altman liked his work and has now put Gibson into a second film, "Nashville." In this one, Gibson says, he isn't so much a heavy as a character — "I play a kind of elder statesman of country music, a real oddball."

What made the part fun was that he was required to sing four songs. One song he wrote totally himself, another with the help of someone else, while two were written by others.

"And another thing that made it fun for me to do," he says, "was that my son, Johnny, 15, was there while we were shooting. We did it last summer and Altman made Johnny the fourth assistant cameraman. It was great and such a nice thing for Altman to do."

But there was one moment during the filming when Henry Gibson was a bit stunned by the whole thing — and that was when he found out that he wasn't worth as much as his costume.

"I had a fancy wardrobe," he says. "It was a cowboy outfit, all sequined. And I leared that the outfit was insured for more money than I was."

His career as a heavy is still new but if it continues the day may come when he asks to read for a comedy part and is told that he just isn't right for comedy. That's happened to others in Hollywood's hectic history.

"For me," he says, "going from comedy to villainy is just great. I hope it means that they'll let me be an actor which is really what I'd like to do."

Don't worry about never seeing Gibson, the poet, again. He hasn't abandoned that side of his career. He's still doing his poems, nowadays working for the sake of the ecology with his poetic creations.

And he hopes to keep the poet going for the sake of the Gibson family economy. Besides Johnny, there is 10-year-old Charley, and Jimmy, 6.

Plus his wife, Lois, who is a writer as well as a Mrs. She's currently working on a TV special and a movie based on a Joseph Conrad book. They're a busy family.

TV scout reports

Rock Hudson is committed to do McMillan & Wife, on NBC's Sunday Mystery Movie, for one more year after this current season. Undoubtedly, it will go into that '75-'76 season.

"I think that will be my last year with a TV series," Rock says. "That will make five years and that will be enough. I think after that I'll concentrate on the stage.

"I've fallen in love with the stage."

It was Rock's experience, doing "I Do! I Do!" with Carol Burnett, that started his new love affair with stage work.

He says that he and Carol will definitely go out on the road with another play, come spring.

Speaking of the McMillan & Wife series, Susan Saint James, who plays Rock's on-screen wife, is pregnant again. They are mentioning her pregnancy on the show — they have to, because it shows — but there will never be a baby born to Commissioner and Mrs. McMillan.

The decision was reached to ignore the birth of the baby, as they did during the show's first season, when Susie was pregnant with her first child.

At that time, they talked about the pregnancy — but subsequently no mention was ever made of any child. The same situation will apply this time.

The McMillan & Wife company is in a tizzy. They're having to play catch-up because of a broken stop watch.

The first episode of the season came in 17 minutes short, and the error was attributed to the script girl's malfunctioning stop watch. They had to call the cast back to shoot 17 minutes of extra scenes. That threw the second show behind schedule, which upset the third show, etc. They still haven't caught up.

Shaw misses his typewriter

By ELLIE GROSSMAN

EDGARTOWN, Martha's Vineyard (NEA) — It's the sudden weight of the huge shark lying across the bow of the small fishing boat, not the sharp wind, that tilts the stern out of the water causing the deck to incline steeply.

Unable to stop himself, the fisherman slides on his back down the deck towards the shark. His foot touches the snout and the fish begins to thrash and twist, trying to close its jaws around it.

For several moments, the man struggles desperately. But the effort is too much for him. He screams, his face red with exertion, and then...

"Print," yells Steven Spielberg, the director, and the cameras are switched off. The men on the barge nearby stop maneuvering the mechanical shark.

And Robert Shaw, the English actor playing the fisherman, looks up for word from Spielberg who stands on an adjacent barge amidst a crew of 20 and a profusion of equipment.

"Beautiful, Robert," Spielberg calls. "Let's do it one more time. We've got to get the shark working more."

He turns to deal with the problem and Shaw, who has done the scene half a dozen times this morning in the choppy waters off Martha's Vineyard, lies back wearily on the cold deck of the fishing boat. He cups his hands behind his head and closed his eyes.

It's a bloody bore, this stop-and-go filmmaking. Especially when you've been at it for 17 weeks, instead of the scheduled six, as Universal Pictures has with its adaptation of Peter Benchley's bestselling novel, "Jaws."

And it's keeping Shaw from his writing. Although known primarily for his action (he's currently on screen in "The Sting" in the role of the limping Irish mobster), Shaw is an equally skilled author and he covets the time to write.

"I've done too much work as an actor this year," he says. "I've made two films ("The Sting" and "The Taking of Pelham One Two Three") and done one play before this ("The Dance of Death," Off-Broadway).

"It's been two years since I began 'Flesh and Blood,' my sixth novel, and I've been away from it so long I feel guilty."

Robert Shaw

At 48, the father of nine, passionate athlete (the limp in "The Sting" was not a nice extra touch but rather a legacy of three torn ligaments from a vigorous handball game the Saturday before shooting); devoted drinker — "I love to drink but I worry about it because it gets harder to do well the older you get" — a man who's never able to sleep the night through, who reads five newspapers in addition to Time, Newsweek and New York magazine, Shaw admits he's "terribly introspective" and possessed of a "Celtic twilight" view of things.

"Flesh and Blood," for example, is set in an old age home in Manhattan. "There's a war somewhere," he explains, "and the old people decide to form a regiment and get their grandchildren out themselves. It's really about an old people's crusade.

"I've been reading Lord Moran's book," he continues. "He was Churchill's doctor. He didn't write about Churchill's last ten years because Churchill simply sat like a vegetable in front of the fire and cried. It's a fact, you know, that old men cry more than old women. I don't know why. But that's all very relevant and I shall make use of it."

Yes, certainly, he says, the passage of time and the prospect of his own old age disturb him. "I wept on my 40th birthday. Why? Because whoever you are and whatever you imagine you will achieve, you never achieve what you thought you would. Maybe later on you move into a period of peace and contentment and you say, perhaps I haven't done too badly after all. But that lasts only a few years. There's this myth about old people being happy." He pauses. "Most old people spend their last years in misery."

There's a rugged self-sufficiency and professionalism about him — in the deepest blue eyes, the broad angular face and the sturdy build — that seem suitable to a man reared on the barren Orkney Islands off Scotland. It's there, too, in the measured, firm speech and people respond to it.

He hangs in there, the Universal crew tells you. Does what he has to, though he may not like it, and keeps the rest of them stable.

Even Captain Roy, the old New England master of the Whitefoot, a towing and salvage vessel which serves as "mother" ship to Universal's floating set, is impressed. "The others," he says of these bothersome Hollywood folk, "they have an attitude they're better than anybody. Not Shaw, though. He's down to earth."

In the snug hold of the Whitefoot, Shaw has taken temporary refuge from the rain and chill. He gazes through the porthole at the gray sky which reminds him of home in Ireland, and sips the "tea" on the rocks the captain has poured him to drive out the cold.

Another of his books, "The Man in the Glass Booth," which he adapted for the stage, is currently being made into a movie. For Shaw, it's a painful experience.

"I can't speak too badly of it. The script is an absolute travesty of what I wrote and I'm trying to get my name off the film.

"I rather foolishly thought years ago that the American Film Theatre would take the play, as they've done others, and open it out a bit and get on with it. But they've completely changed it and it's all proselytizing now."

Thomas will never play second fiddle

BURBANK, Calif. — Scott Thomas is not an actor one would find in just any TV series.

He's a classically trained, stage-oriented, serious-about-his-craft professional so, despite his rugged good looks, seductive voice and imposing height, odds are against his ever being another TV detective or cop or fireman, playing fiddle to the script and guest stars.

But, he says, he had absolutely no reservations about committing himself to a TV series "after I read the pilot script of The New Land by William Blinn."

He plays Christian Larsen, head of a family of Swedish immigrants, making their way in America in 1854.

"I realized, while reading the script, that I was this guy. It was a situation I could relate to and I thought it was a great idea for a series. I also thought ABC would cast it more commercially."

The clincher for Scott came when he found others in the cast would include such well-trained actors as Bonnie Bedelia, Donald Moffatt and, playing Moffat's wife, his real wife, Gwen Arner.

Scott is from Galesburg, Ill., and he was raised there. In 1961 he went to New York to see if acting was indeed his dream, because he was also leaning toward a career in medicine.

"I was a pre-med student and pledging a fraternity. As a penalty, because I didn't clean up when I was supposed to, I had to try out for a production of 'Othello.' Well, I had read the play backwards and forwards. I read Iago and I was cast in the production."

In New York, he studied at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts and supported himself by working as a page at a local TV station, where Mike Wallace did a show. One night Forrest Tucker was a guest and he talked to Scott before the show. When Tucker was introduced, he began talking about Scott, and brought him on stage.

Wallace began interviewing Scott who said he was trained in the classics. "He thought I meant trained as a classical singer and he asked me to sing. I sang a chorus of 'Moon River' which was horrendous and realized I would never be a singer."

However, he also spoke of his ambition to be with the American Shakespeare Festival and he received a telephone call after the show, inviting him to audition.

When he was 22, he played King Lear. He wants to play it again when he is closer to Lear's age. "Now I know what I missed," he says.

He says he believes that any stage-trained actor must return to the stage from time to time "to test himself on a one-to-one relationship." But he has also found the perfect rationale for TV.

"I've just begun to think of the character in terms of a long run play. In a long run, the problem is trying to keep a fresh feeling. In TV, it's a long run but the freshness is there with a new script and situations every week. Besides, I'm as happy doing Bill Blinn as I am Williams or Albee."

TV Scout Reports

Ouch!

Victor Borge says he went to the Metropolitan Opera in New York and saw a streaker. "He was what I call a real opera buff."

———

Dick Sargent and Alice Ghostley are writing a TV pilot script in which they would play brother and sister. The last time Dick played someone's brother in a pilot it was The Tammy Grimes Show, which lasted, if memory serves me correctly, exactly four weeks.

———

Maury Wills has just wrapped up one major league season and now he is starting another. He finished his chores as an NBC-TV sportscaster and left to act as manager of the Mermosillo (Mexico) professional team, which has a four-month season. Maury says, "I'm going to stay with this game until I get it right."

———

When Oskar Werner wasn't busy in front of the camera for his guest role on Columbo, he was busy behind this own camera recording the goings on for his home movies.

On a recent Sunday, Hugh Hefner threw open the doors of his Playboy Mansion West (a Disneyland for adults or an X-rated Disneyland, depending upon how you look at it) for a party to celebrate the 20th anniversary of his empire.

It would seem there weren't many celebrities at home that evening — they were all there. But the acreage is so vast, it really seemed like an intimate party for a few friends.

The proceedings were being taped for an ABC late night entertainment special, with guests like Don Knotts, Stiller and Meara, Freddie Prinze, Paul Williams and, of course, Barbi Benton who said, "I'm here because I know someone" and she's right. (She's Hefner's current Barbi doll.)

The entertainment highlight: jazz band composed of Stan Getz, Buddy Rich, Dizzy Gillespie, Kai Winding, Bill Evans and Ray Brown. Great.

Among the guests, besides those already mentioned, were Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley, Lloyd Bridges, Ruth Buzzi with her husband Bill Keko, Lucie Arnaz with ABC's Gary Pudney, James Farentino and his wife, Michele Lee, Ringo Starr, Sally Field, Jack Weston, Robert Culp, Jim Brown, Wilt Chamberlain, Sugar Ray Robinson with his lovely Millie, Frank Michael Liu, Andrew Prine, Ryan O'Neal, Dan Rowan with his daughter Mary, and, as master of ceremonies for the show, her ex-husband Peter Lawford.

A Noel Coward moment occurred when Mary rushed up to Peter and kissed him, then Dan came on to say a word or two and much laughter resulted. I'd like to have known what they were all thinking. Sometimes the subtext can be more interesting than the text in Hollywood.

Hectic? What does that mean?

STUDIO CITY, Calif. — Somehow when Bob Newhart says this year has been hectic, as far as filming his CBS-TV show and working club dates in Las Vegas and Lake Tahoe, it's funny.

It's funny because Newhart is so supercalm, supercool, supershy and superquiet that it's hard to imagine he even knows what "hectic" means.

He really doesn't like interviews, because he doesn't like to talk about himself. So he says things like, "We'll wind up filming the series for this year in January and then my wife and I will take another vacation trip with Don Rickles and his wife."

And he starts to tell about home movies they shot on their last trip, which they thought could be edited into something useable.

"They turned out as bad or worse than most home movies. You would think that people who work in film could get people to do something other than stand and wave.

"Now I've got a sound camera, so I have to tell the people I'm photographing to stand and wave and talk."

Since Bob's series has been on CBS-TV, he finds that the audiences attending his club act have changed — and so has he.

"The audiences are considerably younger than they used to be, mostly, I would guess, from 18 to 25. And my material has become more conversational and less of a routine."

The conversation turned to stage performances (as opposed to club performances) and Bob recalled doing a play called "The Golden Fleecing," which, he said, was horrendous.

Someone misunderstood and asked, "Did you say tremendous?" He smiled, "No. Have you ever heard me say anything I did was tremendous.?"

The play was done in Chicago in 1964 and, Bob says, "I was awful in it, just terrible but I agreed to do it because it was a chance to get back and see the folks.

"The theater was built on an airplane glide path to O'Hare Airport and next to an expressway with a five per cent grade where trucks changed gear. The theater was a tent and one night a tornado hit. My voice doesn't carry much anyway, so I was miked, but I was the only actor who was. As the others got close to me, their voices got louder and as they walked away they got softer.

"By the second night my nerves were so shot I just laughed through the whole play. Everytime someone came on stage with a new line which furthered the plot, I laughed."

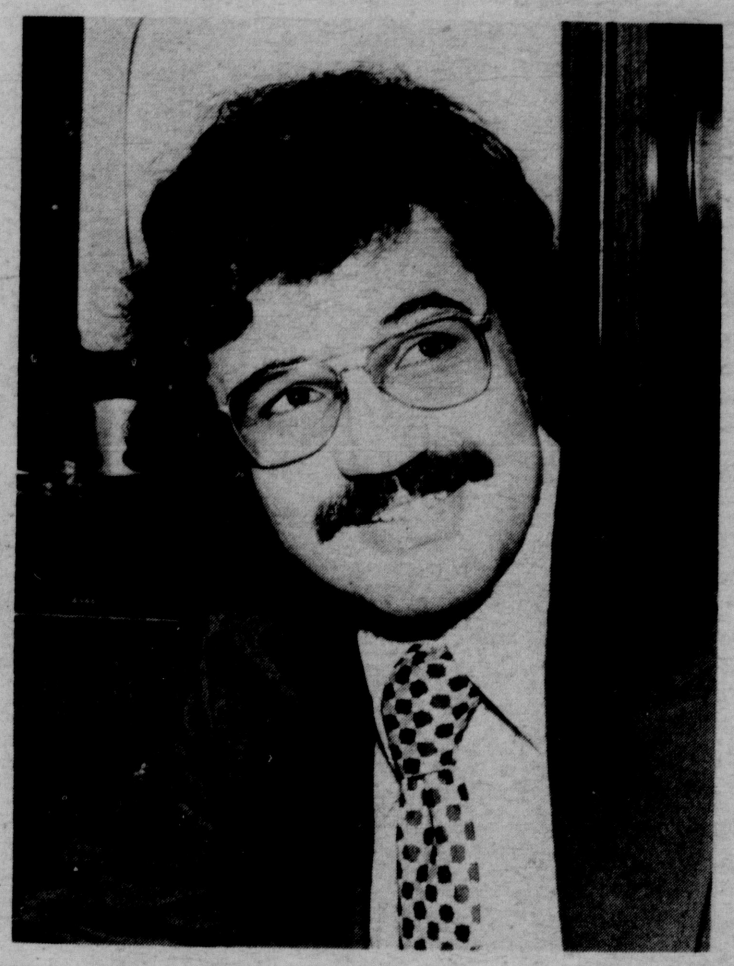
Liaison man needed for new series on TV



Ray Andrade

HOLLYWOOD — NBC's Chico and the Man looks like a big hit. But it may be the first TV show that has had to have a resident member of the staff who is a liaison with a particular minority group.

The associate producer of Chico and the Man is Ray Andrade. He says he has some administrative duties with the show but the bulk of his time is spent in placating the Los Angeles Chicano community.

The show, in case you haven't seen it, is about a Chicano youth who goes to work for an Anglo who owns a garage.

The problems are two-fold. First, the Chicano community contains some people who are humorless and don't get the jokes. Either that or they are so literal-minded that they can no longer see humor in anythiig.

But, even more important, they object — or many do — to the fact that Chico, the Chicano youth, is played by an actor who is not a Chicano, Freddie Prinze.

"I must mend a lot of fences," Andrade says, "and make my Chicano friends accept the fact that the hero of the show isn't really a Chicano at all, but half-Puerto Rican and half-Hungarian Jew. Prinze is a New Yorker who speaks like a New Yorker, not like a Chicano.

"Maybe they can't tell the difference in Pittsburgh, but here there is a big difference, and they're very sensitive."

Andrade knows all about the difference and the sensitivity. He's a Chicano, born and bred in East Los Angeles, one of nine children in an impoverished barrio family.

"I grew up," he says, "knowing only that I wanted some way to get out, some identity of my own."

He thought of sports as a way out but wasn't very good at the organized games. So, at 12, he tried boxing — "It was the only sport I could handle." He became good at it, turned pro, won 16 out of his 17 pro fights.

"But I was terrified before each fight," he says. "I went to hypnotists and psychiatrists but nothing helped."

After one particularly rough fight, he quit. He went into the Army, joined the Green Berets, served in Vietnam and was the most decorated California soldier.

He was badly wounded when he was blown up by a mine and was paralyzed for six months.

After his discharge, he started to study law but got sidetracked into fighting for Chicano causes. He formed his own organization — Justicia — and led them into confrontations with movie makers and TV producers over the way Chicanos were portrayed on film.

That's how he met Jimmy Komack and when Komack began putting Chico and the Man together, he thought he should have Ray Andrade on his side; helping forestall the inevitable criticisms.

Marriage is best

Please tell me about Suzanne Pleshette of The Bob Newhart Show. Is she married to a producer, a director or an actor? — Betty Beyer, Santa Clara, Calif.

Suzanne is not married to a producer, a director or an actor. She is married to a business man named Tom Gallagher. She was previously married to Troy Donahue.

All about Jessica

I would like to know if Jessica Walter is married and if she has any kids. When is her birthday and where can I write her? — Tyrone Tipton, Wecuah, Fla.

Jessica is married to director Ross Bowman and they have a daughter, 2. She was born January 31 in Brooklyn, N.Y. Her new series, Amy Prentiss, will join the Sunday Mystery Movie lineup in December. She costarred in a series called For the People several years ago, opposite William Shatner. Write Jessica at Universal Studios, Universal City, Calif. 91808.

Help

Who starred in the pictures "For Whom the Bell Tolls" and "A Farewell to Arms?" — R. Newberry, Gulfport, Miss.

Gary Cooper starred in both those pictures, with Helen Hayes as his costar in "A Farewell to Arms," and Ingrid Bergman was in "For Whom the Bell Tolls," if you mean the version released in 1932. A 1958 version of the Hemingway book starred Rock Hudson and Jennifer Jones.

Good Lord

I have heard that Jack Lord of Hawaii Five-O is dead. Is that true? — Bunnie Daniels, Blountstown, Fla.

Not true at all. But Jack has now achieved that kind of fame where the rumors start.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR SEN. SAM J. ERVIN, JR.

Is it true you represented a paying client before the Supreme Court while in the Senate?—Tom Hart, Drake, Colo.

● Yes—the Darlington Manufacturing Co. in 1964. I argued only one point and that was under the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment and the National Labor Relations Act to the effect that any commercial enterprise can go out of business completely at any time for any reason satisfactory to itself. The Supreme Court held unanimously that the argument I made was in complete harmony with the intent of Congress. Contrary to some charges, the U.S. did not have any interest, either legal or pecuniary, in this case, which was an argument between the stockholders and a union.

FOR SANDY DUNCAN

Do you ever get fed up with being pert and cute?—R. S., Beverly Hills, Calif.

● At one point I was bored with my image. But I got over that when I realized how many people I know aren't working—marvelous stars who, through no fault of their own, can't find roles, be they boring or otherwise. I sure would like to do a juicy dramatic part, just as dramatic performers want to try comedy.

FOR PETE ROSE of the Cincinnati Reds*

I hear you hold your bat with the label facing the ball. Why?—Lori Bockweg, Waldwick, N. J.

● I hold my bat with the label facing the pitcher. This is because of the way my body and hips pivot when I swing. By turning the label toward the pitcher, I can pivot into the ball and hit the pitch with the part of the grain that gives me the best contact. However, since each man pivots differently, every hitter has to adjust his grip to his own swing.

FOR ERNEST BORGNINE

What was the most difficult role you ever had to do?—J. Berns, Fayetteville, N.C.

● After I mentioned on Johnny Carson's show that I'd never performed at a circus, I was inundated with offers. I accepted one to be a clown. That was my hardest onstage job. Kids can see through any mask and clowns can't let their emotions show. My hardest offstage job was at a hospital for handicapped children. It was heartbreaking. I had to hold my tears at bay and make the kids laugh.

FOR FARRAH FAWCETT (Mrs. Lee Majors)*

You've made commercials with two sexy guys — Michael Haynes and Joe Namath. Do they live up to their reputations—and who's your favorite actor to work with?—Mrs. Nita Rael, La Verne, Calif.

● Yes, Mike and Joe do have all that sexiness in person but, more important, they're very professional and extremely nice. My favorite actor and the one I like to work with most is—Lee Majors.

FOR CLORIS LEACHMAN

Looking back, did winning the Academy Award as best supporting actress in "The Last Picture Show" have any effect on your career?—C. P., Hutchinson, Kan.

● Not really. Except maybe because of all the talk shows I did as a result, people got to know me better as a private person. I think I probably became more of a personality in my own right.

FOR PAUL "BEAR" BRYANT,
head football coach, University of Alabama

Why do some of your backs cut off the bottom half of their football jerseys?—Wendy Kutlow, Englewood Cliffs, N. J.

● Because they feel it gives a potential tackler one less chance to grab hold. Alabama backs wear tearaway jerseys —but a runner can still be held up a half-step if an opponent grabs his shirt.

FOR TIM HOLLAND,
backgammon champion of the world

Why do so many women like backgammon?—R. B., Salem, Ore.

● Women like it because they're accepted around a backgammon table, unlike poker. And if a man loses to a woman, it's no slur on his talent—it's the luck of the dice! Celebrities like the game. Polly Bergen is an excellent player. So are Hugh Hefner, Diana Ross, Henry Fonda, Sean Connery and Roger Moore.

FOR RON GALLELA,
photographer and author of "Jacqueline"

How do you manage to find out where Mrs. Onassis is going to be?—P. L., Nyack, N.Y.

● After four years of photographing her, I know Jackie so well that I can tell where she's going by the direction her limousine takes. I also took the precaution of becoming friendly with the doormen of the places she frequents. I even went as far as to date Mrs. Onassis' maid—but that was a combination of business and pleasure.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

I always hear the name Conrad Hilton, but I never hear much about the man. Could you please tell me something about him?—L. P., Rome, Ga.

● Conrad Hilton, who is 86, shuns publicity but is still extremely active in the hotel chain he founded. Chairman of the Board of Hilton Hotels Corp., and Chairman of the Board of Hilton International Company, he lives in Belair, Calif., and puts in a full working day. Mr. Hilton had three sons by his first wife. The eldest, Conrad N. Hilton, Jr., died February 5, 1969. Barron Hilton is president of Hilton Hotels Corp. and Eric Hilton is vice president. Conrad Hilton's second marriage, to Zsa Zsa Gabor, produced one daughter, Francesca. He is not married at the present time.

©1974 R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

Almost everyone at the corral today has a gimmick. Find the one who doesn't. 1. No. He's Brandon Kowz. Gimmick: Rides tall in the saddle (ever since he sat on a branding iron). Smokes "Quick Draw" cigarettes—one draw and the taste is shot. 2. No. He's Sid E. Slicker. Outfit is his gimmick: He looks like something that fell off a wedding cake. 3. No. She's May Aiken Bach. Buys every camping gimmick made. Even her horse opens up into a sofa. Tried an orange-flavor cigarette, but didn't know whether to smoke it—or squeeze it into her drink. 4. Nope. He's Harry Decamp Kunsler. Wears gimmick on back, especially during hunting season. Was later attacked by a moose—who couldn't read. 5. Right. He goes back to nature to get away from the fads and gimmicks. Likes his cigarettes natural and honest, too. Camel Filters. No nonsense. All flavor. 6. No. He's Tim Berwulf. Gimmick: "Expert" tracker. He once followed tracks into a cave—and shot a train.

Our Parents, Ourselves, Our Kids: Mating Habits, How You've Changed!

Today's teenagers seem to like each other. Did we like each other, or were we merely "in love"?

Rona Jaffe, whose new book is an epic novel called "Family Secrets" (Simon & Schuster, $9.95).

Sixty-odd years ago, when my mother was a little girl, my grandfather used to sit at the head of the table and carve the turkey. One day he gave her the wing, and she said: "Please, I'd prefer another piece." He reached over and slapped her across the face. Her comment today on this incident is: "My father always wanted all of us children to be perfect."

That's how it was in my grandparents' generation; duty was all, rage was suppressed, usually even repressed, and the key words were obedience, respect and morality. Arranged marriages were not uncommon, for the stranger your parents picked was bound to be better for you than the stranger you picked because you happened to love him. In any case, the young man had to get the girl's father's approval or there was no wedding. Families clung together for stability and companionship. Sibling rivalry was unheard of, but it was rampant nonetheless as children vied for the approval of Papa-God and Mama-Goddess. When one got married it was for sensible reasons: to have a family, to have companionship, to fulfill your destiny. A man needed a homemaker and a woman needed a provider. They didn't think about sex, or tried not to, which wasn't difficult since they didn't know much about it anyway.

My parents brought me up with what was considered enormous freedom. I was expected to go to college and was "allowed" to go to one five hours by train from my home—a sleep-away school—while my mother had had to fight for that same privilege. Of course, when I got to college the dean of women told us that we were not there to be prepared for careers. We were there to be prepared to be better wives and mothers, preferably to marry our male classmates.

We, those schoolgirls of the late 1940's and early 1950's, were the most romantic generation that ever was. No Victorian girl reading poetry in a hammock could have been more romantic, for we didn't even have the excuse of being totally innocent. Each generation tries to be the opposite of its parents, and we married for sex. Not that we were quite sure what it would be like, but we were sure it would be marvelous. If the first date was a success, we not only imagined marrying the boy, we already started naming our children. The boy would phone on Monday and ask us out for Saturday night, and after a few months of these Saturday nights (and then later of course there was the midweek night as well) many of us actually married this stranger. What did we ever talk about? We made plans. But we didn't talk about ourselves because we didn't really know ourselves yet, and besides, dating was a con, a game. For a girl it was a way to trap a husband before she was an old maid; for a boy it was a way to impress a girl so he could go back and tell lies to his friends.

Those of us who did not find a husband at college played at careers afterward, while the romantic 1950's rolled on and some married men chased some single girls and some single girls got disillusioned. Those of us who did marry and have children and move to that dream house in the suburbs found a lot of our friends getting divorced and a lot of others keeping up a marriage that was a pretense "for the children's sake," and we wondered why everything was so different from our parents' day, why the world seemed to be falling apart. And what had happened to our perfect children?

When we were teenagers we had argued with our parents about almost everything it seemed: how late we could stay out, how often we could see our latest crush, if we could have the car, if we could put a little liquor in the punch for the graduation party. We had argued all the time, but at least we had communicated. Our children, grown into teenagers, didn't communicate at all. They did what they pleased, dressed as they pleased, and not only smoked cigarettes, but we knew many of them—or at least their contemporaries – also used dope. All kids want to do what their friends do, but what gave this generation their new courage to do what they pleased as a power bloc?

The 1960's saw computer dating for young singles, but 1970 seemed to have turned the kids themselves into computers—where were their feelings as they drifted from romance to romance without even a pretense of feeling, of "love"? No one pretended to be in love any more. Could sex without love be fun? Were they really carrying on the way they said they did, and weren't they going to become jaded? Some of us worried and some of us felt jealous, deprived forever of the mysteries of variety.

The kids said they didn't want to make our mistakes. Every generation says that, thinking it is the one to have discovered the real truth about love. But the kids today have found something we never had when we were their age, and surely our parents found only after they had been married for a long time: they have found friendship. Whether in a co-ed dorm or a more conventional life-style where kids go steady, boys and girls are friends with each other. For our generation, sex was the monster, always present, breathing down our necks, revered, avoided, tantalizing, frightening. Today's teenagers have gotten sex out of the way and are free to concentrate on the human being. They like each other. Did we like each other, or were we merely "in love"?

Some things haven't changed. Single life isn't all fun. After graduation from college many girls who once were popular find themselves forced to choose between boys they don't like or being alone. They complain, as we did 20 years ago, that "all the good ones have been taken." Although a surprising number of young women prefer not to marry, and a surprising number of young couples decide never to have children, there is a vast number of young marriages every year. These kids don't all save up for a big, formal wedding, and they don't all wait for a secure future; they may choose a country spot, write their own ceremony and have a picnic afterward. They may have no honeymoon—not because they can't afford it, but because they've already been on trips together and now they want to settle down.

"The boy would phone on Monday and ask us out for Saturday night and after a few months of these Saturday nights . . . many of us actually married this stranger."

There is a generation gap in every generation, but I think if my grandfather were alive today he would understand the young people because many of them have a spirit of adventure similar to that which the American pioneers and the immigrants had. We are in the midst of a vast wave of nostalgia for the "natural" things: natural foods, the good old days when we had to make everything ourselves, from our clothes to our fun. Nostalgia is always easy because you can omit the threatening parts. If our "natural" food doesn't grow we can buy it at the supermarket. The reason parents had absolute authority in the good old days is that they reared a generation conditioned to accept it; outside the family circle lurked the threatening unknown.

Communications – the press, magazines, television – have made all of us aware that there are various alternatives available to every life-style. We see people on every part of our planet and we see our astronauts on the moon. We may still be afraid of the fellow down the street but it is not likely that he will be a mystery to us. A young person today can want to be a hippie or a congressperson, a member of an exotic religious cult or the PTA, a stockbroker, a film maker, a farmer. But one thing is certain: He or she won't make the choice because their parents or their contemporaries forced it on them. My parents' generation chose their careers so their children could have security; my generation chose our careers so we could have security; today's generation is totally diverse. They have the freedom to make their own choices and they know more about life than we did, although not as much as we know now. I suspect they will do pretty well. I think those who choose a family life will make a very good job of it. It is not difficult to stay with your best friend for the rest of your life.

Does Your World Differ From the "Other Fellow's" World?

By John E. Gibson

True or False: The person with a satisfying philosophy of life lives in an entirely different world from the person who has none. (See number 4)

If there's anything about it you don't like, you can take it back.

Now, that's a guarantee.

We're not kidding. This is a Black & Decker single-speed jig saw. It's guaranteed from the tip of its shoe to the end of its plug. For one whole year. It's one of the best jig saws you can buy—at one of the lowest price tags anywhere. It'll cut straight, curved or scroll lines in a wide variety of materials, and it's double insulated, for your safety.

But one of the best things about it is that it comes with a guarantee so good that if there's anything about it you don't like—you can return it to a participating retailer or Black & Decker Service Center. You can get a replacement saw or another type of power tool of equivalent value.

Kind of makes sense, doesn't it? That Black & Decker would offer a guarantee every bit as good as its products. (Proof of purchase required. Guarantee does not include tools used commercially or in rental service.)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Everyone lives in a different world.

2. The reason each person sees life differently—and thus lives in a different world than his fellows—is because he is different; no two personalities are alike.

3. The way alcohol affects you depends on the world you live in.

4. The person with a satisfying philosophy of life lives in an entirely different world from the person who has none.

ANSWERS

1. True. Psychological studies show that the world another person lives in is often so different from yours or mine that we simply can't understand how he can possibly feel, act and think the way he does. It's pointed out that most of us do not think of our friends, relatives and associates as living in separate worlds at all. We tend to project, to assume that our world—the world as it seems to us, personally—is the way the world actually is, and that it seems that way to everyone. Nothing could be further from the fact.

2. True. Two people may come from the same family, have the same cultural and educational backgrounds, and yet live in utterly different worlds. Studies show that the way a person sees the world is colored, shaped and shaded by his own personality, and is to a marked extent a projection of his own character. That is why a dishonest person sees most people as untrustworthy whereas to honest people most people are honest. To one person the world may be filled with wonder; another person may live in a world tinged with pessimism and paranoia. This, as one authority points out, explains why some people—who seemingly have everything—may find the world boring and depressing, while others, who have to struggle against odds to survive, feel that it's a great world and have a zestful enthusiasm for living.

3. True. Oxford University psychologist Dr. Jeffrey Gray cites studies showing that the individual world in which each person lives has a marked effect on how he reacts to liquor. Alcohol was found to "have a perplexing variety of effects, making some people aggressive, others amorous, some tearful, others talkative, and so on."

4. True. The person who lacks a satisfying philosophy of life looks out upon a world that appears chaotic and utterly lacking in rhyme or reason. This promotes a feeling of vague and unsettling apprehension, which psychologists term "free-floating anxiety." Columbia University studies have shown that such an anxious person lives in a world where he feels threatened even by his friends.

These exquisite figurines from Norman Rockwell's famous Saturday Evening Post Covers are becoming more collectible than the Hummel figurines as more and more American Collectors are including them among their valuables.

Each figurine ranges in size from approximately 5½ to 8 inches high and to fully appreciate their superb quality and beauty you have to hold one in your hands. Each is hand-painted, on excellent quality porcelain with a lovely Bisque finish. The colors are wonderfully soft and lovely, exquisitely completing great works of art that fully capture the famous Rockwell charm and whimsy.

WONDERFUL GIFTS AND GREAT INVESTMENT POTENTIAL

Most of us grew up with an issue of the Saturday Evening Post around the house and even though we didn't personally know Norman Rockwell—we felt he was our friend. He is so loved that one private Mint issued a collector plate with one of his drawings on it and it quadrupled in price. Another well known china company sold a Limited Edition Plate that not only sold out immediately—but now sells for six times the original price. We've heard that one famous Mint has just offered his renowned "Four Freedoms" in silver ingots and has been flooded with orders.

So whether you are a collector for investment, a memorabilia addict, a figurine collector, a Rockwell Lover or if you're just looking for a beautiful gift that will be appreciated for a lifetime—send your order in today—and your heirloom of tomorrow will be on its way to you!

AS A SUPER SPECIAL BONUS if you order any figurine within 2 weeks we'll also send you absolutely free a large 200 page Norman Rockwell book containing almost 500 of his most famous illustrations including the "Streakers" and his world renowned "Four Freedoms" in living color. The hard cover version of this same book originally sold for $17.50 each.

We are proud to also offer you three extremely popular Limited Edition Collector Plates by Norman Rockwell as shown below, left.

ABSOLUTELY FREE! As an incentive for you to try Joy's Limited Editions you'll receive with any order a Free years' subscription to the famous Joy's Newsletter showing all the best quality Limited Edition Collectibles in full color. Star Chat

By Peer J. Oppenheimer

Country Star Roy Clark: "Somehow I Slept Better When I Was Poor"

Peter C. Borsari

Roy Clark and his wife Barbara, who "chauffered" him his first year on the road.

"I get carried away with gadgets. I see something and I think I just have to have it. . . . I'm like a child. I use a thing once and then there's never time to use it again."

Big Roy Clark plopped his 5-11, 235-pound frame into the over-stuffed chair in the living room of his suite at Harrah's in Reno, Nev., where he had been playing to capacity crowds. Chunks of silver and turquoise Indian jewelry flashed on his belt, at his throat and on his wrists. From time to time he'd cross and uncross his legs and study the toes of his patent-leather boots as he pondered how to answer my questions.

FAMILY WEEKLY: I just watched your show, and I can't recall many performers who work so hard. How many shows like this did you do last year?

ROY: I traveled 300 days and covered 200,000 miles to perform at fairs, rodeos, livestock expositions, cut records, tape "Hee Haw" in Nashville and do nightclub acts in Las Vegas and here in Reno.

FW: Do you think your success is worth it?

ROY: Not if I lose my health.

FW: Didn't you suffer a heart attack four years ago?

ROY: They're beginning to wonder if I did have one. The doctors think it was a coronary insufficiency. That means my heart wasn't pumping enough blood. I was plain exhausted. I'd been running too hard and suffered from hyperventilation. My wife's always hollering "Slow down!" I think a woman spots trouble before a man does. I knew I was tired all the time, but I blamed it on other things. I'd say, "Oh, I'm tired because I got up early today. I'll correct that with a good night's sleep." But it kept taking longer to come back.

FW: Do you sleep well?

ROY: Seems like I've never been able to sleep. I don't know when it started. Maybe five, six years ago. I'm on the go about 20 hours and sleep maybe four or five hours. Even then I can't relax. I keep waking up. I'm on tranquilizers now, and that's helping, but I'm always tired. I guess it's inner tension.

FW: I understand you pilot your own plane. Doesn't that

ROY: No, because I can relax when I'm flying.

FW: Didn't your wife chauffeur you around at one time?

ROY: That was the first year I went out on my own. I worked 345 days that year. We put everything we had in storage and got in the car and drove. I'd sleep in the back, and she'd drive to wherever I was to perform. While I was working, she'd sleep. Then we'd pile the stuff back into the car. Some days we covered 900 miles. I'll tell you one thing—I slept lots better then.

FW: How long have you been married?

FW: Any children?

ROY: Four, by my first wife. They're 22, 20, 19 and 18. I've a married daughter and a son in medical school. My 19-year-old son is still searching and the 18-year-old, well, he has the ability but not the desire to be in show business. He plays the guitar and he's good.

FW: Where do you call home?

ROY: I've got a house in Maryland near Annapolis, on two and a half acres. It's not really what we wanted, but I was raised in the Washington, D.C., area and it was all we could afford at the time. What I'd really like is an older place, like Tara in "Gone With the Wind." I wouldn't allow anything modern within a certain distance of the house. You'd have to come to it by horse and carriage. I think I'm living in the wrong century.

FW: Did you know from the beginning that you wanted to turn to music and performing?

ROY: Oh, I went through all those boyhood dreams. I was a real baseball nut for a while. I even had a chance to try out with the old St. Louis Browns once; but the pay was low and I had to pay my way there and all my expenses, and I couldn't manage that.

FW: Since you're the only country and western performer to win all three top country awards in one year, there seems no limit to your earning ability. What do you do with all your money?

ROY: I buy things. Radio stations, racehorses, duplex houses, apartment complexes. I have two boats—a 51-foot houseboat and a runabout for water-skiing—and two motorcycles. I also have two planes, two cars and a jeep. I just bought a classy old Rolls. I get carried away with gadgets. I see something and I think I just have to have it. For instance, I have this walkie-talkie. It's probably rotted by now, and I haven't used it once. Then there's the Sony recorder set and all the electrical stuff. I'm like a child. I use a thing once and then there's never time to use it again.

"My wife's always hollering 'Slow down!' I think a woman spots trouble before a man does. I knew I was tired all the time, but I blamed it on other things."

FW: How well do you get along with people?

ROY: I think I'm too easy. I go along with everything. It has to be really bad before I say anything. I don't lose my temper often now because when I do, I can't breathe. I went through a stage of hitting things like doors and walls. Not any more.

FW: Do your fans ever upset you?

ROY: No, because the thing you are after is recognition. At the same time, I like to melt into a crowd and go unnoticed. That's asking for two worlds, I know—instant recognition and still wanting to be alone.

FW: Why do you think country music has become so popular?

ROY: Because of its exposure. TV helped the most. Lots of so-called pop artists have recorded it and brought their fans in, making them aware of it.

FW: "Hee Haw" is now syndicated to more stations than played it when it was on CBS. Do you feel you owe a lot of your success to this show?

ROY: It was the crowning of my career. People became aware of me overnight. Oh, they had known my face and my name, but it wasn't until "Hee Haw" that they put the name and face together. Before that I was just "that heavy-set guy who plays guitar."

Now, a blunt promise by an eminent dermatologist:

You can make your face look as though time was running backwards!

Revealed by an eminent dermatologist (see his word-by-word statement below): How, with the proper scientific instruction, you can literally look ten to twenty years younger than your real age . . . erase wrinkles, blemishes and coarseness . . . and do it all using nothing more than such simple ingredients as water, soap, and (especially) salt!

This is, quite frankly, a vital message about what is perhaps the most revolutionary home-medical-guide ever published on facial care . . . facial beauty . . . renewed facial youth. Its results are so spectacular, its documentation is so overwhelming, and its methods are so vital to your future life that we must repeat, in full, two more quotes from its opening pages:

"As a matter of fact, we have only recently acquired the ability to really do something about the more serious changes in appearance that accompany aging . . .

"In the past, the average person stood very little chance of being able to look younger. Without wealth or the right genes, there was very little hope. The advent of modern skin care has changed all this. Now it is no longer necessary to pamper yourself or be born with good skin. The idle rich no longer have any advantage . . . the genes you inherit are no longer a limiting factor, because we can now compensate for even delicate, age-prone skin . . . Thanks to modern research, we now know what causes many of the unattractive problems that appear with age. With this kind of knowledge, we have been able to develop methods that are effective in combatting or solving these problems.

"The practical application of these methods can produce spectacular results. A person can easily look ten to twenty years younger than his or her actual age, and this can be achieved with a minimum of effort. My own interest in this subject was first stimulated by an eminent dermatologist who was one of my first teachers. He was not only an early advocate of these new methods, but he practiced them himself. The results were truly impressive. At almost eighty years of age, he appeared to be in his early fifties."

This, Then, Is The Startling New Promise That Lies Right At Your Fingertips! And Here Are The Discoveries That Are Going To Give It To You!

For example—

Age is no longer a barrier to a flawless complexion, because the outer layer of your skin never stops growing! And, if you learn the right way to utilize that growth, you may actually reverse the dreaded aging process, and grow younger-looking, not older.

The ultimate moisturizer! How it can eliminate moisture loss instantly, and actually repair the ravages caused by years of facial dryness.

The three insidious structural changes that create "old" skin, and how to stop each at its source.

For example, master this simple technique of protecting the all-important "inner layer" of skin from damage, and you will never need the services of a plastic surgeon.

How your kitchen stove can make you look old, old, old—unless you learn how to use it—like this.

How to keep the sun from turning your face into a wrinkled prune.

How to protect your skin against air pollution. (Otherwise, if you live in a big city, be prepared to have people guess you're ten years older than you really are.)

How to banish blocked pores and blackheads—for good.

The Number One Rule for protecting your face against all the hazards of the environment. Follow it faithfully (see page 36), and when your friends look as old as Methuselah, you'll hardly have changed at all.

Indisputable Proof That It Would Take A Century For Your Face To Look Old, If You Didn't Abuse It Like This . . .

How to "quick-clean" your face, so thoroughly, and so fast, that you take years off it, rather than put them on.

Invisible sources of skin inflammations and allergies, that may be ruining your complexion right now. In other words, how to practice modern acne therapy, right in your own home.

Why you may never have to spend a cent on commercial face-care products again. For two reasons: Because most of them are actually harmful to your skin (see list on page 67). And because none of them could ever do as much for that skin as the almost-costless preparations given to you on page 71.

For example, the best daytime base in the world (and you should wear it every minute of every day, to keep the youth-force sealed in your skin) costs only 84¢ for a six-month supply. And the best night cream you can buy costs slightly more—about 91¢ for a six-month supply.

And the best skin freshener probably costs a penny a day.

And not one of them contains a single ingredient that will unknowingly age your face, or dry out your face, or irritate your face. All they do is pull the filth out of that face, at the same time they seal in the youth.

But What About The Old Skin That's Marring Your Face Right Now? What Do You Do About It? THIS—

Here, on page 72, is (in our opinion at least) the really startling breakthrough in facial care in this generation. It is called, "Skin Thinning". It takes about two minutes of your time a week, and it costs about 3¢ a treatment. It's basic ingredient is salt. Plain ordinary table salt. But used in such a way that it almost instantly cuts down wrinkles. Opens clogged pores. Helps prevent age spots and whiteheads. May actually have your husband cooing with delight the very first day you use it.

How the wrong vitamins can poison your skin. And the right vitamin therapy cause spectacular changes overnight. (See page 108.)

How dry, scaly skin can often be eliminated by a simple change in your diet. (See page 107.)

The "Young-Face Style of Life". Or how to erase ten years from the look of your skin, simply by adjusting the way you work, play and sleep. (See page 112.)

How your skin can warn you of the insidious development of diseases of the heart, circulatory system, lungs, blood, thyroid, pancreas, sex glands, liver, kidneys and much more, all by simply knowing how to read the danger signals it sends out. (See page 105.)

Two easy solutions to hand and nail problems. (See page 140.)

How to save your hair. Why you must not overbrush it. The one overlooked cause of 99 per cent of all severe hair damage. A simple immediate test that tells you, for sure, the rate of hair loss. Why the wrong use of vitamins may be causing that loss. Medical methods (your husband will bless you when you show them to him) of really compensating for that ugly loss.

And Much Much More. At Last All You Need To Never Look Your Age Again! AND WE PROVE IT TO YOU WITHOUT YOUR RISKING A PENNY!

Remember! Good skin care is one of today's best bargains . . . nothing else gives you such a high return for such a small investment! But, YOU MUST BEGIN NOW! The effects of a long lifetime of neglect and abuse can NEVER BE COMPLETELY REVERSED! You owe it to yourself—and to that special man in your life—to return the No-Risk Coupon TODAY!

PLUS THESE THREE THRILLING BONUS SECTIONS!

Break through all that misinformation and hocus-pocus surrounding the use of such ridiculously high-priced cosmetic additives as: royal jelly, placenta, hormones, cucumber, proteins, seaweed and all those countless other "miracle ingredients" that are simply causing you to squander your hard-earned dollars!

Correct structural changes that cause visible skin problems, prevent cellular build-up, dry, scaly patches, blackheads and blocked pores—forever—all without resorting to the services of a professional!

Here's My Recipe To Stop Inflation

John Neubauer

"How did we get into a situation where the rate of inflation, now almost 11 percent, is forecast to continue at that pace through the end of 1974? Where the rate of growth for the economy in the second half of this year is expected to be zero? Where a consensus tells us that the unemployment rate will be nearly six percent by the end of 1974? How did we get here—and, more important, how do we get out?"

During the first half of 1974, prices in the U.S. rose at an annual rate of nearly 11 percent. The cost of buying the bare essentials of life has become so great that a family of four with an annual income of $12,500 has almost no discretionary income left. There is certainly nothing left for savings after they make the rent or mortgage payment, pay the utilities bills, buy groceries for the month, put gasoline into the car, clothe the children for school and pay for medical care. A $12,500 family has little left for recreation and other "nonessential" purchases. As for that proverbial rainy day—it has already arrived.

Why? How did we get into a situation where the rate of inflation, now almost 11 percent, is forecast to continue at that pace through the end of 1974? Where the rate of growth for the economy in the second half of this year is expected to be zero? Where a consensus tells us that the unemployment rate will be nearly six percent by the end of 1974? How did we get here—and, more important, how do we get out?

The worldwide food shortage and the pricing policies of the oil-producing countries have increased the cost of oil and disrupted the world financial markets. In addition, the worldwide industrial boom during the first half of 1973 put a severe drain on many U.S. resources. Why? Because the price of our resources became extremely attractive on the world market after the post-1970 dollar devaluations. Goods now flow to foreign buyers at lower prices—and so they have become more costly on the domestic market. Meanwhile, the price we paid for imports also increased as the dollar depreciated.

Many of the President's advisers are continuing to recommend "that ole time religion" of stringent monetary and fiscal policy. I believe we need to look for other alternatives. That is not to say that I think the federal government should increase spending and pursue a liberal monetary policy. On the contrary: As the Interim Study of Inflation of the Joint Economic Committee, of which I am the Ranking Member, suggests, there is a grave need to pursue a prudent fiscal policy. The government must not feed inflation by creating deficit spending at a time when the rate of inflation has already risen to unacceptable heights.

But there are things we can do to alter the rising cost of food, the spiraling costs of utilities and the shortage of funds available for housing.

First, the outlook for food prices is not good. The Department of Agriculture estimates that food prices will be rising at a rate of 18 to 19 percent during the second half of this year. This is mainly attributable to the severe drought in the Midwest. Because we lacked a national food policy in the past, we now have virtually no reserves left. Efforts must be made to reduce the constraints on farm output, which are the result of three shortages: 1) fuel, 2) fertilizer, 3) farm machinery and equipment:

- Congress should set up an export-licensing system for agricultural commodities in short supply.
- Low-income persons must not be allowed to suffer even more as food prices rise; adjustments in the coverage and payment scales of the Food Stamp program must be put into effect to compensate for the upsurge in prices.
- The government must make a major effort to reach voluntary agreements with our major trading partners to reduce the exports of feed grains substantially below the levels of the past two years. Another Russian wheat deal must not be allowed to happen.

We must attack the fuel-cost problem. Utility and other energy prices have accounted for up to one-quarter of the total rise in the price level this year. The current price ceilings on domestic crude oil should be continued. We have forgotten too easily the gasoline lines of last winter, and have practically abandoned our efforts at conservation.

The need to conserve energy remains basic, and the federal government should take additional measures to encourage the American people to this end. Any consideration to assist electric utilities in financing their capital-expansion programs must be accompanied by a revision in their rate structure, to reverse the present policy of making unit costs cheaper as usage increases. I am working on a proposal for legislation that would carry out this aim.

A slight easing in monetary policy should be adopted—as proposed in the Joint Economic Committee's report. Given a prudent fiscal policy, a small easing should not have much impact on the inflation rate. However, we must assure that sectors such as housing, agriculture, public utilities, small business, and state and local governments can borrow needed funds. So a system for channeling credit should be created and implemented now!

And what about people who have no incomes at all? With forecasters projecting abominably high rates of unemployment right into 1975, I believe we must have a public-service jobs program in the works, ready to be triggered when the unemployment rate reaches 5.5 percent. I had introduced such legislation early in the Congress, and the JEC report advocates this plan. It would create approximately 500,000 jobs by the time the unemployment rate reaches six percent. But the federal budget would have to be trimmed in other areas to fit this program into the prudent spending ceiling of $300 billion that has been recommended.

If all these proposals are followed, we will have a good chance of reducing inflation and its undesirable impacts over the next 12 to 16 months. But if we don't start taking action now, if we go into 1975 without a program for affirmative action, we can expect to come out of 1975 with the same frustrating problems of unemployment, recession and inflation that we confront today.

Smart Cooking For Special Occasions

This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen features a buffet that can be prepared after work. But it does take planning. The night before, make the pie and Ratatouille; chill Cold Duck.

Working Girl's Buffet

Elizabeth Gee

Arranged on a gleaming table, Chicken Livers Scottsdale, Ratatouille and fluffy white rice.

MARILYN'S MENU

Salted Almonds
Chicken Livers Scottsdale*
Ratatouille* Fluffy White Rice
Salad Hot Rolls
Butter or Margarine
Chilled Cold Duck
Deep-Dish Plum Pie
Coffee Tea

*Recipe given

CHICKEN LIVERS SCOTTSDALE

6 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ lbs. chicken livers
2 teaspoons dark molasses
4 teaspoons prepared mustard, preferably Dijon-type
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
¼ cup brandy
3 tablespoons light or dark rum
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
Hot, cooked, buttered white rice

1. Heat butter in large skillet or top of chafing dish until hot but not browned. Toss in chicken livers and sauté, stirring, until browned but still slightly pink inside.

2. Stir in molasses, mustard, salt and pepper. Combine brandy and rum. Add half to liver mixture; heat to boiling, stirring. Sprinkle with parsley, keep warm.

3. Just before serving warm remaining brandy and rum, ignite with match and pour quickly over liver mixture.

4. Serve with rice.

Makes 3-4 servings

RATATOUILLE
(Vegetable Stew)

3 cloves garlic
1 lb. (6 medium) zucchini
1 lb. (4 large) green peppers
1 lb. (3 large) yellow onions
1 lb. (1 medium) eggplant
2 lbs. (4 large) tomatoes
¾ cup vegetable oil or olive oil
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper

1. Prepare vegetables for sautéing: Slice garlic thinly, cut zucchini into ¼-inch-thick slices, green pepper into ½-inch-wide strips, slice onions thinly, cut unpeeled eggplant into 1 inch cubes and quarter tomatoes.

2. In large skillet, heat ¼ cup oil. Add garlic, zucchini and green pepper. Sauté five minutes, stirring. Remove to a bowl.

3. In additional ¼ cup oil, sauté onion and eggplant for 5 minutes, stirring. Add to zucchini-green pepper mixture.

4. In ¼ cup oil, sauté tomato quarters for 2 minutes, stirring.

5. Turn all vegetables into skillet with tomatoes. Season with salt and pepper; stir gently to mix. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat and simmer covered 10 minutes. Uncover and simmer 5-10 minutes, stirring once or twice, until liquid is practically all absorbed. Vegetables should be soft and tender, but retain their individual identity. Serve hot or cold. Makes 8 servings

WHERE DO FAT DOCTORS GO TO LOSE WEIGHT?

TO THESE TWO FAMOUS DOCTORS THAT'S WHERE!

They say: "You must lose 14 lbs. the first two weeks OR PAY NOTHING."

How about instructors at Weight Loss Clinics? Airline stewardesses, heads of corporations? Where do they go to lose weight? To these very specialists.

When a new reducing method is so successful that employees of other systems use it, you know it must be terribly effective.

Such is the case with the remarkable system developed by Dr. L. Melvin Elting and Dr. Seymour Isenberg. Dr. Elting is a Board Certified surgeon and one of America's best-known obesity specialists. Once 202 lbs., he lost 50 lbs. in 6 months himself with the plan and has remained at the same weight for over nine years. And Dr. Isenberg, his partner, also a prominent obesity specialist, went from 198 to 158 with it. Even more impressive: they've tested the plan on thousands of their patients. And they've proven that it works.

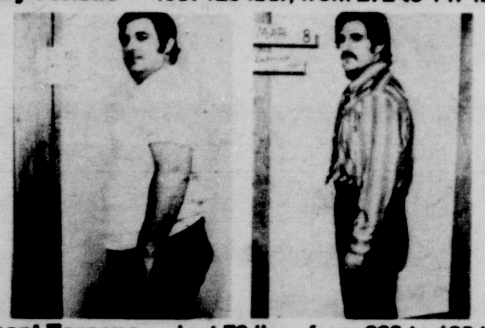
Bruce Funt — lost 145 lbs.; from 389¼ to 243 lbs.

Mary Toriello — lost 125 lbs.; from 272 to 147 lbs.



Vincent Zarcone — lost 73 lbs.; from 263 to 190 lbs.

John Falcone — lost 52 lbs.; from 203½ to 151¼ lbs.
Robert Harralla — lost 78 lbs.; from 240 to 162¼ lbs.
Anthony Toriello — lost 67 lbs.; from 227 to 160 lbs.
Robert Haeussler — lost 88¼ lbs.; from 261½ to 173¼ lbs.

Among those patients have been Weight Watcher instructors who had to lose weight to hold their jobs, airline stewardesses and heads of major corporations, and a number of embarrassingly overweight doctors who had—like most doctors—treated obesity in the traditional way to see it fail time and time again.

Dr. Elting's 5 promises to you

His promise to you is that you will lose 14 lbs. the first two weeks. That you'll continue to lose as all his other patients did. That you'll reach a healthy normal weight—without constant scale-watching and calorie-counting, exercising, dietetic foods, dangerous pills, boring diets, or other hardships and discomforts. That you won't be courting ketosis—which could in the immediate future be even more dangerous than obesity! And that you'll never go hungry. (His plan will let you have more to eat than you can possibly want.)

Thousands have gladly paid hundreds of dollars for treatments. You can now obtain his entire program, complete, by mail—for no more than you'd pay for a single fattening restaurant meal. Let us explain why this plan accomplishes such seeming miracles.

And certain foods are the medicine.

Dr. Elting acknowledges obesity for what it is—a disease. A disease for which the medicine is certain foods. These foods—which you can enjoy along with a groaning table of other truly irresistible foods—share this trait: They are "fatabolizing." That is, they satisfy like fattening foods, but help you lose weight instead of gaining it.

With this plan, you soon reach the point where it takes less to satisfy your hunger. Meanwhile, you can eat whenever you want. And eat virtually anything. Fats, fried foods. Six hamburgers in a row, if you like. Foods you've been denied in previous weight-loss programs.

And in a little while longer you reach the Fat Free Level that is just right for you. (The program explains how to tell.) Then a marvelous thing happens.

You can eat anything and not gain weight ever again. Sure you'll want to keep a check on your weight, now that you're slim and youthful looking again. But now you're in such great shape, it'll be a pleasure to look at the scales each day again. And that's it! You're home free. Fat free. Forever!

Check all these other advantages.

1. Name any restaurant. You can order a meal there and enjoy it even while you're losing weight. Any nationality! And you needn't even worry about the salt they season it with.
2. The lady of the house needn't bother cooking special foods for the man of the house. Never!
3. Your weight not only goes down—it's redistributed in a much more appealing way.
4. You lose that weight very, very much faster than you gained it.
5. You'll have softer, younger looking skin.
6. You'll avoid the bad breath, constipation, fatigue, nervousness, and irritation you get with so many diets.
7. You'll feel more vigorous, be much more attractive, and look better in your clothes.
8. You'll probably have fewer colds.
9. You'll learn some fascinating tricks that will help those "fatisfying" foods perform their miracles. Such as:

- How your camera can help you lose.
- A new, much more sensuous, more enjoyable way to eat. (It's why gourmets are rarely fat.)
- Why you should never eat standing up—especially at buffet dinners.
- A 100-yard walk with two 50-lb. sacks of flour that you'll never forget. (This trick alone could be worth far more than the small price of the plan. What it teaches you about your fat could help steer you away from a heart attack.)

Why spend another day worrying about a disease when the treatment is so simple?

by Norman P. Kennedy

Astrology Today

PRESENTED BY THE AMERICAN ASTROLOGICAL ASSOCIATION
"The Nation's Largest Astrological Society"
© 1973 American Astrological Assn.

Did you know your horoscope could mean the difference between happiness or sorrow; between success or failure?

Picture a long room with doors at each end. In this room there are money, attractive persons of the opposite sex, books that tell you the secret of happiness and many other valuable articles. But, also in this room are bottomless pits, traps, hostile persons and dangerous beasts chained in various places around the room. You must walk through this room, but you may take out of it anything you can.

Now if you had a choice, would you choose to 1) go through the room blindfolded or 2) go through the room with your eyes open and with written instructions on which places and people to visit or avoid.

Of course, all of us would pick the second choice in a case such as this. Isn't it ridiculous, then, that we would choose to go through life, the same situation, blindfolded! Even when there is a means to go through life with a map and our eyes wide open! The means provided is Astrology. The map is our astrological horoscope.

How does it work? Nature's cosmos imprints each of us at the time of birth – when the umbilical cord is cut. We then become ourselves. Until the cord is cut, we are part of our mother. Why or how we presently do not know. The movement of the large solar bodies then times potentials for events in our lives. Astrology does not cause events but is timing of events. But, it's not fortune telling. It's a prediction of potentials which free will can override.

A natal horoscope analysis contains the best psychological analysis of yourself that you can get today. In addition, a natal horoscope analysis includes discussions on the following: financial outlook; taxes and inheritances; early home environment; relationships with family, relatives and parents; lovelife and marriage; children; career and occupation; hopes; wishes and goals; and subconscious attitudes.

Many people think that astrology only appeals to "way out" unscientific people. Nothing could be farther from the truth. In fact, studies show that astrology appeals most to intelligent and logical people. Famous scientists Galileo, Carl Jung, Johannes Kepler, Roger Bacon, Tycho Bache and Albert Einstein all believed in astrology.

Anyone familiar with Jackie Onassis' horoscope will be amazed with the uncanny way that it has predicted her love life. For example, Jackie's Cancer lies on the cusp of her eighth house. This indicates that she will marry a man connected with water. Her first husband, the late President Kennedy, was a P. T. boat Captain in World War II and also enjoyed sailing. And, of course, her current husband, Aristotle Onassis, is a super-wealthy shipping magnate. Her Sagittarian rising sign shows that she prefers foreign countries and people. Her husband, Aristotle, is Greek and Jackie is known for her jet-setting image. Finally, the planets Jupiter and Venus symbolize money. The fact that these two planets fall in her seventh house, the House of Partners, indicates that she will have a very wealthy husband.

Your horoscope can help you be in the right place at the right time. Your horoscope can help you avoid disasters, while guiding you to your beneficial opportunities.

Did you know that astrology helped the Allies win World War II? The Allies employed astrologers. The Axis powers started out employing astrologers. But, this was ceased early when the famous astrologer, Karl Ernst Krafft, predicted the exact time and place of an attempt on Hitler's life in 1939. Hitler thought the astrologers were conspiring against him, so they were imprisoned.

Hitler turned back to astrology – too late. He read his horoscope in the last moments of the war as Berlin burned around him.

On the other hand, astrologers aided the Allies in forecasting the Axis' moves. The most famous astrologer, Louis de Wohl, employed by the British Government, predicted the exact events leading to the downfall of Mussolini. He gained the faith of the American military, when he predicted Pearl Harbor a year before it happened.

More on avoiding disaster, came these stories from a recent article in the Miami Herald newspaper. The article tells the story of Mary Kelly, a Miami computer programmer, who heeded the advice of her horoscope which warned her of a wrong medical diagnosis. She avoided an unnecessary operation that would have left her a cripple.

Your horoscope can bring you wealth. Famous business tycoon, J. P. Morgan, used astrology to acquire his fortune. Morgan did not make a financial move without checking his natal horoscope forecast.

From an article in the Miami Herald came this story: "Stockbrokers on Wall Street are as likely to call an astrologer in this decade as Hollywood film stars would call a psychiatrist in the last. David Williams, a 75 year-old retired financial expert who lives in Clearwater, has made $150,000 from the stock market in 13 years by using astrology as an investment guide."

Your horoscope can show you the way to success and happiness in love and marriage. Horoscopes of Grace Kelly and Jackie Kennedy predicted their current successful marriages. Grace Kelly to Prince Rainier and Jackie Kennedy to Aristotle Onassis. As with these famous people, your horoscope can help you find and keep a lasting and meaningful love relationship.

Now and through the ages, a good natal horoscope analysis has meant the difference between success and failure. Will you miss your success opportunities? Will you stumble into pitfalls you could have avoided?

Today, right this moment, you can have your natal horoscope cast and analyzed. You can get it for only the cost to make your duplicate copy. You get the expensive casting and analyzing process – FREE. The article below will tell you how. The means are available, but the choice is yours.

HOW TO GET YOUR NATAL HOROSCOPE FOR NEARLY THE COST OF MAKING COPIES.

by John F. Ford

Send me your exact time and place of birth. I'll cast and analyze your natal horoscope for research purposes. You may have a duplicate copy of your horoscope for only $3.00 - which includes the cost to make your copy plus 50¢ postage and handling. You get the expensive casting and analyzing process - FREE, because of the fact that we must produce your horoscope for research anyhow.

Your natal horoscope will consist of nine pages and over 3,000 words. Your natal horoscope will contain your psychological analysis plus a discussion of the following: your lovelife; financial outlook; marriage, family and children relationships; career and occupations; hopes, wishes and goals; and subconscious attitudes. A horoscope of this type would cost up to $250 if done by an astrologer.

I will cast your horoscope with the help of our 360 - 65 I.B.M. computer, which contains over 24 million bits of information. Your horoscope will not be the worthless type found in paperbacks. Your natal horoscope will be cast from your exact time and place of birth for you and you alone.

THERE'S ABSOLUTELY NO CATCH. I need this information for my astrological research. I am looking for certain planet configurations. If you are chosen as a research subject, I will mail to you a research questionnaire. If you fill out and return this questionnaire, you will be entitled to extra bonuses.

There is no need to worry about finding out about an unavoidable coming disaster thru your chart. As mentioned, astrology deals in potentials. Your free will can override potentials if you know about them. In any case, the policy of qualified astrologers is positive astrology. If there is something negative in your chart, you are told what you can do to make it positive.

To get your horoscope thru this special opportunity, simply fill out the research computer form and mail to the address given on the form. Include the $3.00 copy cost plus 50¢ postage and handling for each horoscope or charge your credit card. There is a limit of two per family. If you don't know your exact time of birth, fill in 12:00 PM.

If you have any questions, call me, John F. Ford, president, The American Astrological Association. Telephone me at (216) 478-2171. Thank you!

I submit my birth data for research. I am now eligible to promptly receive my 3,000 word natal horoscope for only a $3 cost for my duplicate copy plus 50¢ postage and handling. One or two names from my household may be submitted. (Limit of 2–no exceptions)

It seems women hardly dress up any more—except for weddings and confirmations. But for those of you who do enjoy a touch of festivity in your dress, here's a flattering silhouette that's easy to make and lovely to wear. Long, slim sleeves end in a deep ruffle, as does the skirt, slender through the hipline. Closure is via a back zipper.

Fabric suggestions: crepe, silk or a blend. Size 12 takes 3½ yards of 44-inch material. Standard body measurements for size 12 are: Bust 34, Waist 25½, Hips 36.

How You Can Make a Killing in Coins...

That May Be Slipping Through Your Fingers Every Day!

Stop giving away valuable pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters!

Do you know what the coins in your pocket or purse are really worth?

Is it worth a few minutes of your time each day to find out, if it can mean earning enough extra cash to buy a few of the luxuries in life before you are too old to enjoy them? Then continue to read and find out how profitable your coins can be.

In case you missed the news. Collecting is the craze now in the U.S.

More than at any other time people are collecting everything. From oil paintings to old magazines. From records to plates. With coins heading the list as the most popular and profitable item. Yes. The very coins you spend and receive every day are being turned into fortunes.

Now you can discover how to cash in on this bonanza by taking advantage of the collector's demand for your find.

Hit the jackpot big and you can make more money than you would be able to earn in a week's time at your present job.

Don't think for one minute it can't happen to you. It can happen to anyone.

For example, a taxi driver who knew nothing about coins turned a penny into $55 profit by accident. Now he examines carefully every coin he receives in fares.

Or, for just a minute imagine yourself as one of the lucky owners of a 1973 dime worth an incredible $35 (a slight error actually made the dime increase in value almost overnight).

It's so easy to make extra money this way, anyone can do it. There are literally thousands of collectors with plenty of cash waiting to buy your find... at a big profit to you.

People just like you are making a killing in coins every day — with one important exception... they know what to look for.

It's hard to believe but it's true. And so ridiculously simple.

To start making money in coins you don't have to do anything different than you are doing right now. There is no investment to make. You can train yourself to be a coin expert... and learn to recognize valuable coins. When you know what to look for — you profit. When you don't — you will spend the coin and someone else will make the killing.

Just think of the money that may be slipping through your fingers each year because you are not in the habit of watching your coins. There is nothing to lose... and the money you can make is unlimited.

If you happen to discover one of the rarest of coins (17,000 were originally distributed) you would make $28,000.

Or, you could make almost $1,000 profit if you discovered one of the 7 million coins worth 100 to 1000 times their face value.

Even if you don't discover one of these extremely valuable coins, it is possible for you to add a coin of value to your pot-of-gold almost every day. A penny worth $2... a dime worth $7... or a quarter worth $16 change hands constantly just waiting to be discovered. Not a bad reward for doing nothing more than going through your coins daily.

The trick is to know what you are looking for. A slight difference — like a special marking — can make two identical coins vary considerably in value... as much as $1,000 in fact.

"Too fantastic to be true," my wife and I were told. But we discovered coins to be the safest way to make money. Just a few minutes a day is all it takes for you to start cashing in on this bonanza.

Have you spent a coin today worth more than its face value? By training yourself to watch for valuable coins you can easily double or triple your money.

You could easily have a coin worth a lot of money only to pass it on to someone else for no more than face value.

I guarantee this will never happen to you if you have a copy of the book that tells you how to make money in coins.

The book is entitled "How to Make a Killing in Coins." Everything you need to know to make a killing is included in this book. It is written so anyone can understand. And profit.

Every U.S. coin and its present value is included — along with the names and addresses of several hundred collectors who will buy your coins at the current market value. The tips, advice and guidance you will receive make this book a gold mine.

Even though it may mean thousands of dollars to you, the book is priced at only $4.95. It will really open your eyes to this incredibly simple way of making money. For example.

- — You will discover how to avoid wasting your time. Go after the coins that guarantee you the greatest return.
- — You will discover what coins are valuable and what profits you can expect.
- — You will discover which coins you should save for future sale... to earn the most profit.
- — You will learn how to avoid the one mistake almost everyone makes that will cause valuable coins to be almost worthless.

You will be amazed at how fast your new found knowledge will start making money for you. Soon you will be the envy of your relatives and friends. They will be coming to you for advice on which coins you think are valuable enough to keep.

One word of caution. When you start saving and selling coins your friends may ask why you bother "that penny is only worth 10¢...or that dime just 25¢" they might say. Pay no attention to them. In one year's time if you managed to acquire $500 face value in valuable coins just think of the profits you would have.

But make no mistake — without a book like this you don't stand a chance.

You Can't Lose

You can make a killing in coins with absolutely no risk. The coins you discover will never be worth less than their actual face value. The same is true of the book, "How to Make a Killing in Coins." There is absolutely no risk. If you don't like the book when it arrives, return it for an immediate refund. Or, keep it and use it for a full year. If you are not convinced you have discovered the easiest, safest way to make money, return the book. You still get your $4.95 back.

Three Reports — FREE

The value of coins can go up overnight (remember the 1973 dime). To guarantee you will make the most money on each coin, a special monthly report entitled the "How to News" has been prepared to keep you current and up to date. If you order the book right now, you will receive free, a three month trial subscription.

Make a Killing Now

The boom in coins is on. More and more people are discovering the fantastic profits to be made. The time to start is now. Don't wait another minute. Every coin you spend before your copy of the book arrives could be the one that will make filling out the coupon well worth your time and effort. To order your copy mail the coupon along with $4.95 cash, check or money order to: LINCOLN PRESS — 4444 South Sheridan — Tulsa, Oklahoma 74145.

ANGELITA
First Lady of the bullring

Angela Hernandez has killed eight bulls. And now she can kill them in her native Spain. Her previous victims fell in South America because in Spain it has been against the law for a woman to fight bulls on foot. Now, after a three-year, one-woman battle Angela has caused the laws to be changed by a decree of the Spanish Supreme Court. In Spain, where women are probably less liberated than elsewhere, this was quite a feat for Ms. Hernandez. A delicate blonde, she wields the 15-pound cape as though it were a silk hankie.

What makes a person do all those nutty things that get recorded each year in the famous "Guinness Book of World Records"? Jerry Cammarata, who holds a world record for singing 75 hours in a bathtub, explains it this way: "I break records because they represent ambition, excitement — and, most of all, fun. Nobody pays me to do these things. In fact, it cost me $1,580 to chalk up that singing record: $50 for an old bathtub, $20 to decorate it with psychedelic flowers, $150 for a U-haul truck, $200 for musicians to accompany me, $100 for a driver, $1,000 for public relations, $35 for gas and oil—and, to my dismay, $25 for double-parking my bathtub in front of a public toilet."

Jerry Cammarata

QUOTE: Is there a crisis in fish prices? Some fishermen say so: "While two-thirds of all seafood eaten in the U.S. is imported, U.S. fishermen can't sell many of their fresh-caught fish. They're told, 'The market can't handle your catch.' This is not true. What is true is that most imported fish is frozen —and so is a lot of so-called fresh fish. While the Florida fisherman has been getting 8-15 cents a pound for bluefish, wholesale markets have been selling them at 35-75 cents a pound. Until they went on strike recently, New Jersey whiting fishermen were making two cents a pound. The wholesale prices for whiting have been running 30-40 cents a pound. If the public knew the half of it about these bargains they don't get, a hue and cry would go up!" From Mike Weiner, President of the Florida Fishermen's Marketing Association. UNQUOTE.

JOHNNIE RAY
Walkin' his baby back home

Is Johnnie Ray still singing? The answer is yes. In the '50's—back even before Elvis—Ray sent teenagers swooning with such songs as "Walkin' My Baby Back Home," "Cry," "The Little White Cloud That Cried" and "Just Walkin' in the Rain." Now, some 20 years later, he is still singing the same songs and packing 'em in. Ray recently finished a seven-week tour in England, where he stopped in London's Hyde Park to talk with nine-year-old Simone Loreng. From the look of things, they got along famously.

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY
By Richard Armour

NECK AND NECK

"You're a pain in the neck,"
My wife often would say
When I caused her annoyance
In some silly way.
With passage of years,
That old pain is still there,
In the back of her neck
And just under her hair.
As a matter of fact
I've grown more of a wreck
And also admit
I've a pain in my neck.
But I don't cause my wife's
And she doesn't cause mine:
We both have arthritis
In joints of the spine.

NEW FROM MUTUAL OF OMAHA . . . MONEY BACK DISABILITY INCOME INSURANCE

Sure, we have a plan that can provide up to $1,200.00 a month...as much as $40.00 a day both IN and OUT of the hospital...

but suppose you never get sick or hurt?

In that case, we'll return all your premiums when your policy matures at age 65.

With most disability income plans, you buy security, and that's all. With this new Mutual of Omaha Money Back plan, you buy security plus the guarantee that if you keep your policy in force to age 65 you must get back at least as much as you pay in premiums.

Meanwhile, you're covered for up to $1,200.00 a month . . . as much as $40.00 a day disability income benefits when a covered sickness or injury keeps you from working. These benefits are payable both IN and OUT of the hospital. They are yours to spend as you please for any purpose you choose.

Moreover, they are payable in addition to any hospital-surgical-medical benefits you may receive. They are payable both during and after hospitalization. They are payable even if you never go to the hospital.

As a breadwinner, man or woman, married or single, you can select the monthly disability income benefit you qualify for. From $100.00 to $1,200.00 a month can be yours when you're laid up . . . all yours to use as you see fit.

If the benefits you receive total less than the premiums you've paid in at age 65, you will receive the difference in a lump-sum payment. If you have never been sick—never collected disability income benefits, you receive a 100% refund . . . all the premiums you've paid in are returned to you.

THERE ARE SEVEN REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD CONSIDER THIS MUTUAL OF OMAHA PLAN

1. You may qualify for a plan that can provide up to $1,200.00 monthly income benefits (up to $40.00 a day) to spend as you see fit if you're sick or hurt and can't work, or refund all your premiums when your policy matures at age 65 if you stay well.

2. These disability benefits are provided both IN and OUT of the hospital.

3. Your coverage becomes effective immediately for new sickness contracted or injury received after your policy is in force. Pre-existing conditions (old health problems) will not be covered for 12 months. This applies to such conditions shown on your application and not excluded from coverage.

4. Mental disorders are covered the same as any other sickness.

5. Your policy protects you as a passenger in any kind of aircraft—even a private plane.

6. Benefits are provided for disabilities incurred both on and off the job. They are available in addition to any Workmen's Compensation and Employer's Liability coverage.

7. You have this renewal agreement: no matter how often you may receive benefits, Mutual of Omaha guarantees to renew your policy as long as premiums are paid on time. Your premium can be changed only when changed for all policies of the same form and class in your state.

Please note that the amount of the benefit, the premium, and the deductible period vary with the plan you qualify for. And that these disability income benefits are not payable for losses caused by war or military service; narcotics, unless prescribed by a physician; childbirth, pregnancy, or resulting complications. Coverage terminates at retirement or age 65, whichever comes first.

New MONEY BACK plans offer first-class protection for working men and women. There's a Homemaker's plan for housewives, too.

Find out about this fine protection that can cover you both in and out of the hospital. For full facts without obligation, talk to a Mutual of Omaha professional. You will also receive information about the fine plans to meet your life insurance needs now available from Mutual of Omaha's affiliate, United of Omaha. Write to Mutual of Omaha, Reader's Service, Department 1201, Omaha, Nebraska 68131. Or even better, use the post-paid self-mailer reply card provided for your convenience. Mail it today!

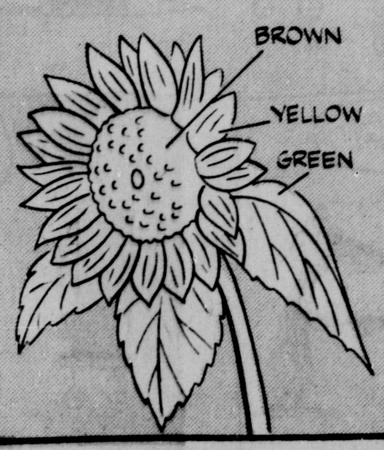
NATURE COLORS

COLOR THE SUNFLOWER

SUNFLOWERS...

THE SUN-LOVING SUNFLOWER GETS ITS NAME FROM ITS HABIT OF TURNING TO THE SUN, AS WELL AS THE RESEMBLANCE OF THE GOLDEN-RAYED FLOWER TO THE SUN.



THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:

"WHAT ARE FALLING STARS?"

THE FIERY STREAKS IN THE SKY WE CALL "SHOOTING STARS" OR "FALLING STARS" COME FROM BITS OF ROCK AND METAL, CALLED METEORS, THAT HURTLE INTO THE EARTH'S ATMOSPHERE FROM SPACE. MANY MILLION METEORS WHIZ AROUND THROUGH SPACE. SOME COME SO CLOSE THAT THE EARTH'S GRAVITY PULLS THEM IN. AS THE METEORS PLUNGE THROUGH THE AIR, THEY BECOME WHITE HOT AND BURN UP IN BLAZING SPARKS OF LIGHT. MOST METEORS BURN UP BEFORE THEY REACH THE EARTH. METEORS THAT HIT THE GROUND ARE CALLED METEORITES.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY — My husband is on a diet. His food has to be weighed. I find it timesaving to weigh first and then put each chopped meat patty in a plastic sandwich bag, flatten it and then freeze. No last-minute weighing! — DOROTHY.

DEAR POLLY — When preparing small plastic pots to be planted with flower seeds (for later transplanting), put a small amount of sand in the bottom. When ready to transplant, tip pot in your hand and the plant will come out undisturbed. — MRS. N.M.

Polly pays $1.00 for every idea used. Send them to her, % this newspaper.

DEAR POLLY — When shortened sheath dresses make ideal blouses to wear with slacks and skirts. Also, when loops are needed for belts to go through, try crocheting a single chain of the correct length and color. They are quite professional looking. — LUCILLE R.

DEAR POLLY — To make letter writing easier and more interesting I keep a scratch pad on my kitchen bulletin board. When I think of something I want to tell my daughter, mother, etc., I jot it down in the column under that person's name. With this list of reminders I can quickly write a newsy letter. — ANN.

DEAR POLLY — If you have an empty aquarium, partially fill it with dirt and plant a few seeds. You can practically see them grow and it will teach young children quite a bit about growing plants. — MRS. V.H.

DEAR POLLY — With today's short dresses, here's how to double your closet space: Put one clothes rod as high as you can reach, then a second rod in about the center of the distance from that rod to the floor. — MRS. R.E.M.

DEAR POLLY — Start saving colored egg cartons for Easter or for a birthday party that is near Easter. Fill with artifical grass and small candies and each child will have a pretty carton of "eggs" as a favor. — C. from Texarkana.

DEAR POLLY — A tea strainer is most efficient for skimming soups or stews, as once-over and the fat is removed very thoroughly. I think this works better than a slotted spoon. — MRS. J.P.C.

DEAR POLLY — I found a novel use for the water container in a vaporizer that no longer works. Ours is in the shape of what the children call a "flying saucer". After enlarging the opening we filled it with soil and planted flowers in it. This is truly a conversation piece. — MARCIA.
